The Salem police station is looking forward to some active work between June 17 and June 26, as it is between these dates that all German alien women above the age of 14 years living in Salem are required to register. As it is probable that many who register do not speak the English language, it is understood that a number of teachers in the public schools who speak German will volunteer for service from time to time. The men around the police station speak but one language.

DIED

PROST.—At the Willamette Sanatorium June 13, 1918, Mrs. A. Frost, at the age of 36 years.

She is survived by her husband and three children, Virgil, 12 years old, Georgia, 14 and Irene, 9 years old. The family lives about five miles southwest of Salem, coming to this community from Oklahoma about one year ago. The funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the chapel of Webb & Clough and will be conducted by the Rev. George F. Holt. Burial will be in the City View cemetery.

Herbert Hoover, Washington, D. C.: Following Mrs. Kellogg's address, Salem, Oregon, mass meeting at the First Methodist church by unanimous vote instructs me to wire you that Salem public will back our well remembered Bert Hoover to the extreme limit in seeing that the stream of ships to Rotterdam is kept going. Count on us."

Evangelist Brown of Portland on "The End of All Things is at Hand." Free lecture Moose hall, June 16th, 2:30 p. m. 6-15

Don't forget the big dance at Macleay Saturday night.

There still seems to be something of a mixup in the gasoline situation. Yesterday the Shell people were selling at 24 cents according to orders, while the other two had not been notified to advance. The situation holds the same today in Portland, two of the companies have advanced two cents a gallon while one is holding at the old price. But the impression here is that within a few days all will line up on the advanced price.

Trunks, bags and suit cases at bargain day prices at Hamilton's Furniture store.

Tonight 147 graduates of the Salem high school will make their bow to the public and say good-bye to public school days. The exercises will be held at the armory and will begin about 8 o'clock. The public will have the pleasure of seeing the largest graduating class in the history of the Salem public schools. The exercises are of course open to the public but seats in the center of the auditorium have been reserved for relatives and friends of the graduates, according to the custom of past years.

A special mechanical short course has been offered by the government for those especially adapted to the work. The following will leave tomorrow for Portland to take up this course before being assigned duty in active service: Benjamin Faught, Howard Baker, Lewis

PERSONAL

Mrs. J. M. Garrison and Miss Mildred Garrison will leave in the morning for their summer home at Newport.

L. E. McCord of Maupin, Oregon, registered today at the Bligh.

H. S. Johnson of Seio was in the city yesterday.

W. F. Wall was in the city yesterday from Jefferson.

C. O. Constable is in Corvallis visiting his daughter Mrs. Richard Harbert.

Joseph Morris is in the city visiting B. W. Maey. He is on the way to Vancouver where he has extensive business interests.

Miss Lottie Lee Penn left this morning for Tacoma.

Bayard Findley, son of Dr. M. C. Findley is in the city a few days from Astoria.

H. Siddall, Clyde J. Boyce, Raymond G. Larsen, Evry H. Kennedy, Earl R. Van Nuy, Paul F. Grouke, Merrill D. Richmond, Homer D. Foster and James H. Humphreys. The alternate is William J. Holmes.

At the meeting of the trustees of Willamette University held this week, Dr. Doney was instructed to proceed to Washington D. C., as soon as he reached this country on his way home from France and take up with the military authorities the problem of proper military instruction for university students next fall. Also arrange for equipment and uniforms. The war department recently indicated its willingness to assist high schools and universities in the training and equipment of students.

Pig Club Members Enjoyed Circus Yesterday

The United States National Bank was a busy place for a short time directly afternooon yesterday. Responding to the Bank's invitation to attend the circus at its expense, 135 bright eyed wide awake boys and girls belonging to the bank's pig club were on hand at the bank and not a one tardy. They filled the bank and overflowed onto the street filling the sidewalk on the State street side. Owing to being called to Portland Mr. George Eyre who was billed to chaperone the club had to turn the job over to another, that other being D. W. Eyre, president of the bank. With a special car chartered for them he got their clearance papers and sailed out of port at shortly after 1 o'clock, and from that time until he arrived back at the bank corner with his little friends he was as busy as a one armed man with the itch. The guests were treated to ice cream, had reserved seats under the big tent, fed the elephants peanuts and made "Dave" realize the responsibilities of having a large family on his hands. However he enjoyed it almost as much as the smaller folks and that is saying much, for it will always be a red letter day, to them, one marked with a white stone.

Carrie and Ernest who arrived in Salem a few days ago from Corvallis were thoughtful enough to write a postal card to the home folks but they forgot to address the card. Hence the folks will not know that the travelers went to the college and took a trip about the state capital building, that is, unless the next postal happens to be addressed. The "nixie" man at the postoffice who is a Pinkerton and Burns combined when it comes to sending letters to their right destination, is really up against it when there is no address and the writers just sign themselves "Carrie and Ernest."
