Must Hurry to Purchase Their Fuel Supplies
Chicago, May 3.--Anticipating a fuel crisis next winter, the federal fuel administration has directed dealers to arrange immediately for at least 75 per cent of their coal requirements for the coming fall and winter, according to Raymond E. Duchan, fuel administrator for Cook county. Reports will be required on July 1, showing preparations made for placing adequate supplies.

Unless large reserves are laid in at once there will be no opportunity better, the administration said. A coal famine more serious than last winter's is imminent unless precautionary measures are adopted.

CUTTING OUT THE FRILLS
Washington, May 3.--Director General McAdoo doesn't intend to give financial support of railroad associations, organized for the general good of the system.

In an order, amounting virtually to instructions to dissolve, the railroad administration yesterday forbade Texas lines to contribute to the expense of the Texas General Managers' association. Similar action is pending in other similar cases. The organization must derive their finances from sources other than the railroads, McAdoo said.

The newly sown seeds need a little rain anyway.

Scenes of Prosperity
are common in Western Canada. The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15. to $30. per acre--get $2. a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money--that's what you can do in Western Canada, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a

ASSOCIATED PRESS FIGHTS WITH HEARST

Accuse Each Other of Most Contemptible Practices As Competitors

Washington, May 3.--Contending for the property right in news, Frederick W. Lehmann, representing the Associated Press in its suit against the International News Service, asked the supreme court permanently to enjoin the latter from "piratical and unlawful" endeavor to "get something for nothing."

In urging the supreme court to uphold the hands of the lower federal courts in granting an injunction against the service, Lehmann declared no injustice would be done.

"Here is a news report," he said, "created by labor and held for sale and exchange. The International News Service did not create and has not acquired it by purchase or exchange. When it is enjoined from boldly taking it and selling it, it is simply prevented from reaping where it has not sown."

Lehmann declared it was vital to the public good that news dissemination "be in clean hands and conducted by honest methods." If it comes to the public from tainted sources and by tainted means, the news itself will not escape contamination, he declared.

"News is like any material commodity," he said. "In the field of general news it is obvious, . . . that the paper which is simply permitted to appropriate the news without payment of any kind would have a great advantage over its competitor, who had paid for it."

"In the case of newspapers published in the west the condition would be worse. Because electricity outruns the apparent movement of the sun we can ship news appearing in the New York morning newspapers and send it to any paper in the Mississippi valley or to the west of that, in ample time for publication."

Lehmann declared that although the Associated Press does not create the facts or produce the events, "it does produce the news budget which gives the information." He declared that for the International News Service to be allowed to use this budget at will would be unfair competition.

Samuel Untermyer, appearing for the I. N. S. previously, charged that the A. P.'s suit was brought to "embarrass the business" of the I. N. S. He pointed out that the action was begun until "after the allies in 1915 (and long before we entered the war) refused and withdrew cable service from the defendant."

Untermyer claimed that both parties to the suit "have apparently from the time of their organization acted on exactly opposite construction and understanding of the law," assuming that the court would uphold the A. P.'s contention. He said news displayed on bulletin boards and sold in early editions of papers had been considered public property. Each of the parties, he said, has freely taken the other's news. "The fact that one of them claims that it verifies and re-writes the story that it takes from the other, whilst the other does not is simply a question of business policy that in no wise affects their legal rights," he said. He claimed that the A. P.'s attitude now is hardly in agreement with

We Certainly Ought to Know

When there is any question of value in automobile tires we certainly ought to have the answer. For we have seen the inside of practically every tire made. We know how much value every manufacturer intends to put into the tires he sells.

We know which tires give good health as possible. And the net result of all this information of ours is our determination to sell Good-year Tires to our customers. We believe it will be to your advantage to buy your tires from people who know tires, from the inside out.

We know their weaknesses, their points of strength, their capacity for service. We know tires as your family doctor knows you--because it is our business, as vulcanizers, to keep tires in as its contentions in the case of the Chicago Tribune vs the Associated Press, when the A. P. "successfully contended that this class of news is public property." Untermyer said no element of unfair competition was involved because the defendant obtained the news openly, by no breach of contract, but publicly by paying for the paper containing it.

FEDERAL Double Cable Base TIRES

FEDERAL TIRES are the result of constant improvement. Four unstretchable steel cables lock them so firmly against the rim that they cannot slip, rock or shift. They stay put. This prevents pinched tubes and rim-cut absolutely. This method of base construction also prevents blow-outs above the rim, caused by internal cutting, which is not possible in Federal Tires. These features are patented and exclusive. Two non-skid treads are optional, "Fugged" white and "Traffic" black. Keep up with tire improvements and get greater mileage. Put Federals on your car today.
