IRISH BISHOP TELLS PEOPLE TO RESIST

Sermon of Prelate May Indicate Attitude of Irish Catholic Church

By Webb Miller
 (United Press staff correspondent)
 Dublin, May 28.—A sermon by Bishop Fogarty, of the diocese of Killaloe, in which he urged Irish youths to resist conscription to the utmost, caused widespread comment in the Dublin press today.

The bishop's sermon was delivered Sunday during confirmation ceremonies.

He lauded De Valera, one of the leaders of the Sinn Feiners, declaring him a great, upright leader, whose advice should be followed by the people of Ireland. He urged Irishmen in Ireland to remain calm and confident of the ultimate outcome of the present trouble.

Commenting on this sermon, the Express voices the hope that Bishop Fogarty's attitude does not represent the attitude of the entire Catholic hierarchy of Ireland. It points out that the bishop of Killaloe is the first bishop to break silence since the Sinn Fein arrests. The Express adds that if the sermon is representative of the views of the hierarchy, it will make more difficult the reception of the lord mayor of Dublin at the white house in Washington.

Tonnage Increased By Many Launchings

Washington, May 28.—Fifteen steel ships and three wooden ships with a total tonnage of 109,700, were launched during the week ending May 25, according to the shipping board announced today. This figure includes the launchings for May to thirty steel ships and 25 wooden ships.

Ten steel ships with a total tonnage of 63,486, were completed in the last week. Of this number, eight were requisitioned ships and two were built under contract. All shipping board tonnage figures are dead weight.

Prosecution Lawyers Attack Miss Lusk's Defense

Waukesha, Wis., May 28.—State Attorneys today began blasting away arguments at the defense of Grace Lusk, on trial here charged with murder for shooting Mrs. Mary Roberts. The evidence which barred the illicit relations of the middle aged school teacher with Dr. David Roberts, will go to the jury tomorrow.

There were three possible verdicts—acquittal, guilty of manslaughter, or insane.

The sensational trial's final testimony was from physicians. Alienists for both sides befuddled the farmer jury with such terms as "hysterical automatism," "massed epilepsy" and "persecutory delusions."

Miss Lusk's Girlhood

Portland, Or., May 28.—A memory of Grace Lusk's girlhood came to her defense today.

Twenty two years ago the girl who is now being tried in Waukesha, Wis., for the murder of Mrs. David Roberts, was a kindergarten teacher at the age of 18. Strange actions by her then were recalled today by J. F. Fuss who went to school to the young teacher.

Fuss believes Grace Lusk to be suffering from the effects of an unfortunate incident in her early girlhood which had such an effect on her that at times she lost her self control.

"Three of us boys for some small offense were ordered to apologize to Miss Lusk," said Fuss. "When we went to her she asked us not to apologize, unless we were sure we were guilty. Then she told how she herself had been forced to apologize to a woman for something she had not done.

"I shall never forget the woman and shall always hate her for it," she cried. Then she burst into bitter, hysterical crying from which she did not recover for some time."

Fuss, who is employed in a shipyard here, formerly was principal of the high school at Sussex, Wis., near Waukesha. He believes Miss Lusk is a victim of repression as a result of that incident in childhood and that, as a result, could not be held responsible for unnatural acts at certain critical moments.

Hoff Is Nominated For State Treasurer

Portland, Ore., May 28.—The nomination of O. P. Hoff at the republican primaries for state treasurer over Thomas P. Ryan was practically assured today. Hoff led by 120 votes according to official count in 35 counties and the complete, checked Multnomah county official returns. The total vote was: Hoff, 17,801; Ryan, 17,681.

Bakeries May Still Buy Flour In Oregon

Portland, Or., May 28.—The state food administrator's office today cleared up what has seemed to some to be an inconsistency in the rules for voluntary guidance concerning this wheatless week in Oregon.

The administration requested that all retailers refuse to sell except to hospitals, logging camps and bakeries. The question was asked, why bakeries?

The administration explained that flour rations for the bakers had been set by the federal license system, and as this week's request is purely voluntary, it would be impossible to go behind the license system. Also, it was explained, to refuse to sell flour to the bakers would put them out of business which would be poor policy.

Stayton Company Is Reviewed by General

Company I of Stayton was reviewed last evening by a number of military men from the Oregon Guard, including Adjutant General Williams, Major Hall, Lieutenant Colonel Woolpert, Captain Arnold, Lieutenant Clifford Brown and a number of non-coms from the three companies in Salem.

General Williams delivered a patriotic address on the lines of winning the war. Company I of Stayton will hereafter be attached to the Second battalion under the command of Major Hall. The general also complimented the Stayton soldiers on their fine appearance as they lined up for inspection, numbering 74. All the military men present were impressed with the soldierly appearance of the Stayton company and noted the fact that 25 of the soldiers stood more than six feet tall.

