in Salem, he writes Mr. Moores in part as follows:

"We arrived in Salem in September of 1852 and I began going to 'The Institute' soon after. During the next eight years, while I did not attend there all the time I knew all the teachers—Hoyt, Dillon, Gatech, Stratton, Mrs. Thurston, Miss Plamondon and others. "O. N. Denny, John Cartwright, P. S. Knight, Dick Williams, Roswell Lamson, William H. Odell, the Parrishes, Wallers, Boone, Holmans, Williams, Chapman, Bakers (Joe among them) and others were my schoolmates and some of them my deskmates. Every governor, judge and federal official who lived in Salem at that time I knew. Lane, Gaines, George H. Williams, Senator Baker, Senator Nesmith, Asahel Bush, Delazon Smith and most of the succeeding members of the legislature were known by me.

"I knew Roberts, Leslie, Gustavus and Harvey K. Hines, Dickinson, Bishop Scott and all the other notable clergymen, lawyers and merchants of the city.

"Salem from the north where Lute Savage with his quarter horse "George and Pep Smith with his "Veto," ran races to the south where old Father Leslie lived and from Wallers to the river, was as familiar to me as my own home today.

"Us boys went in swimming in the creek at Parrish's mill until they turned the waters of the Santiam into it for the mill and woolen mills on the "Island," then called Boon's, but really McLane's. During school days we used South Mill creek for swimming but as soon as any boy became sufficiently expert, he graduated and went to the river.

"In the early days we went to Griswold's warehouse on the river just north of the creek. Later this building was moved up town on State street. My father was an itinerant minister and traveled all over the Willamette valley from the Columbia river to Long Tom and from Silverton and the Waldo Hills to the Rickreall and Luckiamute, holding camp meetings in the summer time. I usually went with him. From 1857 to 1860 I helped assemble herds of cattle to drive to the mines into British Columbia.

"In Salem we picked strawberries on Waller's, Parrish's, Savage's Gilbert's and Leslie's places. Blackberries and raspberries were picked in the river bottoms and south of the cemetery as far south as Holman's and Smith's. It was not difficult to get a ten quart bucket half full, but I never knew a boy to get a bucket full as they were so soft that they settled and soon became juice.

"We slid and skated on the ponds extending from State street down north to Doctor Belt's place. In the summer time everybody went barefooted, and running over the pebbles made the bottoms of our feet like sole leather. Stone bruises were common as well as painful. "Doctor Shaw brought back from the upper country the cars of Peo Peo Mox Mox and they were a familiar sight in his office until I left Salem. I saw the companies march away to the Indian war in 1855 and 1856 and saw them come back again. I saw the burial ceremonies over the body of Captain Bennett, who was killed by the Indians. Bennett, May and Schwatka were the notable hotel keepers in those early days."

TWELVE FREIGHT STEAMERS

New York, July 10.—Twelve freight steamships will be built by the Todd Shipyard Corporation for the Emergency Fleet corporation, it was announced here today by the company. Each ship will be of a cargo capacity of 7500 tons. The ships will be built at Tacoma, Wash., by a subsidiary company, the Drydock Construction company. The government has consented to enlarge the company's yards, it was said.

NEWPORT CROWDED FOR CELEBRATION

"Three Fingred Jack" Goodwin One of Illustrations at Popular Coast Resort

By Ethel Toose

Newport, Ore., July 10.—Alladin's famous jump could not have wrought greater transformation than Newport has undergone during the past week with its great influx of visitors and variety of recreational diversions, chief among which was the celebration of Independence day with its attendant interesting features. Soldiers, sailors and the home people united in making this occasion one that will long be remembered by all fortunate enough to be present. Inspiring indeed was the military parade in which hundreds of Uncle Sams choicest selected men marched, headed by venerable members of the G. A. R. Hugh Herdman, chairman of the state council of defense, delivered the oration of the day in his usual fluent and able manner. Sergeant L. Wells, an American aviator but recently invalided home, was received with the stormiest of applause in the short personal talk which he gave. As one voice, in unbroken melody, 1000 soldier voices sang several war and camp songs, accompanied by the band.

Games and sports were the order of the afternoon. An unexpected feature occurred during the boxing contest. During the rest between rounds, one of the participants stepped to the sidelines and was immediately attacked by a pugilist and pugnacon bulldog, which tried to finish up the match begun by clawing at the man's nose, leaving a trickling stream to denote the success of his move. At the request of the boxer, the dog was not shot.

