Sickness No Excuse for Failing to Register

Portland, Or., May 23.—Sickness will not be accepted as an excuse for not registering on Wednesday, June 5, the day set for the registration of every young man in the United States who has attained his 21st birthday since registration day a year ago.

A young man who is ill should send some competent person to the office of his local board for a copy of the registration card, and authority to fill it out.

The request will be granted, provided the local board is satisfied the case is a bona fide one, and the person applying for the card will be deputed to make it out.

After this card has been made out, it must be mailed, or delivered in person by the agent of the sick man, to the local board. If mailed, a stamped and self-addressed envelope should be included for his registration certificate from the Board.

This certificate will be a very handy thing to keep, for without it a registered man will be liable to arrest at any time on suspicion that he hasn't registered.

It is important for every young man who has reached the age of 21 years since registration day last June, to remember that he must register with his draft board on Registration Day this coming June 5.

This applies to every man in the United States of the required age, including non-citizens as well as citizens. The only exceptions are men already in the military or naval service, and military and medical students now pursuing their studies.

Failure to register on June 5, even through forgetfulness, is punishable by imprisonment up to one year, so it behooves every young man to bear Registration Day closely in mind, and to register.

Registration cards have been continuously watched.

While the state department absolutely refuses to discuss details of the evidence in hand, much of it has been revealed from time to time and more of it may be made public soon.

Ten Known Dead

Madison, Wis., May 22.—Ten persons are known dead today, and at least fifty injured as a result of a tornado which swept Richland, Sauk, Dane and Iowa counties in Wisconsin last night, causing approximately $1,000,000 property damage.

Half of the village of Lone Rock was razed. Six persons are known to be dead there and thirty injured.

Editor F. C. Pilkin of the Tri-County Review was killed in the collapse of the Lone Rock bank building.

Physicians from surrounding villages were summoned into the town by courier.

Houses and barns throughout the four counties were lifted from their foundations.

At Plano, near Spring Green, a boy was killed and several persons injured. St. Lukes Catholic church, a new $10,000 structure, was demolished.

No Trace Found Yet of Person Who Murdered Mother and Children

Kelso, Wash., May 22.—Authorities of Cowlitz county had made little progress today in the search for the murderer of the mother and her two children, who were found in a tent near the Pacific highway.

They believe the murderer went southward in his old Ford car and that he may be in the neighborhood of Portland. A motive for the crime has not been found.

Thus far the theory that the murderer is the woman's husband has met with a check. A crude attempt to indicate that the mother killed her two children and then killed herself did not fool Sheriff Studenaker. A rusty revolver with four exploded cartridges, but with a barrel that had not been used for months, was found near the woman. Four shots had been fired to kill the three victims, who evidently were sleeping.

The formality of the coroner's inquest brought out no new evidence, but returned a verdict of murder by an unknown person.

Studenaker is carefully keeping a white Angora cat which belonged to the family. He believes some one will come forward and identify the family and that this cat will hasten the identification.

Says Seamen Tried to Give Ship to Raider

San Francisco, May 22.—Five seamen were under arrest here today while federal officials investigated an alleged attempt to run the United States shipping board's ship Moshulu into the hands of a German raider in the South Seas.

Captain Lanester charged the five men with insubordination, and declared they repeatedly ran the ship off her course.

The five held are A. J. Wally, beatvain; Harold Lincoln, who says his English Navy Saves World. Referring to the friendship between this country and England, Professor Foster stated that if the Anglo-Saxon race is to survive the two branches must stand together, as at heart they are the same.

For the Red Cross work in Portland, the speaker said that he had asked for the finest houses in the city and that it had been given. He spoke of the work being done at Reed College where 300 women would be trained this summer in reconstruction work—that of teaching soldiers who will return within the coming year and be obliged to learn different occupations on account of injuries received. Also of the establishing in the northwest of remedial workshops, similar to those in England where soldiers who have been seriously crippled may have the means of learning new vocs.

