200 Americans Are Detained In Palestine

Washington, July 3.—About 200 Americans are detained in Palestine by the Turks, according to the state department's best available information.

The Americans lived in Jerusalem and were removed mainly to Damascus when the British moved forward and occupied the city.

American missionaries are still remaining in Turkey, but most of the Americans who declined to leave the country had an opportunity to do so more than a year ago.

If a declaration of war is made on Turkey the 200 at Damascus probably will be interned and there is some apprehension as to the safety of other Americans.

Business Curtailed In Wall Street Today

New York, July 3.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Many of those who contributed to the volume of trading in the securities market were absent from Wall Street today and business in stocks was accordingly much curtailed. The copper shares set the pace, which the remainder of the market followed with more or less animation.

The bears were a bit hard pressed and had some difficulty in getting stocks for covering purposes. The railroad list was lightly dealt in. New Haven was a strong feature. The others were firm.

There were strong and weak spots among the specialties in the later trading, while the standard shares yielded but slightly. American Sumatra Tobacco turned reactionary, and previous gains in Crucible were cancelled. United States Steel ruled fractionally around 106.

OREGON MAN KILLED

Portland, Or., July 3.—Elvis A. Frost, named in Friday's casualty list as killed in action, enlisted in the old Third Oregon here, it was learned today. Frost formerly lived at Linton and was assistant engineer at a lumber plant. His parents live at Claremont, Wyo., which address was given in the casualty list.

The other two bills which will be on the ballot are the fish bills passed by the last legislature and against which

TAX LIEN SHARKS ALONE FILE PETITIONS

Jackson Delinquent Tax and Legal Advertising Measures Have Been Filed

Unless those who have out initiative petitions complete their work in time to file them with the secretary of state today the ballot at the next general election will be a short affair, compared with former ballots. This is the last day for filing initiative petitions.

So far only two completed initiative petitions have been filed, two laws passed by the last legislature have been referred, and two measures were referred to the people by the legislature. These make a total of six measures which will be on the ballot if no more initiative petitions are filed today.

Eight initiative petitions are out, the most important of which is the petition for the bill making a levy of one mill each year to provide a fund for emergency purposes. This levy would raise approximately $1,000,000 a year. The bill was being initiated by the state council of defense.

Another bill for which the petition has not been filed amends the constitution to give absent soldiers and sailors the right to vote. It was being initiated by Ralph E. Williams and S. R. Huston of Portland.

Market regulations of farm and food products and supplies and machinery were provided in a bill being initiated by Hector Macpererson of Corvallis, who has not yet filed the petition, while free text-books for the public schools were provided in a bill being initiated by W. B. McKimney of Portland.

Petitions have not been filed for the bill granting power to cities to regulate public service corporations, which measure was being initiated by Josephine B. Sharp, Eleanor Baldwin and C. W. Barzee of Portland.

Another of the bills abolishes the public service commission. It was being initiated by Josephine B. Sharp, Eleanor Florence Baldwin, C. W. Barzee and Joseph R. Whalen, all of Portland.

Of the other two bills, one prohibits the use of fish-wheels, traps and seines in Oregon streams, and the other proposes a constitutional amendment making the terms of all county officials four years.

So far the only completed initiative petitions which have been filed are the two presented by C. S. Jackson and R. W. Hagood, one abolishing the publication of delinquent tax lists, and the other regulating the price which may be newspapers for publishing legal notices.

These two measures will be on the ballot at the general election in November. In addition to these, four other measures will be on the ballot. Two of them were referred to the people by the legislature. They are the bills providing for two more normal schools, one at Ashland and the other in eastern Oregon, and providing for the establishment of a state home for dependent children.

Tomorrow Is July 4th

Let us all consecrate the day as the GREAT DAY OF LIBERTY, not only for OURSELVES, but our ALLIES, and also those nations bound with the charms of military oppression, fed on falsehood and treachery.

Let us each resolve to face the crisis and do our part in supporting our government and helping the "Boys Over There" to "carry on."

SECURING QUORUM PRINCIPAL WORK OF CITY COUNCIL

Fred Steusloff Resigns as Member of Park Board—Miss Beatty Succeeds

Securing a quorum to transact the necessary business is the principal troubles of the city council during these summer months. Monday evening the session was adjourned as no quorum was present, but last night when it looked as if another adjournment was necessary, Otto J. Wilson rounded up Alder man Buckner to secure the necessary eight members and these with Otto J. Wilson, serving as mayor during the absence of Mayor Keyes proceeded to business.

After the approving of the June pay roll, the street department was given permission to buy 35 to 40 tons of hay and the fire department, five tons of hay and four tons of straw. Mr. Buckner didn't approve of cheat hay, but as that was what the street department wanted, the motion to buy was carried, and Recorder Race ordered to advertise for bids. The councilmen then were given opportunity to discuss cheat hay and oats and vetch mixed and other kinds.

Fred W. Steusloff presented his resignation as a member of the Salem Park board. He is pretty busy as president of the Commercial club and as county food administrator and asked to be relieved of the duty. A. H. Moore nominated Miss Mattie Beatty as a member of the board to succeed Mr. Steusloff and the aldermen approved.

William's chapter American Red Cross presented a petition asking permission to use the east approach of the new bridge and Water and Front streets for the big celebration. Also to use Marion square and adjoining streets for booths, and the use of the city streets for a comic parade. The right to the east approach of the bridge and the streets and Marion square was granted after Alderman Buckner was assured there was no merry-go-round or carnival show intended.

The Salem Sand and Gravel company notified the council in writing that it could not sell gravel at 50 cents a yard and that the city would have to pay 65 cents, the same as paid by the county. There was some thought of trying to buy from the other gravel company but Alderman Ward assured the council that if one company had raised the price, the other was also in line.

In the petition to the council presented by Frank T. Wrightman, chairman of the executive board of the Red Cross it was stated that all money received from the dedication of the bridge would go into the Red Cross treasury. By the action of the council, the Red Cross will be given entire control of Center street at the east end of the bridge and of Water and Front streets, besides Marion square and adjoining streets. A nominal fee will be charged for concessions in the way of booths. It is the referendum was invoked. One relates to fishing in the Willamette below the falls at Oregon City and the other to Rogue river.

THOUSANDS TRACTORS FOR SALEM FIRM

Vick Brothers Have Closed Record Order for Salem Territory

One thousand Ford tractors have been ordered by Vick Bros for shipment to Salem and surrounding agencies, according to a telegram received today by Charles H. Vick. A carload of samples are already enroute and the larger shipments will begin coming in about September 1.

About ten days ago George F. Vick left for Detroit to confer with Henry Ford regarding the shipment of Ford tractors. The Ford people had offered the governor 100 tractors to be sold at cost by the state of Oregon but it seems that no money was available to intention of the executive committee that only auxiliaries shall be given concessions in order that the net profits of the day will swell the treasuries of the various auxiliaries.
