RECLASSIFYING OF REGISTRANT WORK OF ADVISORY BOARD

Members of Districts 1 and 2
For Marion County Now
In Session

The legal advisory board of Marion county for Divisions 1 and 2 is in session today and will continue in session the remainder of the week. The chairman is John H. McNary and secretary, Billie K. Page.

The board will devote its entire time to the re-examination of all questionnaires with the view to re-classification according to the new rules and regulations recently issued by the federal government.

In this work, Class 1 will not come before the board as the names to be considered are those only in Class 2, 3, 4 and 5. The purpose of the re-classification is to correct errors that have crept in at the first classification.

The advisory board has full power and authority to secure additional evidence by subpoena or otherwise in order to enable it to make its rulings. Notice will be mailed to registrants of any change in their classification. The right of appeal that he formerly had is possessed in this new classification.

No one is to call on the board during its sessions this week. If any one is wanted for any purpose, notice will be sent to appear. Acting with the chairman and secretary are all of the leading lawyers of the city and county.

It is understood that many men will come up before the board for re-classification whose wives have independent means of their own, or who are so situated that the calling to service of their husbands would work no hardship. At the rate the call is coming now, within three months Class 1 will be exhausted.

At the meeting this afternoon a number of committees were appointed with three in each committee to report to the board all cases that should be considered for re-classification.

The provost general has notified the board that in the first classification, many men were put in class 2 and 4 that should have been in Class 1. It is to consider especially these cases that the board will meet every day this week and consider cases that are recommended by the various committees.

The appointments of committees of three each are as follows:

Major A. A. Hall, Judge Turner and W. M. Trindle.

M. E. Fugate, P. J. Knuts and Glen E. Unruh.

Guy O. Smith, B. W. Macy and Frank Durbin.

A. O. Condit, S. T. Richardson and J. W. Todd.

M. E. Pogue, Ivan G. Martin and Elmo S. White.

John Hayne, Carey F. Martin and Merritt Davis.

T. K. Ford, Allice H. Paige and James G. Helzel.

Don W. Miles, Walter E. Keyes and Thomas Brown.

John H. McNary, C. M. Inman and Grant Corby.

Judge Geo. H. Burnett, Judge George G. Bingham and Judge Bushby.

J. O. Bailey, J. A. Benjamin and Ed Gillingham.

Arthur Benson, W. A. Wiest and I. H. Van Winkle.

Mark McAllister, J. A. Mills and John J. Roberts.

BANKER A.L. MILLS AND JUDGE LOWELL

Hundreds of Workers Attend
Mass Meeting at Armory
Yesterday Afternoon

At the mass meeting held Sunday afternoon in the armory instructions were given the hundreds of workers who were out today securing pledges for the War Savings stamps, of which Salem is asked to subscribe $250,000 as its quota. These same workers will continue until the quota asked of Salem has been pledged.

A. L. Mills, president of the First National Bank of Portland, delivered a stirring patriotic address and was given an ovation when at the conclusion he declared that "we must carry on this war until in Berlin we can hear the tune of marching feet and along with the allies will be born our own American flag."

Mr. Mills was not timid in expressing his opinion of those who failed to buy War Savings Stamps, calling them cowards and traitors to our country. He also struck a regular cord when he declared that this must be a nation of one flag and one language and that any one hereafter who was not 100 per cent American, must get out of the country.

The greatest danger, Mr. Mills thought, was not that we would not win the war, but that our leaders would accept a peace that would leave the work unfinished, one that would leave in existence a nation that had tried to strangle the liberties of the world.

"A gentle reprimand or a 30 day jail sentence is not enough for the I. W. W. traitors," declared Mr. Mills. "In Germany, you can imagine what would happen to traitors. We are too lenient. But wait until the golden state multiply in the windows of our homes and then we will realize the necessity of dealing with the I. W. W. even if it leads to the noose or the firing squad."

Judge Stephen A. Lowell of Pendleton stated, referring to the War Savings Stamps campaign for government funds, that the government was going to have the money and that a United States bond was a mighty sight better than a tax receipt.

After a year's work in Liberty Loan and Red Cross campaigns Judge Lowell said that he felt safe in saying that nine-tenths of those who refuse to aid the government were Americans but that they were American hogs. The judge put it very plainly that those who were not for the government in the War Savings Stamps campaign, was against the government and that there was no neutral ground.

As to what might happen should things not go right in Europe, Judge Lowell said: "If this war fails, you are not only your money but also the loss of your property and your liberty. I want to see this war go on until the Huns are punished not as soldiers but as common criminals."

"I feel that the war will last five years and I fear the time may come when at the threshold of our doors, we will have a realization of this war. However, the war must progress until the stars and stripes shall cross the Rhine and our oldiers shall bivouac at the portals of Berlin."

Wiedmer, secretary of the Elks' lodge as follows: "I am getting along very nicely in the school at North Island. The only thing I can kick about is our clothes, and that is on account of the lack of pockets. We carry all our possessions in our socks and it would sure tickle you to see a bunch of Yanks going down the street pulling cigarettes fountain pens, matches and combs out of their socks."

