

SOCIETY and CLUBS

By CAROL S. DIBBLE

SALEM folk have had frequent occasion to lament the departure of several prominent residents of the city to communities elsewhere, within the past few months, but some whose going will be felt in as many and varied circles of activity as Mrs. Anna Rogers Fish, who will leave Salem for Boise, Idaho, the twenty seventh of this month. Mrs. Fish will join her husband, whose business interests, located in and near Boise, have kept him in the Idaho capital for the greater part of the preceding year.

Boise will also be a beneficiary at Salem's loss, when the Fish School of Expression so successfully conducted by Mrs. Fish for over three years is re-opened in the Overland building in Boise, the largest office building in that city. Owing to the fact that many of Mrs. Fish's former eastern pupils now reside in Boise, a vanguard of old time friends is already anticipating the arrival of so welcome an addition to the artistic and intellectual life of the city as Mrs. Fish has proven herself to be in the varied localities fortunate to have claimed her as a resident at one time or another.

Mrs. Fish is a graduate of the Soper School of Expression at Chicago, and studied at the Chicago University Department of Expression and the Columbia College of Oratory. She taught in the several branches of dramatic expression for a number of years before coming west. Mr. and Mrs. Fish made their home in Los Angeles for a period of four years, before locating in Salem. Immediately after their decision to remain here, Mrs. Fish opened her school, which has graduated a goodly number of gifted Salem readers.

Mrs. Fish has not confined her versatile abilities to her school work alone but has identified herself to a marked degree with the club, church and civic work of the town. In each case through the medium of her stimulative personality and the loquacious powers of her dramatic talent, Mrs. Fish has materially assisted in promoting a breadth of outlook, which is the truest standard of real culture.

Miss Helen Wood was a charming hostess Thursday night, when she entertained with a merry knitting party for a gay group of friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Wood, 745 North Church street. Masses of snowball bloom, intermingled with a profusion of the beautiful Scotch broom, were tastefully used in adornment of the rooms. Contributing additional pleasure to the evening were the two numbers sung by Miss Marie Churchill.

Those present were: Miss Beatrice Walton, Miss Eliza Nolan, Miss Marie Churchill, Miss Louise Benson, Miss Helen Deakbough, Miss Arvilla Cunn, Miss Leah Johnson, Miss Ethel Rupert, Miss Florence Cleveland, Miss Mabel Robertson, Miss Beatrice Hale, Miss Virginia Nolan, Miss Emily Griffin, Miss Margaret Power, Miss Ruth Paxson, Miss Birchen Myers.

Mrs. Charles H. Fisher has returned from Eugene, where she enjoyed a few days' visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Miles were dinner hosts for the members of the Original Dutch Treat club, Wednesday night at their home on Court street. The occasion was an especially happy one inasmuch as it also marked the twenty eighth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Miles. The rooms were aglow with masses of the golden Scotch broom. The evening was pleasantly passed with music and reminiscent tales of other wedding days.

Covers were laid for: Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Carrier, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Legg, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Legg will entertain the club at its next meeting.

A DEVI OF CHARMING LITTLE MAIDENS, WHO APPEARED IN THE CHILDREN'S DANCE REVIVAL SUCCESSFULLY STAGED AT THE OPERA HOUSE LAST NIGHT AND THIS AFTERNOON

Mrs. S. N. Wilkins of Eugene, recently elected state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be the guest of Mrs. Isaac Lee Patterson at her country home near Bala, over Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Ivan E. Bellinger and two children, Ivan Junior and Jane Elizabeth, are visiting friends at Forest Grove. They will remain for a month or more.

Miss Ola Kingsberry, a teacher in the Washington junior high school is passing the week end with friends near McMinnville.

Mrs. J. B. Craig, Mrs. J. R. Pollock and Mrs. Parkhurst were additional guests bidden by Mrs. Edward Gillingham, when she entertained the Monday Afternoon Bridge club this week at her home 1173 Leslie street. The club will meet next week with Mrs. Ralph Glover.

