RED CROSS CAMPAIGN GOES LIKE WHIRLWIND

Michigan First State In Union to Report Full Quota Passed

New York, May 21.—New York passed the $9,000,000 mark on the second day of her drive for $25,000,000 Red Cross dollars, according to the official total at 3 p. m.

Michigan in Lead
 Washington, May 21.—The second day of the Red Cross $100,000,000 war fund drive brought rosented reports from all sections. Michigan has swept over the state quota of $3,000,000—the first state to achieve its goal.

The middle west was racing pell mell to a heavy over subscription with the lake district turning in this record for the opening day:
 Ohio $574,848, Kentucky $301,400 and Indiana $630,000.

The big cities were displaying great activity, with Chicago turning in nearly a half million already and New York well over $7,500,000.

President and Mrs. Wilson added zest to the auctioning of the wool from the white house sheep, with the announcement they will send an autograph letter to the successful bidder in each state.

Civil Service Exams at Capital Business College

Next Saturday the examinations before the local Civil service commission will be held at the rooms of the Capital Business college, through the courtesy of W. I. Staley.

Ordinarily an examination for rural mail carrier does not attract many candidates, but in this case, the government has thrown down the bars to women and it is the women who will make the largest number of the 25 who have made application to take the examination.

A candidate for rural mail service does not need any special education beyond that of the eighth grade school course. For instance in spelling, 20 words will be submitted, that any eighth grade pupil could answer. In arithmetic there is the usual easy questions of addition, subtraction, division and along in the book including decimal fractions.

The letter writing test is just plain English composition and business correspondence. Penmanship is included and also the copying of plain copy. There will also be the reading of plainly addressed envelopes. The government does not expect any fancy or advanced education from its letter carriers, but there is considerable heavy work in carrying out mail bags and packages to the means of traveling the route.

Those taking the examination are to report Saturday morning at the Capital Business college at 5:30 o'clock. The examination will be held under the direction of Paul W. Miller, local secretary of the Civil Service Commission. The papers are all sent to Washington and the gradings of the three highest a.c. submitted to the examiner here.

Union of Churches Is Presbyterian Position

Columbus, Ohio, May 21.—Declaring that the time has come for organic union of the Evangelical churches of America, the Presbyterian general assembly today took the most advanced step in that direction yet taken by any church and called upon the other churches of the nation to join in an immediate conference looking to that end.

The moderator was directed to send messages to the four churches now in session in the United States requesting them to name at once commissions to meet in conference and formulate plans for the union.

Looking ahead to national prohibition, the temperance committee, in a report to be submitted late today, declared that the temperance organization must be continued among these dry-millions of children "who must be taught as were their parents." Foreigners with different ideals who come among us, and adults who "have never been convinced or converted."

The report declares for war prohibition "now."

Senator LaFollette Says He Is Not Disloyal

Washington, May 21.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette today demanded that the senate committee on privileges and elections dismiss charges of disloyalty filed against him by the Minnesota public safety commission.

Through his attorney, Gilbert E. Roe LaFollette asserted there was no disloyalty in LaFollette's speech at St. Paul on September 20, 1917 when LaFollette declared the United States did not have sufficient grievances against Germany to warrant a declaration of war.

Roe asked the committee to report to the senate that it had found no evidence to warrant LaFollette's expulsion.

Submarine Sinkings Decrease 25 Per Cent

Washington, May 21.—Figures of British and allied shipping losses for April show a decrease of 25 per cent from the previous monthly average. Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt said this afternoon.

He ascribes the reduction in sinkings to the increased activity of the allied fleets, saying that the raids on Ostend and Zeebrugge undoubtedly will have an effect on the May shipping losses.

Letters Tells How Hop Crop Was Destroyed Under Direct Orders

Chicago, May 21.—The I. W. W.'s role in the famous hop strike of California in 1915 was portrayed by the government today in the trial of 112 I. W. W. leaders charged with sedition and sabotage.

