AGED WOMEN LOSES IN SUPREME COURT

Mrs. Stabler, Defrauded by Lawyer, Gets Serious Cut Cut In Judgment

By an opinion handed down today by the supreme court Mrs. Matilda S. Stabler, a widow 65 years old, lost nearly one half of the amount of the judgment which had been awarded her in the circuit court for Multnomah county against F. E. Melvin, an attorney, who is charged with having defrauded the old woman in connection with two real estate deals.

The case was tried before a jury in Circuit Judge McGinn's court and a verdict for $1411.69 was returned in favor of Mrs. Stabler. The supreme court, in an opinion written by Justice Johns, modifies this judgment by deducting $650, which is the amount of a promissory note Melvin induced Mrs. Stabler to give him but which she has not been required to pay. Melvin disposed of the note to a third party.

Mrs. Stabler owned two city lots in Portland, which were mortgaged. Melvin agreed to trade the lots for unencumbered property. He arranged a deal with Bruce Wolverson, who was willing to trade 45 acres of land in Washington. Melvin represented to the widow that in order to make the deal it would be necessary for her to take two lots he said he owned in the San Juan Hunting and Fishing club grounds. He had her give him a note for $750 for the lots and his attorney's fees.

It developed, according to the evidence, that the lots conveyed by Melvin were fictitious and the woman had been defrauded. Later he negotiated another deal with Mrs. Stabler and induced her to give him a note for $650, which he sold and assigned to a third party. But as this note has not been paid by her, the supreme court deducts it from the amount of the judgment.

The supreme court reversed Circuit Judge Gantenbein's decision in Multnomah county in the case of J. W. Dryden vs. Will H. Daly, an commissioner of public utilities of the city of Portland, and others, appellants, and ordered dismissed a writ of mandamus which had been issued against the defendants. The suit involved the procedure of Commissioner Daly and the heads of the Portland city water department under civil service rules.

In the case of the First National bank of Albany, appellant vs. John Macneil, the supreme court affirms the decision of Circuit Judge Kelly. This was a suit to collect on a promissory note. The opinion was per curiam.

Action on Motions
A rehearing on the motion to dismiss the appeal in the Chewaucan river adjudication case was granted today by the supreme court. The litigation over the water rights in the Chewaucan river has been of more than usual interest because involved is the question of whether the Portland Irrigation company is to be granted enough water to complete the Paisley irrigation project, in Lake county.

The state water board adjudicated the water rights and found that the irrigation company was entitled to enough water for the project, but the Chewaucan Land & Cattle company, which has immense land holdings in that part of the state, appealed to the circuit court and Judge Bernard Daly reversed the water board and gave the cattle company such a large amount of water that the irrigation company was squeezed out.

Appeal was then made by the Portland Irrigation company to the supreme court. The cattle company filed a motion to dismiss this appeal on the grounds that all the interested parties had not been served with notices of appeal. The court ordered the appeal dismissed, but on the petition of the irrigation company today granted a rehearing on the motion.

A rehearing was granted in the case of Malloy vs. Marshall Wells Hardware company and Rowe vs. Freeman. Rehearings were denied in Frederick vs. Sherman, Davidson vs. Madden and Wagoner, et al, vs. City of LaGrande.

In the case of Myrtle Goebel against Frank Goebel for support of their minor child, the circuit court decreed that he should pay $15 a month for the support of the child. Goebel is working in Portland in a ship yard.

In the matter of the guardianship of three minor children, Nellie, Cecil and Leona Strohaker, the court ordered them to appear with Nellie Miller, their next of kin and others interested to show why the guardian, Fred Uphoff, should not sell about eight acres in section 21, township 6 south of range 1, west. The date set for their appearance is July 8.

A license to marry was issued June 24 to Gerald Patrick Connor, 21, of St. Paul and Miss Maria Beatrice Kirk, 20, of St. Paul. Both were born at St. Paul. They will be married tomorrow.

S. H. Van Arump, county fruit inspector is home from a general tour of the county. He says that in the uplands the prunes are needing, rain badly but that with cool weather they will pull through all right. In the low lands the prune crop is looking fine and will make a good crop under any conditions.

SALEM HOME COMING WILL BE GREAT EVENT

Many Old-Time Residents of City Send Word They Are Coming Saturday

The homecoming for the old timers and for natives of Oregon to be celebrated in Salem next Saturday is assuming large proportions and from the invitations sent out the day will be one when the old timers from all parts of the state will meet to talk over the days of 50 years ago or more. At the meeting held last evening, Justice George H. Burnett was elected chairman in charge of the arrangements for the day.

