Possibility of Attack On Port of New York

New York, June 3.—Announcement of the operation of German submarines 75 miles off the New Jersey coast led today to speculation as to a possible attack on New York.

Possibility of any submarine penetrating the nets and other defenses in the lower harbor was immediately discounted.

The authorities, however, considered the possibility of an air raid by airships launched from the deck of a submarine. This theory has been widely discussed in the past and its practicability is admitted by some experts on naval matters.

American military officials have so accepted such a possibility, in fact, that anti-aircraft guns long have been established at strategic points around New York City and its environs, according to reliable reports.

In case the Germans should attempt to bomb New York, it is agreed that it would be merely for the effect on American morale rather than because of any military reason.

Liner Carolina Victim of Submarine Raiders

New York, June 3.—It was announced this afternoon at the office of the New York and Porto Rico Steamship company that the steamer Carolina had been sunk by a submarine.

The passengers were taken off, according to information in the hands of the company.

The company professed ignorance regarding the present whereabouts of the passengers and crew, or as to whether there had been loss of life.

The Carolina was bound for New York from San Juan.

Work All Done Yesterday. Washington, June 3.—The impression that the German submarines had operated today as well as yesterday on this coast, was corrected by the navy department late this afternoon when it was announced that the Carolina S. O. S. came yesterday, in stead of today, as first announced. At the same time, it was stated that the navy had had no report of any attacks today.

Submarine Sinkings Affect Stock Market

New York, June 3.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said: "The industrial list in today's stock market was presenting a good display of strength when in the late forenoon reports of the sinking of American vessels off the coast of New Jersey by enemy submarines caused a sharp reversal of trend, carrying prices down one to four points or so from the top levels."

When the decline set in as a result of the submarine episode, naturally the shipping shares were the hardest hit. Marine preferred dropped nearly five points and the common more than two points.

The market dragged through the afternoon at a price level not far removed from the Saturday closing. With few exceptions earlier gains were cancelled.

Three Torpedoes Sunk Transport President Lincoln

Washington, June 3. Three torpedoes were shot into the American transport President Lincoln and she sank 18 minutes. Vice Admiral Sims reported to the navy department today.

None of the passengers or sick aboard perished, but there was a small loss of life, apparently among the ship's officers and crew.

The attacking submarine was about 200 feet long and was not of the cruiser type. It launched its attack at 9:53 a. m. May 1. At noon of the same day, destroyers which went to the rescue, sighted a U-boat and attacked it.

The four officers of the President Lincoln reported missing are: Surgeon Lindsey C. Whitesides, Newport, R. I.

Assistant Paymaster Andrew Mowat, Leighton, Pa.

Assistant Paymaster J. E. Ardston (or Ardston), U. S. N. F. (no such name as Ardston or Ardston on the navy record).

Lieutenant Edward M. Isaacs, for Huachuca, Ariz.

Lieutenant Isaacs was taken prisoner by the submarine. Twenty-three enlisted men are reported missing from the President Lincoln.

INSURANCE RATES JUMP

New York, June 3.—Marine insurance rates jumped here today. The German submarine raid on American shipping was the cause. The rates were practically doubled. Some refused to accept risks at any price.

Risk Insurance department at Washington, besides writing a number of letters to influential men in Congress, but of no avail.

She has now taken up the matter with the Home Service section of the Red Cross here whose business it is to look after the dependents of soldiers and secure their allotments. Cablegrams have been sent to France to be forwarded to the commanding officers of Company M with the hope that matters may be straightened out, and if necessary, duplicate allotment papers be made out.