Before the address of President Foster, honor flags were presented to the county and city by F. G. Deekabaugh county chairman of the Third Liberty loan drive. Judge Bushey accepted the flag for the county in a brief address and Mayor Walter E. Keyes for the city.

O. B. Gingrich, manager of the present Red Cross drive announced that Salem had not only raised its quota of $15,000 but that the total up to last night was $20,583.

GERMANY'S IRISH

disc Ireland's case in the eyes of friendly countries, is regarded as significant that it clearly shows the unwavering hostility and angry suspicion against almost any governmental action.

This agitation is widening and deepening the chasm between England and Ireland and has shattered any hope that Dillon and the other nationalists will await proofs and then repudiate any alliance with the Sinn Fein. They seem resolved to stick with the Sinn Fein through thick and thin in the main objective of resistance to conscription.

The conference reconvened, following the government's promise of immediate publication of part of the evidence against the Sinn Feiners.

Dillon Issues Appeal

Dublin, May 22.—John Dillon, chairman of the United Irish League, today appealed to America to withhold judgment upon the present grave situation in Ireland until the Irish people can be heard.

Dillon asked that the United States be not deceived by "propagandist misrepresentations, aiming to prejudice the American people and the American government against Ireland."

He characterized the government's action as "suspicious" and said he believed the government's sweeping arrests were "aimed against the Irish self-determinists as much as against the alleged German plot."

"We are beginning to despair of nationalism, in the hands of the present leaders," said the Irish Times. "Decent Irishmen must hang their heads in shame."

The Irish Independent says: "Even in the eleventh hour let England give us full dominion and home rule and then give voluntary recruiting full sway."

The Freeman's Journal declares Ireland's appeal is to President Wilson.

Nationalists Coming Back

London, May 22.—A Dublin dispatch to the Daily News today said that the Irish nationalists will return to parliament next week.

The Times' Dublin correspondent declared that relations between Sinn Feiners and nationalists are strained to the breaking point.

Leaders are Pro-Germans

Washington, May 22.—Evidence of plotting between pro-Germans and Irish leaders in this country with Sinn Feiners on the British Isles has been in the hands of the United States government for many weeks, it developed today.

A card index of these leaders here, together with much correspondence, showing plots to ship arms to Ireland to aid in revolt against England, have been obtained and much information furnished the British authorities.

A letter said to have been written by John Devoy, New York Irish leader, carried recently by the United Press, showed financial arrangements between Germany and Irish leaders in America.

The central office of the activity was in New York with principals operating in many large cities, raising funds and cooperating in propaganda work.

The apprehension of Roger Casement marks the close of the first chapter in the proposed Irish uprising. But leaders here declared that, according to evidence in the hands of the government that they would work on to accomplish a later revolt. Their move-has opposed the proposed action. Word today that the president would support McAdoo for a revenue bill this session, met with a storm of disapproval from both sides of the house. Majority Leader Kitchin said McAdoo had not advanced a single good reason for a revenue bill at this session and declared that if one is to be framed, congress will stand its ground on what goes into it.

Kitchin also came out in stronger terms than he has hitherto used in favor of heavy taxes on excess war profits and incomes and promised to outline his whole position on the floor of the house as soon as he was formally notified that a revenue bill had been decided upon.

It developed that McAdoo had advanced two reasons for a bill at this session during his conference with Kitchin and Senator Simmons Monday.

First, it would give the country some idea of the taxes it would have to pay and thus aid the sale of liberty bonds during the next drive.

Second, it would show clearly the advantage of the non-taxable liberty bonds over other taxable securities as such an investment.

Kitchin and Simmons told McAdoo that in their opinion neither reason justified a revenue bill at this session and the only thing that would justify such a course would be the actual need of the government for more money.

Kitchin said the ways and means committee could begin on a tax bill as soon as they get the word that it would likely be ready for senate by August.