Few study clubs embody in their monthly magazine reports, more enlightening reviews of the current issues, than those contained within the clever booklets, representing a number of magazines, which were arranged by Miss Sylvia May Bell for the members of the Sweet Briar club, who met at her home on the Wallace Road Wednesday afternoon. This pleasurable innovation in the way of club entertainment was based on the idea that even the average reader knows at best only two thirds of the available standard magazines and what each of them stands for as regards diversified reading matter. The hostess, through the kindness of Miss Cornelia Marvin, state librarian, secured a large number of the late magazines, and after a thorough perusal of their contents devised miniature copies of "The American," "Bookman," "Good Housekeeping" and many others, inserting pictures and quotations from the leading articles of each. Each guest drew one of these little home edited magazines and joined with the rest of the company in an informal discussion of the magazine in question. A few of the articles chosen by Miss Bell as representative of the respective magazines were: "What people laugh at," by Clayton Hamilton from the Bookman; "Russian instinct for democracy," from the Survey, and a series of letters from "From him," in the Ladies Home Journal.

The place cards at the daintily appointed luncheon table also carried out the magazine motif, the guest possessing the American magazine finding her place by the card bearing a tiny flag, and the holder of the National Geographic found at her cover, a card picturing leopards at travel in a tiny baby buggy.

The dining room was handsomely decorated with pink tulips and the Christmas cactus bloom. The pink note was also effectively developed in the Hooverized refreshments of molded fish, circled by a dainty array of straw berries.

Yellow tulips and roses formed rich decoration in the living room. The hostess was assisted by Miss Mary Gregory.

Fifteen club members participated in the enjoyment of the afternoon. Mrs. Marie Matthews will entertain the club at its next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Miles were dinner hosts for the members of the Original Dutch Treat club, Wednesday night at their home on Court street.

The twelfth birthday anniversary of Barton McElroy was merrily celebrated last night by a party of young people, who froliced through an evening of games and birthday festivities at the home of Mrs. John Brophy, the hostess for the occasion. The juvenile guests comprised for the most part, the classmates of the small host. Those additionally bidden were: Donald Prizell, Paul Phillips, Maxine Glover, Sherman Plimpton, Lucia Hunt, and Albertine Adams. Mrs. Ralph Glover and Miss Walter Garth assisted Mrs. Brophy.

A group of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lee G. Todd were bidden informally for a merry evening of dancing at their residence on South High street Thursday night. Included as guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kurtz, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kowland, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Davis, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Fulberton.

The following officers were elected at the monthly meeting of the North Salem Woman's club, Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. A. Graber: President, Mrs. Ella Toothache vice president, Mrs. Peter Graber; secretary, Mrs. Fred Cook; assistant secretary, Mrs. M. L. Prank; treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Graber. A short program followed the business meeting, when a number of poems, composed by Mrs. Edna Dailey, a member of the club, were read, including "My Prayer," "Winter Time" and "Paintings." Mrs. P. L. Purvine gave an interesting talk upon the culture of dahlias. Sewing for the Belgian children also occupied the attention of the club members.

Mrs. M. Vernon Parsons of Eugene has been the guest of Mrs. John Maurer at her home, 317 North Liberty street, for several days this week. Mrs. Parsons was on her return from Portland, having made a short stay there, following an extended sojourn in San Francisco, where she visited her husband, who was stationed in the marine corps at Mare Island. Sergeant Parsons has been transferred to Quantico, Virginia.

