believe that the number will prove a lucky one after the ballots have been counted next Friday evening. This is the second time Mr. Ward has come before the voters. He served his first term on the city council by appointment, and then came before the voters and was elected for his second term. His membership on the state board of pharmacy was by appointment and the other members elected him secretary. While some folks might shy at number 13 on the official ballot, Mr. Ward believes it will stand by him all right and in fact he doesn't believe there is anything in a hoodoo or hoodooing the public when it comes to voting for its city officials. And if there was, he believes the people of Salem would prefer to vote for a candidate who had given four years study to the needs of the city rather than to one who had not.

Ladies who are wondering whether furs will be quite the thing next winter may rest assured that fashion dictates the wearing of more furs than ever for next winter. George D. Alderin is home from Seattle where he attended an annual sale of furs, attended by buyers from all parts of the country. He reports that red fox and cross fox furs were in demand, especially from the eastern buyers who report small stocks as no shipments have been received from Russia.

For the canning of the home supply of fruits for the winter, the government allows the good housekeeper 100 pounds of sugar which she may buy by signing at the grocer's a certificate that it is bought for canning purposes only. The food administration figures that 100 pounds is enough for the average housekeeper in putting up her winter supply of fruit. But if more is needed, it will be necessary to make a showing to the county food administrator, Fred W. Steusloff.

The potato market, as far as commission men are concerned, is practically dead, notwithstanding the fact that the food administration says there are 500 cars in the valley. California seems to have enough potatoes for its own use but it is rather risky business this time of the year shipping to Texas or southern points. It requires two or three weeks for shipments to reach these southern points and as it is summer weather down south, shipping in car lots is uncertain business especially as the food inspectors down there are inclined to under-grade shipments from Oregon. The month of May is generally a good business month for shipments of potatoes to outside markets, but this year conditions are other wise and it seems to be up to the folks in Oregon and especially the Willamette valley to cast their own potatoes.

The Highland jitney and the Highland garage were completely destroyed by fire at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. E. B. Dabney, owner of the car had just returned from the 2 o'clock downtown trip and as he drove into the garage the car burst into flames. His smaller car fortunately was in another garage.

The Highland school is in need of a Victrola and for the purpose of raising funds, an entertainment will be given at the school this evening, including readings by Miss Lulu R. Walton.

This is potato week and under the circumstances, this especially applies to Salem and the Willamette valley where there are 500 cars of surplus stock which cannot be shipped to advantage. California has all the potatoes it needs and shipping to Texas is an uncertain business since the federal inspectors there will not accept the grading of the Oregon federal inspectors. Therefore people are asked to do justice to the home product.