The program includes special reception committees to meet the visitors and a dinner in Wilson park, besides automobile rides about the city. Former Governor T. T. Geer has accepted the invitation to speak and other old timers will be called on for short talks. Mrs. G. W. Bell of Spokane, has written that she will attend and sing several of the songs most loved by the Oregon pioneers. Mrs. Hallie Parrish Durall will also sing, and Miss Beatrice Shelton will furnish instrumental music.

Word has been received by the committee from former Salinites from all parts of the Pacific northwest that they will be here, many being expected from as far away as Spokane and Seattle.

Large Crowd is Expected
Efforts will be made to arrange for a special train from Portland so that the visitors may arrive here in a body. Members of the committee declare that every returning Salinito will be accorded a hearty reception upon his arrival here, and the members hope to make the welcome a rousing one to all of the "home-comers."

Because of the many hundreds of former residents of this city scattered about the Pacific northwest, it was deemed impracticable to send out personal invitations, and the committee is depending largely upon the press to notify former residents of the city of the good time in store for them next Saturday, and urge upon them that the notice through the press may be considered as a personal invitation to come.

State House News

The Gardiner Boom company has filed with the public service commission its schedule of rates for booming or catching, sorting, rafting, storing logs and timber products in Smith river and Mill creek in Douglas county. This is the first company which has been granted a log boom franchise to file its schedule of rates with the commission.

Insurance Commissioner Harvey Wells, who was elected commander of the Spanish-American War Veterans at the state encampment held in Portland last week, has appointed Lester B. Davis adjutant and Robert E. Kurok assistant quartermaster general. Both are Salem men.

Statistical information for the 15th annual report of Labor Commission O. P. Hoff is now being compiled. Professor J. O. Hall, who recently signed his position in the faculty Willamette university to go to Washington to serve the government as an expert statistician. He will leave in Washington in September.

The work of the state industrial accident commission is growing so rapidly that another strip is being taken of the hallway on the third floor of the state house to give the commission more room. Several months ago a third of the hallway was petitioned for the commission and now another third is being enclosed.

Captain Glenn Ross of Company C, Twentieth infantry, is here on a 15 days furlough visiting his brother, Ed Ross, secretary of the state highway commission. Captain Ross is now stationed at the cantonment near New York and expects to leave with his company for France soon after his return to his post.

J. A. Churchill, superintendent of public instruction, will leave today for Pittsburg to attend the annual meeting of the National Education association. He has a place on the general assembly program and also on the program for the library department.

The subject of his address before the general assembly will be "The elementary schools in the next view of life," while the topic for his discussion before the library section is "The relation of the high school library to modern educational aims." He expects to return July 15.

The work of adapting war service material to the needs of the schools of the state is to be performed by a committee appointed by J. A. Churchill, superintendent of public instruction, which will work with the committee on public information at Washington, D. C. Mr. Churchill, who appointed the committee at the request of the educational branch of the committee on public information, will serve as chairman.

The chief purpose of this committee, as stated by J. W. Seaman, editor-in-chief of the committee on public information, in a letter to Mr. Churchill will be "to constitute a standing advisory group to be consulted as it means for adapting war service material to school needs and promoting the harmony of national with local programs of procedure."

German Food Supply at Lowest Ebb Now

Washington, June 25.—The food situation in Germany to date has overshadowed the Austrian crisis, assuming alarming proportions, Zurich cables today state. Stuttgart, Cologne and Dusseldorf reports have reached Zurich of measures taken by the city councils to prevent the government from further reducing the rations. In many localities potatoes form the only article of food.

Morrow County District First to Report Over Top

Portland, Or., June 25.—Cecil school district, Morrow county, is the first Oregon district officially to report "over the top" in the war savings stamp drive.

C. E. Woodson, Heppner county chairman, wired State Director C. S. Jackson late Monday that Cecil district had more than doubled its quota, having subscribed $43 for every man, woman and child in the district. Sixty per cent of the sales were in cash.

WHY SCHERER QUIT.

Washington, June 25.—Declaring that official representatives of the government should not attack newspapers, Secretary of War Baker today discussed briefly the resignation of Dr. James A. Scherer, field agent of the national defense council. Scherer in an open letter to Baker said he was leaving the service because the administration appeared to be shielding William Randolph Hearst.

"I do not think any official representative of the government ought to be out attacking any paper," was the sole comment of Baker, upon which he would authorize quotation.

Young sagehens will soon be ripe in Lake county, the Lakeview Examiner says, and reports from outlying districts are to the effect that they will be unusually numerous this season. Weather conditions have been very favorable for large hatches.

This committee also will contribute to the Teachers National Service Bulletin.
