Union-Set Growers Plan Control of Onion Smut

Corvallis, Or., April 15.—The most progressive onion-set growers of the Hubbard district, Marion county, Oregon, have organized to co-operate with the Agricultural College experimental work designed to solve the problem of onion smut control in that district.

"Onion smut made its appearance in this district several years ago," says Prof. H. P. Bars, "and has steadily grown worse. The attention of the Experiment Station was called to the situation, and the Plant Pathology department set about securing information on methods of prevention employed in all parts of the country where the disease has been troublesome, an arrangement has been made with the leading onion-set growers to investigate by field tests the most successful eastern methods of control in Oregon. The growers are voluntarily contributing the money to finance this work, which I am asked to direct."

"Onion smut is carried over in the soil from year to year, and the fungus spreads so rapidly that within about three years after it makes its appearance in a field the land is rendered unfit for onion-growing. Already a good many thousands of dollars have been lost in Marion county from this cause. It is expected that the results of the test will be the adoption of a method of smut prevention that will result in the reclamation of many acres of first class onion land now abandoned for onion production because of the disease."

Junior High School Will Combine Talents

Next Friday evening, April 19, at the high school auditorium, the Grant and Lincoln junior high schools will combine their musical talents in the production of the operetta, "The Windmills of Holland."

This was to have been given some time ago, but was postponed on account of the illness of some of the singers. It is now ready for its final appearance.

The play is especially attractive because of its beautiful, catchy melodies which will be sung by a chorus of forty youthful voices. The plot combines the experiences of an American salesman in Holland with the hearty humor of that ancient country.

Special scenery and costumes have been designed to make this performance artistic in every respect. It is under the direction of Miss Maud Joy Beals.

Valuable Farm Near Garva's Transferred

Portland, Or., April 15.—One of the most important deals in Willamette valley farm lands in several weeks was closed last week by the Badley Investment Company, of Portland, in the sale of the Sohn farm, near Gervais, to J. C. Corbin, of North Yakima and Mabton, Wash.

sole aim of annihilating the British armies. Thus, terrain conquered counts for little. If the enemy can muster the driving power he will in all probability continue his assaults, hoping that by an enveloping attack on an oblique front he may score a complete annihilating victory.

"While it must be admitted that German operations since the beginning of the present offensive have resulted in more than a mere ploughing up of part of the allied trench system and the capture of local objectives along a wide front, nevertheless the aim of the German higher command to obtain a decisive strategic success by these assaults has not been obtained."

The statement pointed out that the French hold firm along the important Montdidier-Noyon sector.

cultivation. There are two hop fields on the place, the two together comprising about 140 acres.

The price at which the farm was sold was $75,000. Stock and equipment were included in the deal. As part consideration, Mr. Sohn took a $40,000 stock of hardware and some business property at Mabton, Wash., the remainder being cash.

The new owner, J. C. Corbin, is a well-known business man of North Yakima and Mabton. He has taken possession of his new property and expects to engage extensively in stock raising. Mr. Sohn has taken charge of the hardware store at Mabton.

W. S. Badley, of the Badley Investment Company, handled the deal.

GERMANS DEPORT

(Continued on page three) will permit. It has now been decided to grant leaves of absence to soldiers from Alsace-Lorraine the same as to others. Therefore, they have not had any up to date.

"The foreclosure of French properties continues on every hand. The chateau de la Robertson, near Strasbourg belonging to the des Bassieres family, has been sold to a Boche emigrant for a million and a half marks.

"At Mulhouse and Biedersheim there is a shortage of coal. At Mulhouse several schools have been closed and the classes in the others doubled in order to save coal. At Biedersheim and in all the other villages the Boches are tearing up the floors and demolishing everything.

"To speak French, and especially to a French prisoner, entails always a fine of 20 to 30 marks.

"Leather is becoming scarcer and scarcer, but the dealers in it are doing a great business. The leather factory of Adler & Oppenheimer at Strasbourg had its profits increased the first year of the war 784 per cent; the second year, 1213 per cent.

"Up until 1913 Krupp had never employed a single woman. On December 31, 1915, they were employing 10,935. According to the 'Allhauserzeitung' this number had now been quadrupled.

"To tranquillize the population, the newspapers state that the Americans will only be able to send in France several hundred or possibly several thousand soldiers who will succeed in escaping the submarines. All the others they assert, will be sunk."

Another letter from a priest announces that the entire population of Alsace-Lorraine between 17 and 60 years of age has been ordered mobilized for civilian work. Priests are included.

Still other letters declare that cloth of all kinds has become so scarce that it is not to be found and leather is likewise disappearing.

"At Strasbourg," the letter continues, "both men and women are to be seen going about barefooted, many not even having wooden shoes with their paper thong."

Other letters state that in the two provinces, as elsewhere in Germany, the bulk of the wearing apparel is now made out of the paper substitute for cloth which has been devised in Germany since the beginning of the war.

S. B. HUSTON FOR U. S. SENATE

S. B. Huston, of Portland, Candidate for Nomination On Republican Ticket for Office of United States Senator, Long Term.

After making a campaign of two months' duration, during which he has covered much of the state outside of Multnomah county, S. B. Huston, candidate for United States senator, is very much pleased with his prospects. Up to the present time he has not held a public meeting nor spent any active time in his home county, Multnomah, where the heavy vote is, but from this time on he will devote himself largely to rounding up his home county vote.

LOAN SHOWS LESS

Hundreds of cities expect to go over the top this week and about 1,000 communities have already asked for honor flags.

San Francisco today telegraphed that 205 honor flags had been awarded, and fifty other cities had in claims for flags.

"No let up in enthusiasm," the wire concluded: San Francisco's awards by states were:

California, 72; Washington, 12; Utah, 14; Oregon, 92; Alaska, 3; Nevada, 5; Arizona, 6 and Idaho, 1.

West Virginia's first honor flag was raised at White Sulphur Springs last night with Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France, and Vice Chairman Paul Warburg of the federal reserve board, making addresses.

The flag contained two stars. Just before it was raised an additional $10,000 was subscribed, adding a third star.

In Pittsburgh today, 6,000 volunteer women workers began canvassing for the loan.

A new feature in the subscriptions from Kansas is the large number in the German speaking communities. Marion county has adopted the slogan "Bonds in every German-speaking home by May 1."

The Kansas City district has awarded 135 honor flags.

Boston today reported that Weston and West Tisbury had tied with Southboro in being first to subscribe their quotas.

Less Than Third. Chicago, April 15.—The seventh federal reserve district entered the second week of the liberty loan campaign today with less than a third of its $425,000,000 quota subscribed.

The Telephone Vanguard

The soldier off to camp finds that the telephone man has preceded him.

It has been the telephone man's job to help make the camp ready for the soldiers. He has gone ahead with the contractors, installing temporary telephone equipment to facilitate the work of construction.

As fast as buildings have been erected, permanent central office equipment has been installed, poles have been set and wires strung, and the camps and cantonments connected by additional trunk lines to central offices in near-by towns and cities.

Notwithstanding the scarcity of material, the large amount of equipment required for these camps has been manufactured and delivered in less than half the time ordinarily required.

As a result of this telephone activity, all the varied telephone needs of these great military establishments are amply taken care of and each camp headquarters is in direct telephone communication with the war department at Washington, and with important military points throughout the country.
