

The Universal Military Service Gum

WRIGLEY'S

The use of WRIGLEY'S by the fighting men has created much comment across the water.

Even before American soldiers and sailors landed, the British, Canadian and French forces had adopted WRIGLEY'S as their war-time sweetmeat.

And now that Uncle Sam's stalwart boys are hitting the line, you'll find WRIGLEY'S a very noticeable ally of the Allies.

Keep them supplied. A box is easy to send—100 sticks—100 refreshments.

MILITARY AFFAIRS

(Continued from page one) than he would wish congress to interfere with him and that as far as he is concerned the military affairs committee ought to be given whatever authority it needs to go into war department activities so long as the investigation does not reflect a lack of confidence in the way the president and Secretary Baker are conducting the war.

These explanations, however, only increased the agitation, which bids fair to continue until the issue is fought out and settled on the senate floor. The Chamberlain resolution, empowering the military affairs committee to investigate, is to be reported to the senate today, amended so as to limit the inquiry to aircraft, ordnance and the quartermaster and not to interfere with the conduct of the war.

Senator Martin, democratic leader, also informed the senate in effect that the Hughes appointment was originated by the administration to prevent the senate inquiry.

Thompson conferred with the president early today. When he arrived in the senate he informed Senator Chamberlain that the resolution authorizing the military affairs committee to investigate would be reported by Senator McKellar. McKellar presented the report and asked 24 hours to write a minority report on behalf of Senator Jones, New Mexico and himself. This was granted and the resolution went to the senate calendar.

It can be brought up tomorrow. The president's attitude as expressed to Thompson today was a surprise. Late yesterday senators who purported to express the administration's view said the president would not oppose a senate aircraft probe, but that he did not want a general inquiry into the conduct of the war, which might embarrass or reflect on him.

President Is Positive

Washington, May 16.—President Wilson today renewed his emphatic protest against a senate aircraft investigation. He told Senator Thompson, Kansas, that in view of the appointment of Charles E. Hughes to assist in the department of justice inquiry, he considered a senate probe unnecessary and asked him to do all he could to defeat it.

Missing Woodburn Man Is Sought In Stream

Woodburn, Or., May 16.—Search is being made for the body of Alexander Boyle in the Pudding river at the Seelye Bridge, but not much progress has been made on account of the many snags. Boyle has been missing since Monday and had acted queerly. Tracks made by him were found leading to the river.

Report From Vienna

Vienna, via London, May 16.—Several reconnoitering thrusts were repulsed between the Brenta and the Piave, the Austro-Hungarian war office announced today.

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Weak, thin people—men and women—are nearly always nervous wrecks; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Eminent specialists state that the best nerve food is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

Weak, tired people regain strength and vigor; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleeper; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health. Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks.

CAUTION:—Although Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh. It is sold in this city by all good druggists.

out lull. The German staff has been forced to work out its plans to the minutes details, rehearse the storm troops until they are letter perfect and re-mass men and material behind the line from where they can be pushed up during the night for a surprise attack in the morning.

Despite the fact it is established that the Germans have lost half a million men since March 21, it is known positively they still have another half million in reserve depots, with which they can fill up their fresh losses, thus rendering possible a duplication of their offensive effort.

With the present unity of command, coupled with their defensive preparations, the allies are awaiting the shock with supreme confidence.

How to Brush Teeth

MOST Tooth-brushing is done very thoughtlessly. It does not remove food deposits from all the surfaces of the teeth and the mouth. From three to five minutes are required to accomplish anything like a thorough cleaning of the teeth. At least this much time should be spent after meals and at night before retiring. Most decay of the teeth takes place during the night or resting hours. The tooth-brush must not be too coarse and stiff, and it should not be drawn straight across the teeth. The proper method is to brush from the gums toward the cutting edge of the teeth with a slight circular motion. Avoid the use of coarse or gritty tooth-powders, and all tooth-pastes containing soap, and all mouth washes purporting to cure or prevent dental trouble. After each brushing, the mouth should be rinsed out with lukewarm water. The tooth-brush should be cleaned and kept dry when not in use.

BATTILING IN AIR

By Fred S. Ferguson With the Americans in Picardy, May 15.—(Night)—Americans holding the Montdidier sector viewed a dozen ringed circles this morning as air fights occurred repeatedly directly over their lines.

The day was ideal for aerial observation, the sun beaming from a cloudless sky flecked with long lines of sausage balloons.

The boche airplanes took the air first. As they crossed the lines there was a hoarse barking of anti-aircraft guns. Then the battle planes dashed toward each other and a thrilling fight was on, high up between the lines.

From an observation post at the front, I counted 15 French and Boche planes, flashing like silver as they wheeled in battle formation. Soon they were mixing in, darting and diving like swallows. Their machine guns rattled and thin trails of smoke from the guns streaked the sky.

Three planes mounted to a position high above the others, then dived straight into the melee, their machine guns spurring fire.

Two planes apparently were hit and fell like leaves through space. But striking the enemy, they suddenly righted and dashed against three planes that had been pursuing them.

In the mixup it was impossible to distinguish boche from French as all were looping and diving in a confused whirl.

and American machine guns alike were silent. Sniping on both sides ceased and not a single shot was fired by either artillery. The war for the moment, was transferred entirely to the sky.

The Germans attempted a new method of gassing last night, firing a shell that burst in the air like shrapnel. The ordinary gas shell bursts upon contact.

American artillery pounded all the roads and villages behind the German lines every night. There has been great activity behind the boche positions during the past 48 hours. Effective American fire undoubtedly has caused heavy losses to the enemy.
