ASTRONOMICAL TRAINING

or after the eclipse, or preferably both before and after.

The observations to be made would be as follows:

(a) Note the exact time of the appearance and disappearance of the shadow bands.

(b) Measure the width.

(c) Determine their direction by laying sticks on the ground and afterwards determining the direction of the sticks by means of a compass. At Portland the compass needle points about 22 degrees east of north.

(d) Note the direction of the wind.

(e) Note any other phenomena or circumstances which you may think have any relation to the shadow bands.

(f) Note whether or not the shadow bands are seen at the end of totality, and if so make observations similar to the above.

If observers will send the results of their observations to S. D. Towley, Stanford University, California, they will be studied and incorporated in a report to be printed in the publications of the Astronomical Societies of the Pacific.

This society was organized in 1889 as a result of the cooperation between professional and amateur astronomers in observing the total solar eclipse of January 1 of that year, which was seen as total in the northern part of California. The membership of the society is composed largely of amateurs and anyone interested in the subject of astronomy may become a member. The publications of the society are issued six times a year and sent to all members upon the payment of the annual dues. Dr. W. W. Campbell, director of Lick Observatory, is president of the society for the current year. Sample copies of the publications of the society will be sent to anyone interested in astronomy upon application to the secretary, 125 Lick Building, San Francisco.

No one, regardless of enthusiasm should attempt to gaze on the face of the sun during the eclipse Saturday with the naked eye. Such lack of caution is almost sure to induce solar blindness, which may be either of a few days' or months' duration, or of permanent nature. At any rate, eye specialists say it is extremely disagreeable and often dangerous. Gaze at the sun during all periods of the eclipse either thru smoked glass or a used camera film. The phenomena may be seen to more advantage that way than with the naked eye.

We trust that the children enjoyed the circus as much as ever.

Fruitland Items

(Capital Journal Special Service) Fruitland, Or., June 7.—Elmer Sitaber of Vacaville, Calif., a relative of this writer, paid Fruitland a visit Wednesday and Thursday. He has been touring Oregon and Washington for three weeks. He started for home Wednesday afternoon, going by way of Roseburg. The family lived in the Auburn district, east of Salem and went to the Bear state 23 years ago.

A. H. Simpson, Jr., visited in the family of his sister, Mrs. H. C. Bruesler last week. He is engaged in a saw mill in Tillamook county which is getting out ship timber for the government.

The city of St. Louis in Missouri, is noted for booze and some other things. It also contains a reverend Irishman by the Hibernian name of Phelan. He conducts a church periodical in this city of saintly name. He is said to have preached a sermon in his church four years ago in which he said should the United States ever make war upon the church he would say, "to hell with the United States government." Now this wild cleric should be repudiated by the ten thousands of loyal Catholics who honor and would defend their country.

There are several cases of pneumonia here, Miss Ruth Mitchell, Mrs. Standifer, Little Otto Seick and one or two others.

School meeting June 17th at 1 p. m. Two directors are to be elected—one to fill an unexpired term of one year and one for the usual three year term. This is the annual meeting and there should be a full attendance.

Last Tuesday, June 4th, the closing day of the McAlpine school, was a busy one both for the pupils and the teachers. The making of ice cream, fishing and games took up the time till noon. At noon a bountiful picnic dinner was served, consisting of ice cream, cake, sandwiches, pickles, salad, cookies, bananas and soda pop. After dinner races of various kinds were run. The men that were working on the road and in the quarry were treated with ice cream and cake by the Misses Bertha Doerfler, Adeline Priem, Hazel Caspell, Mae Peterson, Mabelle Morley and Faye Caspell. They declared it was the best ice cream they had ever eaten. Late in the afternoon they all departed for home declaring it was the best time they ever had and wished for another to come in the near future.

Don't forget the big Red Cross dance June 8th at Doerfler's barn.

GROWERS ASK 12 CENTS A POUND FOR PRUNES

A movement was inaugurated here last Saturday by local prune growers to secure, if possible, a price of 12 cents per pound for their this year's prune crop. It was recently announced that the season's prices for dried fruit had been held up until July 15. It is having been reported that the probable price for prunes would be fixed by the government at seven cents to the growers, telegrams were sent to Senators Chamberlain and McNary asking them, in justice to the fruit growers, to urge the national food administration to fix the price to the growers at 12 cents per pound for prunes. The Umpqua Valley Fruit Union is taking an active part in this movement, as the growers are laboring under many handicaps this season on account of the great scarcity of help and the unusually high price of labor when it is attainable at all. The growers also protest against the appointment of W. T. Jenks, of Salem, as a state representative of the dried fruit interests of Oregon.—Roseburg Review

It was a busy day for the wireless operators.

