The local exemption board today received a telegram announcing a call for 15 laborers from this district, to enter for Vancouver June 30. The war department would like to have limited service men respond to this call. However, if no volunteers respond, the call for 15 men will be taken from the regular numbers of class 1.

Summer school, the Capital Business college will be in session all summer. A new class in shorthand will be commenced next Monday. Scores of young people who have no definite war work might spend the time profitably in this school. Usable studies. Investigate.

The time for the concert given by the Salem high school chorus at the armory this evening has been changed from 8 to 8:30.

The Marion County Republican Central Committee will meet next Saturday afternoon at the court house for the election of officers. These officers include county chairman, secretary, state committeeman and congressional committeeman. The present officers are chairman, R. E. Robertson, Turzai; secretary, N. D. Elliott, Salem; state committeeman, Frank Davey, Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wright would like to have some corrections made regarding the birth of their son Omega Joseph Wright. The date should have been June 9, and instead of three children now in the family there are now four: Ellsworth, 12; Florence, 7; George 2, and the late arrival Omega Joseph. The statement that he is a candidate for chief of police next fall Mr. Wright says was all right.

The Northwestern Nazarene college at Nampa, Idaho, will be represented at the Nazarene church, 19th and Marion streets tonight at 8 o'clock by the Mission band of the college. There will be singing by a college quartette and good speaking by Miss Winchester, Bible teacher of the school.

The package of smoking tobacco papers and pipe were received today and I was glad to get them as I was just about all out. One has to go about 10 miles to buy tobacco and then you are allowed only a small amount. I am getting along fine. This letter was received today by H. J. Wiedner from Martin Viecko who is in France with Headquarters company, 127th Infantry. The letter was dated May 4. Mr. Viecko is a member of the local lodge of Elks.

Mrs. B. O. Schuckling, secretary of the Red Cross Home Service section is in receipt of a telegram from the registrar of the Red Cross service in Washington, D. C., as follows: "Wire us list of Company M. cases on which inquiries have been filed with us. Cable reports indicate applications about ready for action." Up to date only two allotments of members of Company M have been received but with the above telegram received today and the two allotments already here, the indications are favorable for all allotments arriving here soon.

Boys who would like to make a lot of extra pocket money and at the same time be doing something of real benefit to the community should volunteer for loganberry picking to any of the numerous yards in the vicinity of Salem, or register for work with the Rev. H. N. Aldrich who is directing the Y. M. C. A. work. The government has also opened an employment bureau in the rooms formerly occupied by the Red Cross campaign on State street. If neither of these suit the fancy of the youth who would like to work, there are quite a number of advertisements in the want column of the Capital Journal, many of them calling for loganberry pickers.

The following letter was received by the Rev. Robert S. Gill, manager of the Commercial club from Arthur M. Church, ill state, conservation chairman: "Make clear to those in charge of meeting Mrs. Vernon Kellogg that it is a war mass meeting. Mrs. Kellogg was in Belgium six months with the Belgian Relief Commission and has a first hand story and personal experiences in relief work. She was the only woman with the commission. She will make food savings appeal on basis of her Belgian experiences." Mrs. Kellogg is to speak Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Methodist church. She knows from first hand experience how the shipments were handled from the grower in this country to the destitute in Belgium. Her

COAST PATROL SHIP HAS ONE FIGHT WITH GERMAN SUBMARINE

Secretary Daniels Chary About Making Reports of Sinkings Public

By Carl D. Groat, (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Washington, June 12.—An American coast patrol vessel had one battle from a German U-boat rider. From an unquestionable source today came this fact, together with the fact that the navy has had a mass of reports from patrol commanders. None of these has been made public. Secretary Daniels has taken the position that only absolutely authenticated cases of sinking or capture will be announced. But the United Press is in position to announce that one of the many reports indicates beyond a doubt that a patrol vessel fired on a submarine and dropped depth bombs about her. The effect can only be conjectured. A second case, not quite so clear cut, yet believed by some officials to be authentic, is also on record. Neither of the above mentioned incidents includes the case in which a United States destroyer interrupted a U-boat in its attempt to sink the Radioline. Both the cases cited occurred since then, but have been kept secret up to today. Many naval districts reports have come in since the raiders first appeared, but the navy has persistently denied that it had information concerning the submarine situation other than what it announced. This was illustrated a few days ago when the department had news of the Vinland sinking all day, denied it and only announced the sinking at night after the crew had landed. Among the strange occurrences noted by the patrol reports was that of a hydroplane, which dropped depth bombs on a supposed submarine. (Submarines can be seen a considerable distance below the water by a hydroplane.) Later, however, it developed that the supposed U-boat target was a whale. THINK THREE DESTROYED. An Atlantic Port, June 12.—It is generally reported and believed in naval circles here that three German U-boats have been destroyed off the American coast since Sunday. One story tells of an American battleship firing a broadside into one of the undersea scavengers. MRS. PITTOCK DEAD. Portland, Or., June 12.—Mrs. H. L. Pittock, wife of the publisher of the Portland Oregonian, died at her home here today. She was over 70 years old. PERSONAL. B. F. Arno of Seattle is in the city for a short visit. He is assistant director of bureau of Civilian relief of Seattle and is here in the interest of the work.

Some Mill Conditions Are Unbelievable The reports made by the conservation inspectors visiting Marion county have been compiled and a copy of these will be sent to the state council of defense and the war risk bureau at Washington. These inspectors visited Aurora, Hubbard, Monitor, Mt. Angel, Silverton, Pratum, Stayton, Turner, Jefferson and Salem, where they inspected all buildings containing food supplies or materials used or can be used by the government. In Salem they inspected thirty three places where recommendations were made to lessen the fire hazard and improve the fire fighting facilities and all recommended more precaution as to prohibiting strangers to enter or loiter in or about the premises. In several towns near Salem they reported the conditions in several flour mills almost unbelievable, which have been reported to the federal authorities; also the lack of interest taken by several owners in protecting what food supplies they have in the building. For the state at large more than 1100 reports have been filed and these will be assembled by Insurance Commissioner Wells. W. H. Coats and daughter of Eugene are registered at the Bligh. Walter F. Pratt of Springfield, Ore. was a city visitor yesterday. J. E. Gals of Eugene was in Salem Tuesday. C. W. A. Jette and family registered yesterday at the Bligh. W. K.