From the letters of G. L. Lambert, Minneapolis defendant, and secretary of the hop pickers' committee, Special Prosecutor Claude R. Porter laid before the jury evidence he claimed clearly showed sabotage was committed.

"Some Hoosier did a good piece of sabotage the other week about five miles from Polson," read a Lambert Bulletin dated April 6, 1916 after the hop troubles. "A big gold dredge tipped over there and it will likely cost the Natomsas Gold Mining company close to $75,000 to put it right again. Get on this job if possible. Wages $2.50 for nine hours; board 75 cents."

"The boys are doing a remarkable work here in California," Lambert wrote to G. J. Bourne, another Minneapolis defendant. "The papers gave an estimate of the fires, etc., which they cannot account for, at something like two million dollars. This does not seem to have woken them up yet, but if they get enough of it they will wake up and get a move on them soon."

As secretary of the strikers committee, Lambert issued a bulletin to his followers: "The hop crop of California is reported to be 24,000 bales short. This year the vines gave the heaviest yield on record, yet the crop is 24,000 bales short. Hoeses say that the boycott was a joke. With this known fact that the crop is short, we wonder how the hop farmers like the joke. This joke will be repeated next year on a larger scale."

The bulletin related how the Horst Brothers' machines were damaged and how another hop raiser lost one-third of his crop.

SENATOR OLLIE JAMES ILL

State House News

A dispatch from Grants Pass to the Public Service commission this morning told of passenger train 54 striking a Ford truck near Merlin and instantly killing Lawrence Middleton, and injuring slightly John Bairs, a boy who was on the truck.

The Public Utilities commission of Idaho advises the Public Service commission of the request of "E. Morris Agent's" who ask permission to change the rules for the diversion and recognition of fruit and vegetables, and asking if the Public Service commission would protest this action. The commission replies that it is giving the matter publicity through the press and unless some protest is made by shippers the commission will take no action concerning it.

The railroads of Washington have written the Public Service commission as to the employment of a check clerk to check loading of cars and issue a clean bill of lading therefor, making a charge of $3 per car for his work. A clean bill of lading is one without the notation: "Shippers' weight, load or count," or words of like effect showing the goods were loaded and described by the shipper.

Answering District Attorney Bufington, of Curry county, the attorney general holds that the county treasurer cannot accept securities from county depositaries other than those prescribed by the law.

Articles of incorporation were filed today as follows: Churchill & McBride Inc., of Portland, capital stock $10,000 and object to do a general galvanizing business.

Viking Marine Paint company, of Portland, capital stock $50,000 and object to manufacture and deal in paints, oils, etc.

Hill & company Inc., of Harisburg, capital stock $40,000 and object to deal in hardware, harness, autos and accessories and all kinds of merchandise.

Now Miss Lusk Despises Husband of Her Victim

Wauchesa, Wis., May 21.—"She despises him." Terely, Dr. A.P. Lusk, today summed up his daughter's feelings toward Dr. David Roberts, whose wife Grace Lusk killed for love of him.

Her affection was ground into dust by Dr. Roberts' three days testimony in her murder trial, during which he blamed her for their unconventional relations.

Now that Dr. Roberts has finished his testimony and Judge Martin Lueck has ordered an investigation to determine if Dr. Roberts can be prosecuted in Chicago on a charge of adultery, Wauchesa awaits patiently Miss Lusk's story.

Whether Miss Lusk will be permitted to bare her feelings is a matter of conjecture. Six days after the shooting last June Miss Lusk dictated a confession in which she attempted to shield Roberts from the Mann act. It is probable that if Miss Lusk attempts now to change her story the state will produce her confession.

The prosecution was expected to close its direct case this week.

Discuss Treatment of Prisoners of War

Washington, May 21.—The department has asked Germany through the Spanish Berlin embassy, if she would agree to a conference between German and American delegates in Spain on the question of treatment of war prisoners.