The evening's entertainment consisted of dancing, skating, swimming, picture shows, etc., and the visitors were as one in commending the system and regularity with which all of the features of the days were dispatched. Great credit is due to the local committee composed of Mrs. George Pratt, Mrs. Lee Williams, and Mr. Charles Freeland.

Not the least among the celebrities to visit Newport during the past week was "Three Fingred Jack" Goodwin, ex-gambler and converted evangelist, who is here to address the men of the camps under the auspices of Mr. Thomas Davis, field secretary of the spruce division of the Y. M. C. A. "Three Fingred Jack," who is well known to the people of Salem, has been working against the I. W. W. menace during the past year and up to date has destroyed 28,000 I. W. W. cards and indeed 932 members to enlist in the Goodwin does not condemn these men, army and navy of the U. S. A. Mr. He says that they are simply down-and-out gentlemen, who lack sympathy for the administration because of the insidious preachings of German propagandists. He tries, and usually succeeds, in showing these men that they will gain nothing by opposing everything which is of advantage to them.

"Three Fingred Jack," so named because the ends of two fingers were shot away years ago in a gun affray, commands great interest when telling the story of his own life. Not endeavoring to shield or cover up his past he frankly admits that at one time he controlled eleven gambling houses and seventeen saloons in the United States; that he was known as a bad man from Mexico to Nome.

"Wherever I went, I left a trail of sorrow behind me and I have been around the world five times," said Mr. Goodwin. "I cleaned $285,000 on the roulette wheel at Monte Carlo and I have had one finger chewed off by a maddened Hindu who discovered that I cheated him in a game. I stole from men and 'here a sad light comes into the eyes of the ex-crook'; sometimes it meant want for women and children but I always made that right when I knew it. I have destroyed thousands of souls and I am now trying to restore one for every one lost and when I get to the gates of heaven I don't expect to have a delegation there to meet me. I shall be contented to just 'get by' the recording angel."

Mr. Goodwin does not represent any church or creed but says that he is just a Christian and before that a patriot, which envelopes Christianity. He draws a fine distinction between a church member and a Christian. "Once I hired a church member to frame up one of the slickest deals I ever pulled," said Mr. Goodwin. "I am now working for God and my country and hope to bring some poor, ignorant misled souls to a healthy way of thinking."

Peter Philip Bilhorn, an evangelist

singer is responsible for the conversion of "Three Fingred Jack." He went to one of his gambling places and by kindly persuasion and convincing argument won this man who had been a fugitive from justice many times, to Christ.

In speaking of the importance of the spruce division of the army, Mr. Goodwin said: "We cannot win this war until our forests are converted into plane and ship materials. These spruce men, who are so discontented because they have been placed in a non-combatant branch of the service, should realize that their work is of just as much importance as that of the men who are occupying the front line trenches."

Mr. Goodwin will remain in Newport for two weeks, visiting the various camps stationed in this vicinity.

SHE COULD NOT STAND OR WORK

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health and Stopped Her Pains.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it that at times I could not be on my feet at all. I was all run down and so weak I could not do my housework, was nervous and could not lie down at night. I took treatments from a physician but they did not help me. My Aunt recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried it and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the credit."

—Mrs. JOSEPHINE KIMBLE, 935 West Race St., Portland, Ind.

Thousands of American women give this famous root and herb remedy the credit for health restored as did Mrs. Kimble.

For helpful suggestions in regard to such ailments women are asked to write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is in your service.

Hon. and Mrs. B. F. Eddy and daughter, Dorothy, of Roseburg, arrived the middle of the week and are occupying the Allen cottage for the balance of the season. Mr. Eddy is a member of State legislature from Douglas County.

Mrs. M. C. Dennis, of Falls City, is listed among the recent arrivals at the New Cliff House.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cobb, of Portland, are enjoying a week's stay at the Nicolai at Nye beach. Mr. Cobb is interested in the Falls City Lumber Co.

Mrs. Mary Babeok and Mrs. Richard Erickson, of Salem, have opened a cottage at Cherry City for an extended visit at the seashore.

Catarrhal Cough
Mr. W. S. Brown, R. F. D. No. 4, Box 82, Rogersville, Tennessee, writes: "I feel it my duty to recommend Peruna to all sufferers of catarrh or cough. In the year 1909, I took a severe case of the la grippe. I then took a bad cough. I had taken all kinds of cough remedies but got no relief. I then decided to try Peruna. I used five bottles. After taking five bottles my cough stopped and my catarrh was cured. My average weight was 115 and now I weigh 145. Any one suffering with catarrh in any form I will advise them to take Peruna."
Those who object to liquid medicine can procure Peruna Tablets.