Red Cross War Fund Went Far Over Top

The second Red Cross war fund campaign in Salem closed Saturday evening with contributions of about $50,000 from Marion and Polk counties, a total of $110,000 in excess of their allotment. The success of this second drive was due largely to the friendly feeling the people at large have for the Red Cross work and to the organization of workers that brought out 628 enthusiastic patriots who were willing to devote several days of their time to this good cause.

Arrangements have been made where, by contributing pledges as installments because due are to be paid at the local banks where due credit for payments will be given and receipts issued.

tempted a raid upon our lines. This force, which was composed of three officers and about one hundred men, was equipped with light machine guns, blew up our wires and attempted to capture portions of our trenches. They were completely repulsed by our infantry and our artillery, leaving one officer and four men dead in our trenches and one wounded prisoner in our hands. Fifteen or twenty dead were observed near our wires and ten stretchers were seen being carried from this point. Here also our losses appeared relatively slight.

Yesterday in Lorraine the enemy was unusually active in bombarding our trenches with gas and in patrolling. On one occasion the patrolling party approached our lines with cries of "kammerade" and our troops replied with rifle fire. One of the hostile detachment was killed and his body secured.

SECRET SERVICE MEN MASQUERADED AS MEMBERS OF I. W. W.

This Fact Was Known to Leaders of Order As Evidence In Trial Shows

Chicago, May 28.—Secret service men, masquerading as I. W. W. members, collected preliminary evidence which resulted in last September's nation wide trials and arrest of 112 leaders on trial here for alleged sedition and sabotage.

This fact was uncovered by letters government attorneys read to the jury today, also disclosing that the I. W. W. long were aware of the gathering storm.

A. D. Kimball, I. W. W. secretary at Bisbee, Ariz., discovered three government detectives there in April, 1917, who, according to Kimball's letters to Defendant Grover H. Perry of Salt Lake City, were reporting to a Lieutenant Postle of the department of justice.

The ghost of Frank Little, I. W. W. leader lynched at Butte, Mont., last year, was raised in the same letter. Little was sent by I. W. W. general headquarters to cope with the detectives. The Bisbee and Jerome miners' strikes, which later were featured by white press departments of I. W. W., but were launched, according to Perry, but once a six hour working day received the I. W. W.'s support.

The government introduced other Perry letters to strengthen its charge of lawlessness against the I. W. W. In one Perry threatened to "sabotage" Salt Lake strikebreakers reported en route to Bisbee. In another Perry said: "I had intended to attack the bull pen at Hurley, N. M., but will wait a few days."

A feud was shown by the letters to exist between the I. W. W. and the Western Federation of Miners.

COLONEL TONGUE-TIED FOR ONCE

Chicago, May 28.—Colonel Roosevelt declined today to comment on the shifting of Major General Leonard Wood to command the western department with headquarters at San Francisco. He evinced great interest in General Wood's conference with the president at six o'clock tonight.

With all the quick lunch house waitresses dolled up in Red Cross surnames fellow is tempted to develop a case of ptomaine poisoning on the spot.

Red Cross War Funds Are Far Over-Subscribed

Washington, May 28.—Resumption of the German offensive found the Red Cross today with a brimming treasury to carry on its salvage of American soldier lives.

ALLIED ARMIES

ried them across the Aisne to the west of the British sector, compelling the left line to fall back," the statement said.

"The enemy is developing attacks of great strength on the whole Aisne front."

(The British sector was astride the Aisne in the vicinity of Berry-au-Bac about 24 miles east of Soissons. The Germans previously were reported to have reached Pont-Arcy, on the south bank of the Aisne, 14 miles east of Soisson.)

"Local fighting commenced this morning on the Lys front in the area east of Diekbusch front."

"On the remainder of the British front a number of prisoners were taken in successful raids last night."

"Both armies were active at different points."

"The enemy exerted continuous pressure against the British on the Aisne front throughout yesterday. Severe fighting is still continuing."

"On the right the Twenty First division, maintaining contact with the French, held its battle positions all day. On the center and left, the Eighth, Fifteenth and Twenty Fifth divisions in a determined resistance maintained their second line until a late hour."

"The Germans in their double attack which signified resumption of the offensive, succeeded only in making gains at some points on the new battle front between Soissons and Rheims, night attacks declared. In Flanders, what slight progress they did make was wiped out by French counter attacks, these reports said."

At one point in the Aisne region, the enemy succeeded in reaching Pont-Arcy, 14 miles east of Soissons on the south bank of the Aisne, the French war office admitted in its night report. This represents an advance of slightly more than four miles.

About ten miles to the eastward, in the vicinity of Berry-au-Bac, British troops were forced back to their second line positions. Field Marshal Haig's night reports revealed.

Although the Germans attacked at several points along the forty mile front between Soissons and Rheims, they apparently were held except at

It was announced today that the government is now planning to try one or two of the Sinn Feiners under arrest. Previously it had understood that the prisoners would remain interned without trial.
