CARD OF THANKS We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement.—J. W. Dawson, Alice McIlwain, Rena Dawson.

A Red Cross social will be held at the Kelder school house north of town on next Friday evening, May 3rd. The affair is called a "big seven social." Seven numbers will appear on the program, seven waiters will serve you, a seven piece orchestra from Salem will provide music, seven "rubbernecks" (so the bill says) will sing for you while there are other "sevens" too numerous to mention.

Among the individual honors shown to the members of the registered men from Marion county who left this morning for Camp Lewis, was that accorded Chas. E. Olcott by the employees of the Salem street railway. Mr. Olcott has been night conductor on the Commercial street cars and about two dozen of his fellow conductors and motormen turned out in a body and marched to the depot with him.

J. Harmsburger was arrested yesterday for speeding on his motorcycle on north Commercial street. He is to appear before City Recorder Race this afternoon to answer for himself.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Butler left today for Corvallis, where they will make their home. Mr. Butler is a graduate of O. A. C., has recently been appointed to the position of state supervisor of war gardens for the government. He was formerly principal of the Turner schools.

The fourth vice president of the Methodist church to the Oregon New York City will be in the city this afternoon and will meet with the members of the War Savings stamps committee and discuss with them the stamp proposition and how they do things back east.

Postmaster August Huckestein delivered an address this morning—at the First Methodist church to the Oregon conference of Sunday school workers. He was not originally on the program but as there was need of a speaker, Mr. Huckestein was drafted.

O. L. Martin, living near Macleay, had his Ford stolen from the vicinity of the Moose hall last night some time the earlier part of the evening. No trace was had of it till this morning when it was found on north Winter street, with two brand new Federal tires taken from the rear wheels. The machine had apparently been driven a short distance and was not damaged, other than the theft of the tires.

Mrs. Edna Lavalley, who has been living at 818 north Commercial street, received a telegram yesterday stating that her husband, Edward Lavalley, had just been killed in Spokane, Wash., while engaged in electrical work. Mr. Lavalley left this city for Spokane about three weeks ago to be employed temporarily there as electrician. Besides his wife, he leaves a little daughter, Miss Clara Lavalley, who is two years of age. The body is expected to arrive in Salem today and funeral arrangements will be made later.

The bridge across the Willamette was duly inspected yesterday by students from the Salem high school and about 20 O. A. C. students. The high school boys were in charge of G. R. Bonell, superintendent of the manual training work in the city schools. They arrived just in time to witness the pouring of the concrete. The O. A. C. boys were chaperoned by C. B. McCulloch, professor of civil engineering and Samuel Dolan, a teacher in the civil engineering department of the O. A. C.

Gust J. Demis, who runs a news stand and shining parlor on State street has sold his business to Charles H. Maxwell porter of the Oregon Electric depot. Mr. Demas was one of the men called in the last orders for the national army as alternate and was to have left this morning for Camp Lewis. However, he was not needed as alternate for this call and will probably come in on the next early in May with the men who go to Fort McDowell in California.

The next national Red Cross campaign is scheduled for the week of May 29-31, according to announcements now being sent out from Washington headquarters. For American people will be asked to subscribe $100,000,000 for the work of the Red Cross. In Salem, the committee that handled the campaign last June will be called on to do the work again. This committee is composed of 100 of the leading business and professional men of the city and within a short time, they will be called into conference to plan the coming campaign.

Among the visitors in Salem this week in connection with the state Sunday school convention is Rev. "Father" Joseph Hoberg, an old Oregon pioneer. Father Hoberg is making his home at present at McMinnville. He came to Oregon in 1866 and settled in Salem, where he lived for many years. He was one of the chief workers in organizing and building the First Methodist church of this city, and also organized the Leslie Methodist church, on south Commercial street. He is past ninety years old, is as spry as though he was but sixty, and has a host of friends in Salem and all over the state.

That the poultry business of the valley is only about fifty per cent of what it is in a normal year, is the opinion of D. A. White, who has been in the feed business in Salem for the past twenty-eight years. He gives as the reason the high cost of feed, and also the fact that wheat can no longer be secured for chicken feed. Mr. White said today that it was only very seldom any more that they got in any wheat which was of too poor a quality to be called being allowed by the government to be used for feeding purposes. He states that the feed business this year has been one of the best seasons they have ever had.

CONVENTION CLOSES SESSION TOMORROW

Banquet This Evening at 6—Splendid Program for Closing Day

A splendid spirit of religious enthusiasm and inter-denominational fellowship is being manifested at each session of the State Sunday School convention which is now in session in this city.

The convention is being held in the First Methodist church, where a banquet to the delegates and visitors will be served at 6 o'clock this evening. After the banquet the program for tonight will be as follows:

Stover, Salem; special music, male quartet, First Christian church; report of resolutions committee. 8:10—Patriotic pageant, "The Clean Flag," arranged and directed by Rev. Howard McConnell, Dallas, given by the young people of the Christian church, Dallas; assistants, Sunday school pupils, Salem; address, by someone from the army camp.

9:30—Pantomime song, "The Star Spangled Banner," Lorene Porter, Salem, 10 years old; benediction; adjournment.

Although about 3500 men for the national army will pass through Salem this week on their way to Camp Lewis, no arrangements have been made for serving meals in Salem. It seems that Roseburg and Albany have been called on as word has been received from Roseburg that preparations are under way for caring for the men. One train will pass through Salem on Saturday, another on Sunday, three Monday and two on Tuesday.

A federal farm specialist will be sent to Salem to keep in touch with the labor situation during the summer, according to the promise of J. W. Brewer, state director of farm employment. Ivan G. McDaniel, manager of the Commercial club was in Portland yesterday in conference with Mr. Brewer, resulting in the agreement to send the specialist.