Miss Louise Ruth Benson, who will graduate this year from the department of music at Willamette University, will be presented in senior recital Monday night by Dr. Frank Wilbur Chase, at the First Methodist church. Miss Benson possesses a lovely soprano voice, that will be heard to special advantage in the numbers on her program for Monday night. The exceptional pleasure accorded those who have heard Miss Benson sing from time to time, is invariably heightened by her winsome charm of personality. The program which will begin at 8 o'clock follows:

- O Where Art Thou (Orfeo) Joseph Hayden
- Elsa's Dream (Lohegrin) Richard Wagner
- Piano-Novellet Schumann
- Le Nil (French) Xavier Leroux
- An Desert Rhone-Baton

- Yet Ah that Spring Should Vanish (American) Arthur Whiting
- My Desire Ethelbert Nevin
- The Year's at the Spring. A. H. A. Beach

Mrs. George Thacker Guernsey, president of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who brought her first Continental congress to a close last week, not only proved herself the best executive officer this society has known in its twenty seven years of existence, but a real dress reformer also.

For the first time the pages of the congress appeared in uniform, and in a uniform that pleased not only the thousands of delegates and visitors, but the sixty young women, who represent every part of the country, their selves. As in the past years all wore white gowns, with great latitude as to model and material, but each girl wore a Russian blouse of French blue silk, with long sleeves and self colored girdle in exactly the same model. A similar group of "information pages" were pink blouses, all of which added greatly to the appearance of the congress and the dignity of the willing young helpers.

Next Tuesday evening in the club rooms of the Masonic Temple, an entertainment will be given at eight o'clock under the direction of Mrs. Blanche Howard, the proceeds to go to the O. E. S. auxiliary.

On Wednesday afternoon the Eastern Star auxiliary will meet at the home of Mrs. O. A. Olson, 1153 Oak street, for Red Cross work only. All Eastern Star members are cordially invited to attend. The ladies are requested to bring thimbles and scissors.

The department of nursing of the American Red Cross, the mobilizing agency for nurses in military service, is in urgent need of recruits. The present average of enrollment is 1000 nurses a month. But this enrollment, heavy as it is, will not be sufficient to keep pace with the military needs of the government.

This intensive three months' course is open to graduates of standard colleges between the years 1909-1918 inclusive. The school term is from June 24 to September 14.

Miss Ruth Bedford, whose piano solos will form a distinct feature of the program given by the Eastern Star Red Cross auxiliary on Tuesday night May 14th, is the recipient of a signal honor in that she has been chosen by the high school faculty to represent them on their commencement program in June. Miss Bedford is a young musician of much power. In the recent opera given by the high school chorus classes, she played the entire piano part, swinging the chorus and supporting the solo with exquisite taste and discernment. Miss Bedford is a pupil of Miss Beatrice Shelton, and has devoted herself to musical study since little girlhood.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Miles entertained at dinner Tuesday night in compliment to Murray Cox of Pella, Iowa, who is visiting his niece, Miss Laura Grant. Covers were laid for Mr. Cox, Miss Grant, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bellinger, Mrs. L. K. Page, Mr. and Mrs. Miles.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bellinger were also dinner hosts in honor of Mr. Cox this week, inviting as their additional guests: Mrs. L. K. Page, Miss Laura Grant and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McGilchrist.

Much is heard concerning the provision for recreation and relaxation for the soldiers stationed at the cantonments over the country, but little of the efforts made to satisfy and stimulate a common desire for natural beauty, so generally found lacking in the military severity of camp structure. Garden spots, however, have made an almost marvellous overnight appearance at Camp Fremont, California, and now comes the interesting announcement that Mrs. June McMillen Ordway, Portland's talented verse writer, is busy getting together bulbs and plants for the soldiers' garden at Camp Lewis. Mrs. Ordway is the author of a very beautiful poem on Oregon. She has given freely of her assistance in a variety of patriotic causes.

Our educational work, is the subject of an address to be given by Mrs. Emma L. McCaw, first vice president of the grand chapter. Mrs. Volk will give a report of the Reciprocity bureau and Mrs. Dorothy H. Seymour, a past state president, will give a report of the supreme convention. Chapter problems will be discussed.

