Close to 10 per cent of the cost of the war is the sale of the thrift stamps also are sold to children and young people while a considerable additional percentage is sold by them to their parents and friends.

now being met by the sale of these the It thus will be seen that the ever increases. By the latter part of the present year it is believed this will be increased to 20%, or one-fifth of the vast sum of $1,000,000,000 a month that the war is costing to a Thi month that the war is costing us. This will compare with the 20% of Great Britain's war expense that are entirely in saving money. Wise economy has a solidifying effect on the character. The exercise of will-power needed in the practice of saving has a tremendous moral and Great Britain's war expense that are contoiny has a solutifying effect on defrayed through the sale of similar stamps in England. Both in the United States and England the sale of war savings stamps was slow at first due no doubt to the fact that the people were not familiar with them. In fact the people of these two great nations were rather un-familiar with any form of applied thrift.

Thrift is like a lusty plant which, thrift. The stamps now have been on sale in this country about 20 weeks and the percentage of war expenses being borne by them has been steadily in-creasing and no doubt will continue the percentage of war expenses being borne by them has been steadily in-consequential, the growth eventually will assume most gratifying and imso to do. portant proportions,