Prune Growers Object to Eight Cent Price

(Capital Journal Special Service)

Dallas, June 7.—At a meeting of the prune growers of the Polk County Prune Growers' association, held in the Dallas Commercial club room on Mill street last night, that body went on record as objecting to the proposed action of the food administration in making the basic price of this year's crop of prunes at seven cents per pound. Some time ago the prune buyers from Washington asking them to delay the making of contracts for this year's crop until the first of June later this date was changed to the fifteenth of July and as such the order now stands. An article appearing in the Portland papers last Saturday stated that the food administration intended fixing the price of prunes at seven cents around the prune growers all over the state and several meetings have been held asking the Oregon senators and representatives in congress to use their influence to have the price raised to 12 cents. The growers state that with the present high cost of materials and labor in the orchards the seven cent basis would mean a loss to them in handling the crop. The growers also passed a resolution to forward to fruit growers' organizations all over the state their action in the matter and to ask them to get together and pass similar resolutions and forward them to Washington.

Prominent Polk Hop Grower Passes

Herman Petro, one of Polk county's prominent hop growers passed away at his farm home near Airfie, Tuesday afternoon, after an illness of several years. Mr. Petro was a former resident of this city and served Polk county as county commissioner for one term. Mr. Petro was a native of Tennessee and came to this country a number of years ago and has since made his home here. He leaves to mourn his death his wife and several children, all residing on Alaska to work in a salmon cannery.

Alaska, a short trip only, returning last week. "Too much daylight up there," they say.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Espey Saturday morning, a daughter, Miss Barbara; weight eight pounds.

Mrs. Ryan of Butteville was a Donnell visitor Friday.

Miss Idell Lamb left Friday for Lebanon, to spend some time with her grandmother and aunt.

Jess Johnston, who is in the employ of the West Coast R. R. Co., left Friday for Spokane after making his family an extended visit at this place.

C. Mayes and M. W. Johnson, Donnell merchants, were called to Salem Friday to attend a Retailers' association meeting, to discuss the four questions. The decision then was, to sell 25 pounds of flour to 75 pounds of substitutes, but the government food administration has taken all responsibility out of their hands and Tuesday the notice was received by the merchants to sell no more white flour until further notice.

Mr. Smith, of the Allen & Smith Shipchase Co., is shipping out a carload of kees from both Donald and Butteville this week. Mr. Smith bought Mr. Allen out some time ago.

Mrs. W. J. Dawes and children are visiting at Mrs. Dawes mother's near Molalla, for the week.

A number of carloads of ties, lumber and cord wood are being shipped from Donald each week, which, with an occasional carload of cattle, sheep and hogs, keeps things moving quite lively around the Donald depot.

John Matthew of Donald vicinity is taking an enforced vacation at present, because of a badly mashed hand at the Northwestern Mill Wednesday.

Mrs. Hazel Cone has been engaged to teach the Case school for the next term.

Returns came from the county examination Thursday, of the nineteen taking the examination from the Donald school, all passed but one, six in eighth grade, balance in seventh.

Joe Bixell hauled a load of household goods from the depot for Mr. Dixon of Portland. Mr. Dixon has bought an eight acre tract of land near here and is moving on it to make his home. We hope Mr. and Mrs. Dixon will find a country home all they desire.

Mrs. Sarah Rosenzweig and daughters, Minnie and Francis, and Miss Ruby Johnston of Portland, sisters and nieces of our fellowtownsman, Jess Johnston, came out on Decoration day to spend it with their brother and to visit the Yergenville cemetery, where their parents are buried.

Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Smith, Reisbeck and Losey motored out to Mrs. Flynn's Tuesday afternoon and spent it in cutting out pajamas for the work of the Red Cross Wednesday afternoon. The hostess served delicious refreshments during the time.

John Cone is making daily trips to Salem these days, serving on the jury. A very enjoyable surprise was perpetrated upon the teachers, Misses Grettie and Doty Tuesday evening. About 20 ladies had prepared a sumptuous dinner for them, served in the basement of the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. O. Cone had invited them to her home for the dinner and evening but superseded it in such a way that the young ladies met their friends at the church instead of Mrs. Cone's home.

Last Friday was the last day of the present school term. Instead of having exercises at the school building the three teachers took their pupils out to the woods for a picnic, each room to themselves. All reported the best time possible.

Misses Doty and Grettie spent Monday afternoon and evening as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Singer, near Donald.

Mr. Wes, representative of the True Blue Biscuit Co. of Portland, was seeing the Donald merchants Wednesday. Mr. Wes says "he can take no more orders for all sugar candies," which looks like we are beginning to feel the war scarcity more and more each day.

Mrs. Harry Evans was a Woodburn visitor Saturday.

A little ice cream party was held at the home of Mrs. Mercer Tuesday evening. The following were present, Mrs. A. Aufreue, Mr. and Mrs. Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Elizabeth, Allen and Vernon, Misses Grettie and Doty.

IRRIGATION FOR 1918

For the purpose of trying to make the irrigation service more satisfactory the city will be divided into two districts so that each district will get the full service of the plant upon the day it irrigates.

The plan is to have the houses which bear even numbers on the streets irrigate only on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday, and the houses which bear odd numbers on the streets irrigate only on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. This plan will permit every house to irrigate four days out of each week.

The purpose of the Water company in furnishing water for irrigation is not to furnish all the water a person can run through the hose in the irrigation hours every day, but to furnish enough water to keep the lawn in condition. To use more than enough is a waste. We will pump the usual amount of water and hope to furnish it more satisfactorily.—Salem Water, Light & Power Co. 6-17
