Fruitland News

(Capital Journal Special Service)
Fruitland, June 14.—Keep the cultivator and just mulch going these days.

Two of the small children of Mrs. Annie Girod have been quite ill with pneumonia, but are now better.

I do not recollect ever having seen the foliage thicker and looking more healthy on the fruit trees than now. The leaves being the lungs of the lungs of the trees show a high grade of vitality.

I understand that Vic Kerscher of the Bethel district, having his growing crop of hay about ruined by aphid, is about deciding to sell off some of his stock on account of fodder shortage. With hay at $25 now and later on at perhaps $40 or more a ton, and butter and butter fat at present prices, old bossy is liable to prove a boarder.

A neighbor tells me that a few days ago at Salem they purchased 45 pounds of flour which cost $14.25. The flour was $2.80 and the $11.45 went for "substitutes." Now don't that jar you, fellow consumer? Where are our food commissioners? Are they supposed to know about such conditions or are they siding in with the private gang of food profiteers?

Fruitland Red Cross will be reorganized early in July. Work will be planned at a called meeting and it is hoped a new energy will characterize our auxiliary.

Hay is rapidly going into the mow-

Musical Comedy Company at Bligh

The Bligh last night featured the J. Y. Lewis Musical Comedy Co. in "Uncle Seth at the Races." The hit of the show was easily J. Y. Lewis as Uncle Seth the rube. He was ably assisted by his brother Al Lewis, who is one of the youngest and best comedians on the Pacific coast, and a chorus of really pretty girls who can sing, dance and are well costumed.

The musical numbers were "peppy" and well sung.

Lewis himself is surely a hit as the rube and took several bows before the audience would let him go.

The show for tonight will be Murray and Mack's Irish comedy, "O'Brien's Night Out." The press agent promises that the songs will be as musical, the girls as pretty, and the costumes prettier than last night.

The feature of tonight's bill will be a burlesque baseball game that has been "stopping the show" all along the coast from Los Angeles. There will be a matinee this afternoon and two shows tonight.

Citizens of Neutral Countries To Be Exempted

Washington, June 14.—Immediate amendment of the draft laws specifically exempting citizens of neutral countries is necessary Senate leaders announced today. They disclosed the fact that a serious situation has arisen over the drafting of neutrals.

The war department has construed the draft law to mean that unless a neutral claims exemption when he registers he is not exempt afterwards.

Many neutrals have been drafted and some have been killed. In some cases they protested vigorously after they had been called into the service. Some of these protests have found their way to their home governments. The result has been contention between this government and certain neutrals, particularly Sweden. Preparation of an amendment is in progress. It may be a rider to the army appropriation bill.

Henry Ford Will Run As Senate Candidate

Detroit, Mich. June 14.—Henry Ford's announcement for the United States senatorship in Washington last night came as a big surprise to his associates here. While politicians have been after Ford for some weeks past to get into the race, it was thought he would continue to remain away from politics.

Ford's decision was the result of the action of the democratic state conference in Lansing Wednesday in extending his name to the republicans as a candidate upon whom to combine. Judge W. F. Connolly, who headed the movement, had just returned from Washington and it is believed it was made at the request of government leaders.

While republicans have taken no action on the democratic offer, Ford is regarded as a sure winner.

State House News

Director of Railroads McAdoo has issued a supplemental order modifying the arbitrary 25 per cent increase in freight rates. It makes conditions for some things such as lumber and fruit better, but is so long, so classified and in such shape that it requires close study to get any kind of an idea of what it means. The commission may be able to get it sorted out in time, as the average man can understand it by just now it is like giving a Greek manuscript to a Digger Indian to pass it over to a layman for interpretation.

The Boise commission is making a vigorous kick against the freight ratings, bringing up the old, old question of terminal rates being lower than those along the line. For instance it points out that the rate on wool from Portland to Boston is $1.00 a hundred while from Boise to Boston, a 500 mile shorter haul, the rate is $1.71 and with the 25 per cent added $2.14. At the same time the addition to the dollar rate makes the new rate but $1.25. It increases the lower rate 25 cents and the higher rate 33 cents.

The end of the fiscal year being near accounts for the number of incorporations filing notice of dissolution. By doing so they avoid paying a year's license fee. Today one incorporation filed, one increased its capital stock and two filed notice of dissolution. The filings were as follows:

Sulphur Springs Cheese Factory, of Dolph, Tillamook county, capital stock $1,000 and object to manufacture, and deal in cheese, butter and all dairy products.

Lovell Auto Company, of Astoria, increased its capital stock from $25,000 to $75,000.

North Portland Box Company filed notice of dissolution.

Friedman's Market of Portland, filed notice of dissolution.

Assistant State Engineer C. E. Strickland, who has been in Tygh valley for several months surveying is now in the office here finishing up his report on work done at Hood River.

Court House News

In the suit of Isabella May Hardenbrook against Byron LeRoy Hardenbrook the sheriff of Klamath County returns the execution issued in the case, his return showing no property belonging to defendant was found in that county.

A marriage license was issued Wednesday afternoon to Michael Amos Galow and Mabel Watson, both of Salem and this morning permission to wed was given Otto Theodore Bentler of Macleay, and Hulda A. Larson of Salem.
