FRONT AND STATE STREETS

That fact alone is sufficient testimony to the excellence of this product.

For the Maxwell clientele is composed of that class of buyers who select carefully and who demand full value for their money in quality and in service.

Nor do they accept mere promises—being careful buyers they demand proofs.

Perhaps the very fact that we never have made a claim for this car that has not been backed up by proof in the form of official records, accounts in part at least, for the predominance of Maxwells.

Another reason—and unquestionably a potent one—is the fact that there are no freak features, no inventions, no radical innovations in this product.

We do not attempt to invent new devices or to supplant tried and proven units with others of our own discovery.

Every unit in this Maxwell—motor, clutch, transmission, axles, steering gear, etc.—is of standard type—though designed and made a little better, we believe, by the Maxwell organization.

For five years this model has remained practically unchanged.

Refined in details, body design changed from time to time to keep pace with changing fashions—for Maxwell buyers demand style as well as efficiency.

But in all essentials of chassis design the present model is identical with that of five years ago—because that first Maxwell was right at every point.

250,000 owners endorse your judgment when you select a Maxwell Motor Car for yours.

Stayton Items

(Capital Journal Special Service)
Stayton, Or., July 6.—Miss Olive Bassett, of Newberg, a former teacher in the Stayton schools, is a guest of Miss June Kearns.

Mrs. Harry Humphreys will leave soon for San Francisco, to be with her husband, who is at the Presidio, until he is called for service abroad. She will have charge of the 3rd and 4th grades of our schools the coming year.

The John Mack home, at North Stayton, was burned to the ground about midnight Tuesday, and the 14-year-old son, Claude, was badly burned about the head, shoulders and arms. The house and contents were valued at $3000 with $1000 insurance in the Farmers' Fire Relief Association of Sublimity.

Mr. and Mrs. Trout and Mrs. Lohmeyer moved to Molalla Thursday evening taking Mr. Kramer home.

Stayton was deserted Thursday, nearly all of the inhabitants leaving to celebrate the Fourth in some manner. A large portion of the community were at Molalla, where there was a large crowd from many parts of the county. Walter L. Toosa delivered the address, and the exercises were otherwise entertaining. There was a big sale of refreshments, and it is expected that the Molalla and Lyons Red Cross auxiliaries will reap quite a benefit from the occasion.

Verlo Poyelson, of Portland, is visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. C. E. Daugherty.

CZAR MURDER

beria. Russian townspeople in and near Vladivostok decorated their houses with allied flags and staged enthusiastic celebration, the cables say.

This reception, coupled with demands of the anti-bolshevik factions and the inter-allied council, led diplomats here today to take the position that America must yield.

"The majority has decided," one official said. "The president has its decision. He may come in or stay out. But the majority must rule."

Details of the bolshevik-Czech battle at Vladivostok indicate that the defeat of the Reds was decisive. A fortnight ago the Czechs, acting at the behest of the allies, issued an ultimatum to the red guards to cease arming German prisoners of war. The demand was unheeded. At 10:30 o'clock on the morning of June 30 the Czechs attacked. Six hundred bolshevik sailors immediately surrendered. The rest of the garrison took refuge in a blockhouse. Two house bombardments forced them to capitulate, those not surrendering retreating to the westward along the Trans-Siberian railroad. Most of those who escaped are believed to have been Germans.

According to advices received here, both Great Britain and France expect to land several thousand troops in Siberia, Italy for the present, will be represented by the Dalmatians, while the Czech-Slovaks will represent the Balkans. Just what part Japan and China will play has not been learned. This will be announced after the president gives his decision as to the attitude of the United States.

Diplomatic officials, however, are inclined to believe that Japan's army of 52,000 and China's potential army of nearly a million will be used to the best advantage.

Diplomats here not advised of the inter-allied council plans, now see why President Wilson failed to mention Russia in his Mount Vernon speech. Knowing that the address would be prepared before the arrival of the council's decision, friends of the president urged him to say nothing that would in any way commit this country to a definite policy.

Capture of Vladivostok.
Tokio, July 5.—The Czech-Slovak forces which Saturday captured Vladivostok have established there a commissariat for Siberia.

Fifteen thousand Czechs entered Vladivostok Saturday, capturing soviet headquarters and occupying the national bank, municipal offices, the railway station, and seizing a quantity of ammunition. Resistance was slight. The Czechs lost three killed and 155 wounded. Casualties of the soviet forces were 51 killed and 159 wounded.

British, Japanese, Chinese troops and American marines were landed to maintain order.

Just enough Americans were landed to guard the American consulate.

conditions were bad, the Union purposely arranged to ship these cherries out of the city in order to use all available labor harvesting the cherry and Loganberry crop.

Growers of cherries this year have netted the highest price ever paid in the United States and especially in this tree of those growing the Royal Anne. For Lamberts and Bings the price has been six cents a pound and for Royal Anne, eight cents. This is from 1914 to 25 per cent higher than ever paid before.

Another unusual condition that has confronted the growers of cherries and Loganberries is the fact that both crops have to be practically cared for at the same time, overtaxing the capacities of the canneries here. Ordinarily the directors of the Salem Fruit Union would have held the cherries and had the stemming and pitting done here to keep the money in circulation at home. Forcible labor conditions, the Union had arranged to ship to the San Francisco house.

Cherries are put up in barrels in what is called brine, a preparation that pickles and holds them for manufacturing later in the fall. And it is in this work that the snags are worn as in the preparation of the brine, a weak solution of sulphuric acid is used.

The mere matter of securing barrels was a big proposition and Robert C. Paulus has been searching the country all the way from California up the coast and over to Montana for barrels of 50 gallon capacity. The price per barrel runs from $3.25 to $4.

The largest car load of barreled cherries ever loaded in the United States will leave Salem for San Francisco this evening. The car contains 191 barrels, weighing about 90,000 pounds. The value thereof, including barrels, solution, labor and cherries is close to $69,000. An agent from the California house is here taking charge of the shipment.

Anticipating a large Loganberry crop, the Salem Fruit Union has just finished making 100,000 hallowcks and the greater part is now in the hands of the grower.

Last fall R. C. Paulus, manager of the Salem Fruit Union, gathered information that led him to believe the price of prune boxes would advance pretty rapidly when the demand was on about this time of year. As a result of his investigations, he ordered 125,000 boxes and already almost all of the order has been delivered and stored at the Salem Fruit Union warehouse. The boxes are now worth on the market four cents each more than Mr. Paulus and his associates paid for them.

Yes, the gas masks really are worn in Salem. They look like gas masks and are as effective as the larger ones worn by our soldier boys in France.

of cherries in barrels to San Francisco by the Salem Fruit Union has brought into the community from $40,000 to $50,000 which might not have been saved, as it is well known that the countries have not been able to care for the large quantities brought in every day. By sending this amount of cherries out of the city, the Salem Fruit Union has not found it necessary to employ the labor that would have been used in stemming and pitting here. In fact, knowing that the labor
