Frank Durbin has received letters from his son in France, giving much insight into conditions at the French front. What pleases him most is that he is now getting the Daily Capital Journal regularly, after a long delay. He says that it is read until literally worn out. Company M boys, he states, are pretty badly scattered at the time the letter was written.

R. C. Barfield, chief wireman of the telephone company, left his motorcycle in a tent in his yard last evening at his home 425 South 23d street. Two boys from the Oregon State training school struck out for other quarters last evening about 6 o'clock. At 6 o'clock this morning a stray motorcycle was found at Mill and Turner street. The two boys who skipped have not as yet been located.

Chas. J. Williamson who had charge of the military training of the high school cadets the past year, has accepted a position as commandant of cadets of the Stockton, California, high school and will begin his duties September 16. Before taking up the new work, the government requires him to spend six weeks in intensive training at the Presidio, from July 4 until August 17. At Stockton, Mr. Williamson will have the military training of 500 students. He has been with the Salem high school two and a half years, coming direct from the O. A. C.

Salem now has a genuine labor bureau as the Department of Labor, U. S. Employment bureau has established an office, in the store room formerly occupied by the Red Cross on State street. Those needing laborers are privileged to call at the bureau and make known their wants and those who are looking for work are asked to do the same. The bureau is in charge of Charles E. Curtin. Word has come from Eugene that six University of Oregon girls plan to walk from Eugene to Portland following the commencement exercises of Monday, June 17. The girls are all members of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. The first afternoon of the hike they expect to reach Junction City and that of course would bring them into Salem about Wednesday or Thursday of next week. Mrs. Emma Wootten Hall a prominent senior and secretary of the Associated Students will chaperone the party.

Tonight at the First Methodist church Mrs. Charlotte Kellogg will deliver her address, telling of her experiences as a member of the commission for the Relief of Belgium. She worked with this commission for six months as the only woman member and is thus able to tell her audiences first hand what really happened during those dreadful days in Belgium. She will tell of seeing from day to day silent men and black shawled women, pitchers in hand waiting for their daily pint of soup. Mrs. Kellogg speaks but twice in Oregon, leaving tomorrow for Portland.

A telegram was received last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Martin of 1145 Saginaw street, with the sad news that their son Joseph A. Martin had died at a naval hospital near Boston, Mass. The date of his death was given as June 13 1918, and the cause of death pneumonia. Arrangements will be made for bringing the body to Salem for burial. Joseph Arthur Martin was a graduate of the Salem high school in 1914 and enlisted in the navy March 13, 1916. The greater part of his sea service was on the battleship St. Louis, having made 11 trips across the water. He was in the service of the navy as 3d class electrician.

Company H, Oregon Guard of Silverton was officially visited last evening by Lieutenant Colonel A. T. Woolpert, Major A. A. Hall, Lieutenant M. L. Meyers, Lieutenant E. H. Choate and Sergeant R. O. Kumaw. The company lined up 85 men for the evening's drill and inspection. The Salem officers returned greatly pleased with the general military appearance of the company and the good work its members did in the thorough drill given. Another thing of interest noted by the Salem officers was the general interest taken by the citizens of Silverton in its Company H. As one member remarked, when Company H comes out to drill, about half the town of Silverton comes along with it just as a matter of interest and encouragement.

W. E. Slater, formerly secretary of the local Elks' lodge writes from Camp Lewis that he is in Company C, 166th Department; Brigade and that he is now acting corporal. He has been recommended for transfer to the Signal corps and hopes to soon go to France with the 91st division. He writes that Uncle Sam is taking fine care of his soldiers, and that the cats are all that one could ask.

W. S. Hale, formerly superintendent of the state training school for boys is now in the Y. M. C. A. work at the Peninsula Shipyard in Portland. Mr. Hale severed his connections with the state training school not only for the benefit of his son's health but also from the fact that efforts were made by certain politicians during the last session of the legislature to interfere with his work at the institution and ordering a special investigating committee. The investigating committee investigated and found everything in most satisfactory condition but it seems that Mr. Hale did not appreciate the idea of politicians casting a longing look at the institution about every session of the legislature.

George W. Watt, for many years a resident of Salem engaged in the real estate business is now employed in the Willamette Iron & Steel works in Portland in the pipe fitting department.

George S. Stewart recently of Salem is now employed at the Columbia River shipyard in the pipe fitters department. The program of the flag exercises of the Elks' lodge to be held Friday evening at 7:45 at Willson Park will include an oration by Walter L. Toome and a tribute to the flag by B. W. Macy. John H. Carson will deliver an address on the history of the flag and Miss Ada Miller will sing. The Cherrian band will make its first appearance of the season marching with the Elks from the lodge and playing several selections at Willson park.

The Salem high school chorus really deserved a larger attendance than came out last evening for its second annual chorus at the armory. The singing was most acceptable in the chorus work and the singing of the soloists demonstrated that the school has developed

PERSONAL

W. B. Craig of Ellensburg, Washington, is registered at the Bligh.

E. Cooke Patton left this morning for Portland where he will join a fishing party bound for Mt. St. Helens.

Miss Hortense Harrell of Spokane who has been spending the winter with her aunt Mrs. H. H. Vandervort and attending Willamette University returned to her home today.

several voices of unusual quality. Although not large in number, the audience was very appreciative and demanded encores especially from the soloists.

Fred W. Stensloff stated this morning that he had received no instruction from the state food administration regarding a limit placed on the sale of sugar as low as two pounds to each purchaser. The state food administration under W. B. Ayers of Portland may limit purchases in that city but until official orders are received here the county food administrator will issue no orders other than those that have been in effect with the limit of a $1 purchase except for canning purposes.

Two mothers and two daughters from San Diego arrived in the city late Wednesday evening and registered at the Bligh hotel. They arrived in a high grade Oldsmobile car and were on a tour of the northwest heading for Seattle. They left San Diego last Saturday morning and came through to Salem without even spending a cent for repairs. In the party were Mrs. A. F. Mesick, Miss C. C. Mesick, Mrs. S. W. Tuloch and Miss H. M. Tuloch.

Leland J. Knox, teacher in the commercial department of the high school and instructor in the theoretical department of the military education of the high school cadets will spend the summer on his father's farm near Fossil, Wheeler county. This winter he expects to teach in southern California near Los Angeles.

An universal combination gas range is now being demonstrated by E. L. Stiff & Son, and those who are interested in something new in the way of a range are invited to call at the Skiff store on Court street and partake of some of the cooking and to also note what the Universal Combination gas range really can do in the way of making life pleasant for the housekeeper.

Word was received today of the death by drowning of Luke Melvin Dimick in the Pudding river near Hubbard. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dimick of Hubbard. The young man was 26 years old. It seems that with a friend he was bathing in the Pudding river. Young Dimick got beyond his depth and as he could not swim, called for help. His companion also was unable to swim but attempted to save him. The funeral services were held today at Hubbard.

J. E. Adams, navy recruiting officer went to Albany to secure the enlistment of Roland G. Allen, whose home is at Tangent.

Tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 o'clock the Civic and Agricultural departments will meet at the Commercial club to select directors for the coming year. Successors will be elected to each department to succeed Dr. B. L. Steeves of the Civic, and L. J. Chapin of the Agricultural department.

Fine weather in which to get all 'hot up' about next winter's fuel supply, isn't it?
