The Pringle Red Cross auxiliary has set a record for raising money, one that might be followed by other rural auxiliaries. A few weeks ago hearing of the Cannon sale at Pringle, members of the auxiliary secured permission to serve ice cream and lunch. Then just to encourage them, Mr. Cannon gave a Jersey calf, and with the sale of the calf and the lunches and the ice cream, the auxiliary made a net profit of $104 for the one day's work.

We sell for cash. Commencing July 1st we will conduct our business on a strictly cash basis. Patton's Book Store.

For those who will have a holiday July 4, Mehama and Lyons are offering something worth while. The two communities have jointly voted to hold a genuine Fourth of July celebration at Mehama and for those also who are not acquainted with Mehama it may be said that it is just across the river from Lyons and Lyons is only one and one half hour's drive by auto from Salem or Albany and four hours from Portland if the roads are good. Besides being a patriotic celebration, all money made will go to the Red Cross. Interested persons might write to the following committee at Lyons, Oregon for information: E. F. Beringer, S. D. Brown, E. A. Taylor or W. F. Hardison.

Military drill and military education in the higher seats of learning as well as in the high schools of the state was favored by educators who met at Eugene yesterday to discuss the military proposition as a part of the course in high schools and the colleges of the state. John W. Todd, superintendent of the Salem schools attended the sessions at the University of Oregon, and reports that the feeling among all educators was very strongly in favor of military education, all taking the stand that a nation with its youth properly drilled and educated in military matters need fear attack from no country in the world. From the standpoint of health and the bettering of the physical stamina of the nation, military drill was favored to the extent of making it compulsory.

The new term of court will be opened Monday morning by Judge Bingham in Department No. 2. The call of the docket will be held at 10 o'clock.

The city council Monday evening will take up a number of resolutions ordering new sidewalks. There seems to have been some delay and real negligence in the construction of walks and the council Monday night will try and remedy conditions.

"Just a line to let you know we are o. k. and hope you are the same, I like this place fine. We are well treated here. The town people are giving us a dance tonight." But the folks never got that postal as the writer forgot to put the address on it and it is now posted on the postoffice bulletin board.

The postoffice is doing a land office business today in War Savings Stamps. Many people realize that today is the closing day officially of the campaign and as a result the post office employees are overburdened with patriotic customers and they are not buying thrift stamps. They are W. S. S. stamps and in liberal numbers.

The U. S. Employment Bureau on State street says that labor conditions so far have been met and that every body has been fully supplied. As to what conditions may develop next week when the real loggers' picking season is on, the employment bureau is in doubt. Those with fields close in are playing in luck, having an abundance of pickers.

Arthur W. Bartlett of rural route 2 received an official telegram from the adjutant general yesterday telling of the severe wounding of his son, Emery A. Bartlett, of the marines, in France June 7. The young man was listed in the casualties in yesterday's Capital Journal. No details were given.

Next Wednesday morning before Judge Bingham, examinations will be held of the 15 foreign born residents who will apply for their final papers of naturalization. Those who successfully pass the examination will be made citizens of the U. S. The number includes four Canadians.

One hundred month school teachers swooped down on the U. S. Employment bureau this morning all coming for the one day's cherry picking. As the bureau had no intimation of their coming until late last evening it was found that for the one day only about 70 could be placed.

The work of arranging for the camps of the U. S. Federal Reserve for boys having been completed by the Rev. H. N. Aldrich, and now that the boys are in the active work, State Director Newmeyer of Portland will arrive in the city Saturday with his assistants and take charge of the works in the camps. This will include giving each of the camps in this vicinity the personal attention of Mr. Newmeyer and his assistants.

The War Savings Stamps meeting held last evening at North Howell school house was well attended. The chairman of the meeting was S. H. Van Trump county fruit inspector, and the address of the evening was delivered by Walter L. Tooze. Practically every family in the school district was represented in the attendance. The quota of the district is $8,100, and by the close of the meeting there had been pledged $6,600.

A Red Cross rally will be held at the Pratum church Sunday evening and the address will be delivered by W. L. Cummings. Besides the usual business of the meeting there will be the election of officers for the coming year. The Pratum Red Cross auxiliary has been doing good work the past year with its membership of about 75.

Miss Lydia Yackley of the Clear Lake school district, about six miles north of Salem on the river road, has joined the Limit club in the present War Savings Stamps campaign without being personally solicited. Miss Yackley had subscribed $20 for the stamps but after hearing the address of the Rev. R. S. Gill and also noting the fact that her district was not coming up to its quota she decided to do the patriotic thing and when subscriptions were called for, was one of the first to answer the call raising her subscription from $20 to $500.

