BAILLEUL WAS FIRST PLACE GAS WAS USED BY UNSPEAKABLE HUNS

Correspondent Recalls This On Third Anniversary of Hum Use of Poison

By William G. Shepherd, (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Dallas, Texas, April 17--Woeed Bailleul, fuming with gas and infected by Germans; once quiet Bailleul where, in the early days of the war, General Smith-Dorrien of the British Third Army, held almost daily court in the beautiful old city hall, affords a contrast that shows the grimness of the fortunes of war.

It was at Bailleul that the first inkling came to the allies that the Germans were intending to use poison gas. Just three years ago today I entered General Smith-Dorrien's office in the Bailleul city hall and asked him whether there was any news for America.

"We discovered a most puzzling thing on twelve German prisoners who were brought in this morning," he said. "Every one of them had a wad of cotton in his pockets. They said their officers had told them that they were going to shoot gas at us and that as soon as the gas was set loose they were to dip the cotton in pails of a soda mixture which were set all along the trenches and put the cotton over their mouths and noses."

"It wasn't true," said a young member of General Smith-Dorrien's staff. "Such a thing would be too horrible in twentieth century warfare."

"No, I don't believe the Germans would resort to such a thing," said General Smith-Dorrien, who was a courtly gentleman of the old school. "It would be too horrible."

We decided, in that office in the city hall at Bailleul, that beautiful spring morning, that the cotton was only a trick; that perhaps the Germans thought to terrify us with a threat of gas.

And yet, within six hours of that time the Germans set out their first tools of gas north of Ypres some eighteen miles away, and stirred the first Canadians to the greatest fight of their lives.

The apple tree that stood outside the office window that April morning, full bloom, is probably shattered by this time; if not, atleast its beautiful flowers have been withered by the very gas which we, three years ago today, decided would be too cruel for human use.

Constipation and Indigestion These are twin evils. Persons suffering from indigestion are often troubled with constipation. Mrs. Robert Allison, Mattoon, Ill., writes that when she first moved to Mattoon she was a great sufferer from indigestion and constipation. Food distressed her and there was a feeling like a heavy weight pressing on her stomach and chest. She did not rest well at night, and felt worn out a good part of the time. One bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets corrected this trouble so that she has since felt like a different person.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Feed the Firm, Healthy, Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION--Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh giving properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

MERCHANT'S WIFE ADVISES SALEM WOMEN

"I had stomach trouble so bad I could eat nothing but toast, fruit and hot water. Everything else soured and forced gas. Dieting did no good, I was miserable until I took buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler's. ONE SPOONFUL benefited me INSTANTLY." Because Adler's has such a large and small intestine it relieves ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold. J. C. Perry, druggist.

Nature Cures, The Doctor Takes the Fee

There is an old saying that "Nature cures, the doctor takes the fee," but as everyone knows you can help nature very much and thereby enable it to effect a cure in much less time than is usually required. This is particularly true of colds, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy relieves the lungs, liquefies the tough mucus and aids in its expectoration, always the cough and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition.

TO CONTROL TROLLEYS

Washington, April 17--The house this afternoon unanimously passed the bill giving President Wilson power to take over trolley and other transportation lines leading to shipyards for the transportation of workers to the yards.

Some Good Advice "Don't think too much of your own methods. Watch other people's ways and learn from them." This is good advice, especially when lifeline or contipated. You will find many people who use Chamberlain's Tablets for these ailments with the best results, and will do well to follow their example.

Best Results From Good Kidney Preparation

Four years ago I commenced selling Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and during period of time I cannot recall a single instance where Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root brought a complaint from my patrons who had used it. If it did not contain value in the diseases for which it is recommended I would not enjoy such a good sale.

Very truly yours, A. CRANDALL, Druggist, Sept. 14, 1916. Brownsville, Oregon

Fate of Cyclops Is Still Among Mysteries

Washington, April 18--The lost color Cyclops was sailing into the void of unexplained mysteries today.

No hint or suggestion of what fate the 11,000-ton navy ship met or where, when or how, has yet been forthcoming, although scores of naval craft still swept the Atlantic in vain search.

The possibility that she had by some mishap, accident or planned, disappeared into one of the innumerable inlets of sounds about the islands of the Caribbean sea, was being methodically investigated.

Meantime, navy department officials here refused bluntly to accept any theory involving suggestions that Commander Worley had proven disloyal. Moreover, they said, navy records gave the lie to the report that Worley was German. He swore he was born in California. Officials had no knowledge of the alleged remarks of his wife at Norfolk that "something sensational" in the case might be expected within 24 hours.
