GERMAN AIRMEN KILL MANY PATIENTS

Bombs Were Deliberately Dropped Upon Large Red Cross Hospital

An Atlantic Port, June 27.—How several German airmen attacked and destroyed a British hospital, killing thirty-seven defenseless persons, including three nurses and injured three that number, was told today by Colonel G. H. Andrews, of Vancouver, B. C. The colonel who went to France as a chaplain with the first Canadian expeditionary force arrived here on a Canadian steamer with a score of other Canadian and British officers.

"I was convalescing at a hospital in a little French town called Bouleaux," said Andrews. "This place handled about 30,000 patients a month. Every night the Red Cross markings were brilliantly illuminated with searchlights, so there would be no possibility of mistaking the building's identity.

"On the night of May 29 several of us who were lounging outside heard the unmistakable drone of German aero motors.

"Suddenly a bomb struck squarely on the roof of the main building. It tore through the upper stories, overturning several cars, and exploded squarely in an operating room, where two or three doctors, two nurses and several orderlies were at work. All those in the room, including the patient were blown to atoms.

"The other bombs were dropped and the building caught fire. Most of the stairways were destroyed so that we had great difficulty in removing the helpless patients.

"As we struggled to save these poor fellows from being burned to death, two of the German machines swooped low and began to hammer away at us with their machine guns."

FOREST SERVICE SENDS OUT APPEAL

Are Urging Greatest Possible Effort Be Made to Prevent Fires This Year

State Forester F. A. Elliott is in receipt of an appeal which is being sent out by the federal forest service, urging on patriotic grounds that the greatest precautions be taken to avoid forest fires this year, when so much depends upon the amount of timber that can be gotten out for war purposes. The bulletin says:

"Three-fourths of the forest fires in the United States are caused by man.

"Every forest fire which destroys timber or takes men away from productive work helps the Hun.

"For the first time in the history of wars, timber is recognized as an essential war 'munition. Don't let forest fires destroy it.

"Railway ties and trench timbers from the hand planted French forests helped save Paris from the Hun.

"Forest fires destroyed nearly two hundred million board feet of timber on the national forests of Oregon in 1917—enough to build three cantonments as large as Camp Lewis.

"The sawmills of Oregon cut two and one half billion board feet of lumber in 1917, valued at $44,900,000.

"Oregon's forests are supplying material for ships, airplanes and other war uses. Help keep out forest fires.

"One hundred eighty six fires on the national forests of Oregon in 1917 started from fires left burning by careless campers. Be sure your campfire is out.

"Fighting 1197 fires in Oregon cost the federal forest service $133,017.12 in 1918. Help prevent forest fires and save this expense.

"Oregon's forests will supply four billion board feet of saw timber annually forever if properly managed. Proper management implies efficient protection, conservative logging and effective restocking."

Prominent Club Worker Indicted for Fraud

New York, June 27.—Mrs. William Cumming Story, former head of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and nationally prominent club woman, was indicted today on charges growing out of the investigation of the National Emergency Relief Society.

In one count Mrs. Story is accused of petit larceny in obtaining a $90 contribution for the society on the representation that it would all go for the society, although one half was paid to William Garland Brown as a commission. It is also charged that she obtained $863 from the Hero Land Bazaar by falsely certifying that no commissions were being paid.

State House News

Secretary of State Oleet has mailed certificates of nomination to the nominees of the republican and democratic parties for the various state and district offices. The certificates were prepared by the secretary of state's office and then were mailed to Governor Withcombe at LaGrande for his signature before they could be sent to the nominees. The law requires each nominee to file a written acceptance of the nomination before his name can be certified to go on the ballot for the general election. For the convenience of the candidates, the secretary of state also sent each one a blank form of acceptance. These acceptances cannot be filed earlier than July 29 nor later than September 10.

The public service commission has issued an order directing the Portland & Oregon City Railroad company to adhere to its train schedule on its run between Portland and Carver and to provide accommodations for passengers at the various stations. The company is also ordered to discontinue the dangerous practice of filling the tank of the gasoline engine while passengers are in the car. The poor service of the company was brought to the attention of the commission on complaint of citizens of Milwaukie.

In another order, the commission grants the Portland & Oregon City Railroad company authority to construct one overhead and four grade crossings in Clackamas county.