At the Wednesday afternoon session Mrs. Ida Kipper of chapter 8 will give an address on "Service through P. E. O.," while "P. E. O. participation in Oregon" will be the subject of an address to be given by Mrs. Eleanor K. Bruce, chairman of the patriotic service committee.

The visiting delegates will be taken for an automobile ride at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon. They will be shown the various state institutions.

"Thoughts along the way," will be the topic of discussion for the past state presidents at the Thursday morning session. Election of officers will be held at that session.

At the Thursday afternoon session, all unfinished business will be disposed of and the newly elected officers will be installed.

As nearly all of the sessions Miss Coppeck, the state organizer, will give lectures on the secret work of the society.

The closing exercises of the Fish School of Expression will be held in the Commercial club auditorium on May 23d and 24th at 8 p. m. Miss Lulu Rosamond Walton will present as her graduating recital on May 24th the Oriental romance of "Lalla Rookh" by Thomas Moore. Miss Walton's style is graceful, clear and unpretentious; charming by its very simplicity. Her interpretation of the quaint romance, in its gorgeous setting of Oriental legend, is eminently picturesque, her sweet, clear, sympathetic voice quite fitted for the exquisite shading and coloring needed to bring out the beauty and variety in the various stories. Those who enjoy the stately classics in literature will be delighted with her interpretation. She will be assisted by Richard D. Barton, whose vocal numbers are always welcomed in Salem musical circles also by Prof. Roberts the brilliant pianist whose playing is such a distinct musical treat.

Miss LaVon Coppeck will give as her graduating recital on May 23d a miscellaneous program of readings. Miss Coppeck has studied with a view to specializing in the delineation of child life and character; and she accomplishes her object with much vivaciousness and directness. Her style is essentially dramatic and the spontaneity with which she presents the varying situations, as seen from the angle of the child personality, makes her interpretations a series of vivid pictures. She will be assisted by Miss Laurens Atkins at the piano. Miss Atkins is an advanced pupil of Miss Beatrice Shelton, and plays with much discrimination and excellent taste.

While Portland is mobilizing her married graduate nurses in the organization known as "The home defense nurses" and young girls are taking the first aid courses in Oregon Agricultural college in the Young Women's Christian association, under the auspices of the Red Cross, college women are looking toward Vassar, where a special course in nursing will be given this summer for college graduates from 21 to 31 years of age.

Ever since the United States entered the European war it has been the keen desire of Vassar trustees, faculty, alumnae and undergraduates to have some definite, necessary and helpful part in the prosecution. Last June, in response to an appeal of the Provisional Alumnae Council, that provided the war should continue without prospect of termination, some patriotic use might be made of Vassar's buildings and grounds, the board of trustees appointed a committee of three to devise such a plan. The committee was composed of Frank R. Chambers, Frank L. Babbott and Mrs. John T. Bledgett, '84, chairman.

Woolen Conditions

All-Wool will not signify much when Uncle Sam takes over the wool supply. All goods made for civilian trade will either be mixed with cotton or of reworked wool or shoddy.

I was very fortunate in having an unusual large stock of Woolens on hand and also bought another stock from a tailor retiring from business—and now I can sell you all wool suits at a great saving to yourself.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The board of directors will hold their May meeting Tuesday morning. The executive committee will meet at 10:15 a. m., board meeting at 11 o'clock. Some thing is coming before the meeting that demands the attention and vote of every member, do not fail to be present.

Friday, May 10, was observed as "University Day," for Oregon University students all over the state, and Salem alumni students met at the Y. W. C. A. in the evening for their gathering.

The employment department of the Y. W. C. A. receives calls daily from country and city for help. A great percent of the number is for girls to assist in garden work. If women looking for work of any kind in Salem or vicinity will telephone the Y. W. C. A. they will find employment immediately.

The Northwestern General Conference of the Y. W. C. A. will be held June 21-27, at Seabeck, Wash. The executive and city secretary for the northwest field have sent numerous requests that several Salem women would represent this association at the conference. Remember the date.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT

It is interesting to remember that the administration had full warning about Hearst's probable attitude by his previous editorials attacking Germany's foes and defending Germany.