The following is a complete list of the alien German women who registered at the police station between June 17 and June 26. Several of them were native born Americans but having married Germans who did not care to take out naturalization papers, they were obliged to register as citizens: Louisa Abraham, Amelia Burger, Augusta Reiffuss, Alma Bahlburg, Agnes Goebenberg, Anna Domogalla, Elsie Bonaldson, Anna Flubacher, Olga Gerig, Julia Gatzke, Susie May Hanson, Louisa Heidecker, Meta Koehring, Elizabeth Lalack, Dorothy Lapschies, Marie Rescha, Hermina Bantekraz, Louisa Spood, Olive D. Fire crackers are taboo in Salem and the youth that is inclined to celebrate is looking for trouble. According to the state law, no dealer may legally sell them more than two and one half inches long. There is an ordinance forbidding the discharge of firecrackers within the

Driest Three Months In State's History

Portland, Or., June 29.—Oregon has completed the driest three months in its recorded history. Meteorologist Edward L. Weiss said today the drought record for April, May and June never has been surpassed. One previous June has been dryer, June, 1886, had a rainfall of .98 inch against .12 inch for June this year. The average rainfall at Portland for June over a 47 year period is 1.71 inches.

Portland Falls Short of Required Quota. Portland, Or., June 29.—Oregon will subscribe its $8,000,000 quota in war saving stamps, but Portland will fall short of its $6,000,000 quota by as much as $1,500,000, it was estimated this afternoon.

Congress Passes Various War Appropriations. Washington, June 29.—The senate today passed the army bill, carrying appropriations of more than $12,000,000,000 and giving the president unlimited power in raising an army. All attempts to change the draft ages at this time were defeated.

Little of Interest In Wall Street. New York, June 29.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Today's short session of the stock market furnished but little scope for comment. Trading was very light in the first hour and prices were generally firm. Only a few of the minor industrials stood out with any display of strength. Sinclair gained something like two points. Central Leather moved forward a point or so, as did Crucible Steel. United States Steel rose fractionally above 108. The rails were practically unchanged.

The house late today approved the conference report on the $1,500,000,000 naval appropriation bill, which is now ready for the president's signature.

The senate late today passed the $5,000,000,000 fortifications bill already passed by the house. There was no debate on the measure.

The house late today repassed the postoffice appropriation bill minus the provision for continuing operation of postal tubes which caused President Wilson to veto the measure.

San Francisco, June 29.—This year's barley crop will not be regulated or handled by the United States food administration, announced today. According to reports here, many farmers are holding their barley hoping to get the price they received last year.

Test Constitutionality of Log Boom Practice

Public service commission was today served with a complaint in an injunction suit which will test the constitutionality of the log boom franchise law passed by the last legislature. J. P. Logan, who owns the Kings Valley flouring mill on the Luckiamute river, in Benton county, is the plaintiff and the Public service commission and the Chas. K. Spaulding Logging company are the defendants. The suit was filed in the circuit court for Polk county and the defendants are cited to appear and show cause why the writ of injunction should not be issued within 20 days.

Great Northern Express Company Quits Business

The Great Northern express company will close its doors tonight and go out of business for good. The Wells Fargo express company will find instead of the old standby, one new company under the name of the American Railroad Express company, doing business at the stand formerly occupied by the Wells Fargo.

In the consolidation of the two companies, no employee in the express business will lose his job as both companies have been running short of men. Sanford Jones, agent for the Great Northern has been made agent of the consolidated companies and H. E. Harrison, agent for the Wells Fargo, has been appointed cashier. The placing of all the express business in the country under one management is part of the government's plan of conservation, eliminating unnecessary competition and unnecessary expense. Packages will hereafter be delivered through the nearest routing.

DIED

McLEOD.—At her home, 2004 Hazel avenue, Salem, Oregon, June 28, 1918 Mrs. M. S. McLeod.

Besides her husband she is survived by two children, a son, Alva B. McLeod in the army at Fort McDowell, and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ferrell, of Portland. A sister also survives, Mrs. Ketta Pemberton of this city. The funeral services will be held Monday morning July 1, at the Highland Friends church and will be conducted by the Rev. H. E. Pemberton of the South Salem Friends church and the Rev. Mrs. Josephine Hoekett. Burial will be in the Jason Lee cemetery. The funeral arrangements are in charge of the Terwilliger Home.

How War Effects Steel

In the battle of Verdun, lasting more than half a year the French fired 60,000,000 shells containing 1,800,000 tons of steel. To produce these shells and transport them required the consumption of nearly 9,000,000 tons of coal--more fuel than was produced last year in Utah, Oklahoma and Michigan combined. This illustrates the effect of war on the steel industry.

The Government is now taking over all output of the steel mills regardless of orders that may be ahead. Manufacturers of agricultural implements have about enough material for a normal output this season and contracts for products far in excess of ability to manufacture.