Articles of incorporation were filed today by the Oregon Baking company of Astoria, which has a capital stock of $12,000. The incorporators are Victor Luthe, John Mulhauser, Irving Jeffers and Victor Hermann.

SAVE ON SMALL ARMS.

Washington, June 27.—The small arms section of the ordnance department has saved $8,750,000 in the last two months on the salvage and sale of discarded materials, the war department announced today. Manufacturing costs of the army rifle have been reduced from $37 to $22, it was stated. Similar savings were made in the machine gun and ammunition branches of the department.

PROFESSOR MATTHEWS STRIKES MANY SNAGS

Constitution Bothers Him in Showing Oregonians How to Rule Themselves

Another snag has been struck by Professor J. M. Matthews, consolidation expert, in connection with the tentative plan to abolish all the elective offices, except the offices of governor, secretary of state and state treasurer, and make them appointive by the governor.

Under the terms of the state constitution, Professor Matthews was advised today in a written opinion from the office of the attorney general, a law making the office of superintendent of public instruction appointive instead of elective would be unconstitutional.

Two queries were presented to the attorney general by Professor Matthews as follows:

"1. Would it be constitutional for the legislature to provide by law that the superintendent of public instruction should be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate?"

"2. If the legislature merely repealed the present law providing for the election of the superintendent by popular vote, would the governor then become superintendent of public instruction, and if so, could he then, on his own authority, appoint a deputy to perform the duties of the office?"

The state constitution provides that the governor shall be superintendent of public instruction; but says the legislature is competent to enact a law providing for the election of a superintendent. The legislature did this many years ago.

Assistant Attorney General VanWinkle makes a negative reply to the first question propounded by Professor Matthews.

"It is clear either the governor is to act as superintendent of public instruction, or that the people are to elect such superintendent, when so provided by law," says the opinion. "I therefore must answer your first question in the negative."

Discussing the second question, Assistant Attorney General VanWinkle says:

"If the legislature should repeal the statute making the office of the superintendent of public instruction separate from that of the governor, the law remaining being the section of the constitution above quoted, it would follow that the governor would be the superintendent of public instruction, according to the terms of said section.

"The legislature could not abolish the office but could abolish it as an office separate and distinct from that of the governor, the office being created by the constitution and vested in the governor when not otherwise provided by law."

Mr. VanWinkle then takes up the question of the governor appointing a deputy to run the office, and quotes various authorities on the subject. He then says:

"From the principles laid down by these authorities it is clear that a deputy could not be appointed by the governor in the absence of statutory authority for such appointment, who could exercise the discretion required by the superintendent of public instruction by the statutes providing for the duties of that office. Washington Republicans Divided On War Support

Tacoma, Wash., June 27.—Whether the republican state platform is to be confined wholly to support of the national administration in winning the war, or whether state politics is to be injected, loomed as the foremost issue floor of the state convention.

At the close of the morning session the question was still hanging fire and the exclusively win-the-war platform was meeting strong opposition.

Clark Y. Savidge, selected chairman of the committee, delivered a patriotic address, saying 'our platform is already written. It was written before we ever set foot in Tacoma. It was written at the residences of millions of American homes where mothers sit thinking of their boys over there who are fighting our battles to save the world. It is this:

"Win the war! Then care for him that has done battle for us!"

A few minutes later however, when Delegate Handesley of Bellingham, offered a resolution to instruct the platform committee to confine the platform strictly to measures in support of the administration, opposition arose. The resolution was expected to come up later in the day.

SUFFRAGE POSTPONED

Limited Service Men Called to Colors

Washington, June 27.—A call for 685 general and limited special service men for the draft was issued by Provost Marshal General Crowder late today.

New York furnishes 100 general service men to report to Lehigh University, Pennsylvania, by July 15, and 185 limited service men to report to the Oswego Board of Education on the same date.

Texas is to furnish 100 limited men for entrainment to the University of Texas, July 18 and Iowa is to send 300 general service men to the University of Texas, July 18 and Iowa is to send 300 general service men to the University of Texas, entraining July 25.

The Crown Prince said to his pa-pa: "If you don't take up the sword, I will!"
—And pa-pa smiled, and the big bug, whose very lives depended on the existence of autocracy and militarism, applauded—and Germany became the land of the Bloody-Hun.
That's one of the many incidents in the great dramatic show piece of the screen.