A drugstore drunk Saturday evening in which half a dozen bottles of "bitters" played an important part, cost two men from Fruitland $25 each when they appeared before the city recorder this morning. It seems that the men, Al Graham and J. E. Smith had imbibed so deeply of bitters that they were inclined to resist the officer who asked them to spend the night in the city cooler. As Recorder Race stated it when the case came up for trial this morning, getting drunk on bitters is one thing, but resisting an officer is

One Million Tons New American Ships

Washington, June 24.—The United States will pass the first 1,000,000 ton mark for 1918 in cargo ship construction by the end of this month, according to an official statement by the shipping board today.

Production for the third week of June was five steel vessels totalling 37,830 deadweight tons, bringing the year's total to date to 924,000 deadweight tons.

Meantime, Japan's contribution in new and chartered shipping is arriving. The 9,000 ton Eastern Sun, the first of 45 steel vessels building in that country for the shipping board, has arrived, and 22 of 23 chartered Japanese steel ships totalling 145,000 tons, have also been delivered.

Dr. W. D. Carlisle who is in the Y.M.C.A. service in France and who was recently decorated for bravery, really enlisted in the service from Salem, although the Portland papers regard him as a Portland man. After their return from Petrograd where Dr. Carlisle had practiced as a dentist for several years Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle were living in the Court apartments when he made application for service in several branches of the army. It was Chauncey Bishop that first suggested that Dr. Carlisle enter the service through the Y.M.C.A. and O. B. Glingrich who brought his application before the Portland officials. He of course appeared before the Portland personnel Y.M.C.A. board before being accepted. On account of his knowledge of the Russian language, his work on the front line in France was with the Russians and it was for his bravery with them that he was decorated.

Quinby in school district No. 134 is the first out of town district to report that it had gone "over the top" with plenty to spare in the War Savings Stamp campaign. The allotment for the Quinby district was $5,000, but the workers showed such energy and there was such a willingness to subscribe that by noon the quota had been reached and left so far behind that the exact figures were not available.

To Members of Sedgwick Post No. 10.—And all Civil war veterans, you are hereby solicited to turn out and act as escort to the 55 selected recruit for the U. To obtain these buttons, it will be necessary that the secretary of each meeting send in the names to W. M. Smith, Salem. He will forward the names to Washington and later the buttons will be mailed direct to members.

The Webb cherry orchard, two miles west of Salem on the Oak Grove road is one of the many orchards badly in need of pickers. This orchard includes 34 acres and unless help is given, fully one half of the crop will be lost. They are paying two cents a pound and besides that, are willing to carry pickers from Salem each morning out to the work and return them in the evening. As this seems to be an urgent case, those interested should telephone 58F21.

"Lone Maple" prime orchard of 128 acres in the Rosedale section, one of the best known prime tracts in the county, was bought by C.A. Clarke and W.L. Cummings, Saturday from C. O. Constable, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Babcock and August Hueckstein, for a consideration of $38,000. The terms of the sale provide that $5,000 should be paid in cash and that 90 per cent of all money received for the 1918 prune crop be applied on the purchase price. Also that 60 per cent of the gross receipts from the prune crop of 1919 be applied on the purchase price, and that each year afterwards, 60 per cent of the gross amount received from the prune crop be applied on the purchase price until the full amount due is paid. The new owners will be given possession at once. It is understood the prospects for a crop this year are most favorable.

The First Methodist church in its Sunday bulletin of yesterday has the following: "If those who have time evenings and have autos, would report to Mr. Gill of the Commercial club, you could be connected with farm work where your services would be greatly appreciated. Sunday work will be unnecessary if the long evenings are properly planned for. Let every one be helpful in these times."

One of the big numbers of the Chautauqua to be held here the week beginning July 21 is the Thaviv's Exposition band and grand opera singers. It includes 30 selected musicians from the great musical organization which opened and closed the San Francisco exposition. Of the 16 bands which entertained the great crowds at the exposition, Thaviv's was the only one requested for a return engagement. The band is not only the largest that has appeared with a Chautauqua in the west, but is in many regards, musically speaking, the best.

STATE LIME BOARD NOW WITHOUT FUNDS

Meeting Is Called For Tomorrow to Discuss Ways and Means

"Our money is all gone; what shall we do next?" That is the question which still confronts the state lime board. An effort will be made to find the answer at a meeting of the board, called by President A. B. Cordley for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Corvallis.

President Cordley has informed Warden Murphy of the state penitentiary, who is an ex-officio member of the board, that he has a plan for financing the completion of the lime plant at Gold Hill, but Warden Murphy does not know yet what the plan is.

If the plan calls for the individual members of the board using their credit to borrow money to complete the plant, Warden Murphy said he for one would oppose it.

"I have notified them that I will not be responsible personally for anything," said the warden today. "I am serving the state in an official capacity in addition to my membership on the lime board and I do not consider it advisable to raise money by borrowing. This is state business, and if the lime board cannot carry its own weight, it must fall, that's all."

The last legislature gave the lime board $20,000 to spend in acquiring lime and manufacturing it for agricultural use. The board has spent the appropriation and the plant is not completed, because of the high cost of everything. The governor called a meeting of the emergency board to consider a request for more funds, but a quorum was not present.

Then a committee of the lime board was sent to Gold Hill with authority to decide what to do with the unfinished plant, but evidently the matter was not settled, and now President Cordley will present his plan at the meeting called for tomorrow.
