"Even in this comparatively new state we find farmers, both young and middle aged, moving to the cities for what they claim to be greater social, educational and economic advantages. This situation is more apparent in some eastern states where good farms, are abandoned and are on the market for abaidoncel and are on the market for less than the buildings cost. "With the coming of good roads and the automobile the social and edu-cational part of our problem will be targely solved if the roads are built account the farming communities with the marketing and ship-ping points, while on the other hand if the eraze for scenic highways and pleasure boulevards continue to absord our available funds, the agricultural conditions will only be aggravated. more entertainment, there is where plantpeople will go, and who can blame them?

"The fault is not all the farmer's for he often gets less for a bumper crop than he does for half a crop, and frequently his produce rots on his hands for want of a market while peohis ple not many miles away are suffer-ing for that very product, or the price ing for that very product, or the price which they are required to pay is so high that they can not afford to hay. "Then, a large part of the fault lies in our system of distribution. A government report shows that when the consumer pays one dollar for farm produce on the average, sixty five cents goes for distribution and thirty five eents to the producer. In other words, it costs nearly twice as much to handle farm produce as the farmer gets for it. "There is no more important serv-ice rendered society by any class of people than that of preducing the ne-cessary food and elothing required for the produce for the state were sold at about that is a good investment for the future of our state and our country and-like below par. for rural credit bonds they decided that the honor and eredit of the state would be impaired if state bonds were sold below par. "But when bids were received as how as 92 cents on the dollar for road bonds, evidently the honor nor credit of the state were not involved, for road bonds were sold at about that price. Good Reads

"This state grange should adopt a resolution requesting that the unex-pended part of the $45,000 appropriat-ied by the inst legislature to advertise the state to tourists, be transferred to the ime board, as it is now generally admitted that the corn erap will be admitted that the corn crop will be more potent in the winning of the war than the tourist crop. Bural Credits grange are prepared to assume the leadership in a crisis like the present. "Every dollar expended and every price. Good Boads During the road bond campaign the farmer was told that it was all in his interest and it would get him out of the mud, but when it came to the app pointment of a highway commission, there was no farmer in the state who could be trusted with the expenditure of the highway funces. A timber bar on, a hanker, and a politician were giv-en the job. Again the taurists' inter-ests scored over the farmer. Good Boads agriculture. But it would be the height of folly to give them a lot of stump or sage brash land and expect them to celear it off and make a living while they are doing it. "Under modern conditions, capital and some machinery are necessary, live stock is essential. The men who have something better than to be turned losse on a piece of brash land. "The men who are able to work will need employment. Extensive road brild