Roosevelt then cited a number of editorials from the Hearst papers printed before and after this country entered the war, which he declared were "intended to pander to anti-English prejudice in the interest of our foes" and "excite hatred between the United States and England."

Roosevelt went on to say: "The government had full notice about Hearst, because the allies had barred him from the cable service and only through the good offices of this government had these privileges just now been restored."

BRAZIL REORGANIZED

favor of pan-Americanism was the feature of Friday's newspaper editorials. Referring to this and to the presence of the British mission, O'Fais said: "Senior Alves' interview given to the United Press is most opportune, because his ideas on the foreign policy of the future government were expressed on the same day England's special mission was received by the president. Senior Alves categorically affirms his accord with President Wilson's actions and sentiments, which must unite the American peoples. In a word, Alves furnishes security that there will be no modification of our solidarity with the United States. There is ground for the belief that his interview will prove extremely opportune."

An editorial in A'Noite says: "Rodriguez Alves' declaration demonstrates that he has no sympathy with Latin-Americanism. Brazil should have accorded with all the Americas, South and North, but especially should she have an alliance of intimate friendship with the United States. The so-called Latin-Americanism is essentially German-Americanism. Within our hemisphere, Brazil's natural allies are the United States."

O'Imparcial says: "The Alves interview constitutes a valuable document, defining precisely the direction of Brazil's future policy. The statement is most important, as it guarantees that Brazil will continue to follow the war course of the United States."

ARGENTINE IS FRIENDLY TO UNITED STATES

New York, May 11.—President Irigoyen of Argentina has the most friendly feeling towards the United States and is anxious to do everything possible further to cement the friendly relations between his nation and this country, Mrs. Hermina Dargie, widow of William E. Dargie, former owner of the Oakland, Cal., Tribune, declared here today. Mrs. Dargie has just returned from a 22 month visit to Buenos Aires and is closely acquainted with the president and his family.

"I am convinced that President Irigoyen puts love of country above everything and that he would not lead the Argentine into the war unless the provocation were much greater than anything so far," Mrs. Dargie said. "He is keenly interested, however, in strengthening relations between the United States and Argentine and he believes this to be of immense benefit to his own land."

Mrs. Dargie's impressions of President Irigoyen's sentiments toward the United States are identical to his expressions to Howard W. Howard, president of the United Press in a recent interview.

"Argentina as a whole," Mrs. Dargie continued, "view the war with interest, but do not believe it directly concerns them."

Developments of news relations between the United States and Argentina by the United Press has done more than any other event in the past two years to improve the understanding between the two countries, Mrs. Dargie believes.

Moose to Have Celebration From May 20 to 25

Cherry City lodge 498 L. O. O. M., will hold a spring celebration six days and nights commencing May 20th to 25th, inclusive, on Ferry street between Liberty and Cottage. They have contracted with the Bernardi Greater Exposition company to furnish the attractions to the amusement going people. This large organization, consisting of 25 cars, 350 people, 15 big shows and 3 riding devices, comes to this city with the highest of recommendation from public officials, press and city officials from the different cities in which they have exhibited. On the "pinnacle zone" of the Bernardi shows will be found "The Hawaiian Village," "Tango Mass," "Athletic Show," "Trained Animal Show," "California Cabaret," "Palace of Art," "Grove Side Show," "Palace of Illusions," "Crazy House." A twenty thousand dollar merry-go-round, a giant ferris wheel, and that great sensational ride, "The Whip." These are only a few of the features with the Bernardi shows which are all guaranteed to be high class, moral and refined. The Moose will also hold a popularity contest which will open Monday morning May 13th, and which will be explained in these columns later.

Notwithstanding Secretary McAdoo's dramatic efforts to curtail travel this year the fact remains that increasingly large numbers of Americans are already going abroad.
