Salem Men Lose Twenty Thousand Crop

Walter Winslow is just home from Ione, Morrow county to investigate his loss of a cyclone and cloudburst that ruined his grain crop of about 600 acres. Mr. Winslow and H. H. Vandervoort were interested in a grain tract in which there were 184 acres of early Bart blue stem wheat that would have averaged 40 bushels to the acre, 150 acres of barley that promised an average crop and the remainder of the 600 acres in spring blue stem wheat. After the wind, half a foot of hail, cloudburst and then a regulation twister got through with their tract it was swept as clean as a paved street. The cyclone was about two miles wide and after traveling part of its six mile course, turned at right angles. It scooped up the dirt and soil from the surrounding country and deposited it about a foot thick in the stores of Ione and when Mr. Winslow arrived on the scene, the storekeepers were shoveling out the mud by means of scow shovels. The cyclone required only 15 minutes to finish the work, laying waste a fine country section two miles wide and six miles long. The warehouse at Morgan was scattered all over the surrounding country. Mr. Winslow estimates their loss at about $20,000. They had insured against fire but not against cyclones as such a thing was never known in that part of the state.

COMPANY F HOLDS GOOD FELLOWSHIP MEETING AFTER DRILL

Talks Are Made And Company Fund Raised In Short Order.

Company F, Oregon Guard, of Salem, after the regular Thursday evening drill last night, held a short and snappy good fellowship meeting in the armory. Shows talks calculated to arouse interest in military matters and also in the pride of the company were made by Lieutenant Colonel A. T. Woolpert, Major A. A. Hall, Captain J. H. Arnold, Second Lieutenant Morelock and other members of the company.

While making his talk Captain Arnold remarked there was need of a company fund and within a few minutes there was a rain of silver falling on the speaker's table that within a short time netted the company $20 just as a starter for its special fund.

As Company F is now organized, the commissioned officers are as follows: J. H. Arnold, captain, Clifford W. Brown, first lieutenant, A. Lee Morelock, second lieutenant. The non-commissioned officers are: Bert W. Macy, first sergeant, W. A. Cummings, quartermaster sergeant, R. O. Kumrow, sergeant, W. J. Entress, sergeant, Rex Putnam, sergeant, Glen L. Rice, sergeant. The six corporals are Arthur J. Welch, Ray H. Rice, H. G. Coursey, Amos H. Baker, John R. Pollock and Frank A. Baker.

At the good fellowship meeting last evening it was decided to begin a membership campaign, many of the members promising to bring in at least one recruit.

Sergt. Arthur Guy Empey in Vitaphone's master production "Over the Top."

"OVER THE TOP"

Sergeant Arthur Guy Empey, hero of a hundred fights with the Hun, went "Over the Top" at the Liberty theater last night, and with him went the sympathies and cheers of the largest audience that ever was jammed into a local theater.

The first showing of "Over the Top" the magnificent Vitaphone picture made from Empey's famous war book, was the most noteworthy event in the history of the Liberty theater and one of the most inspiring patriotic incidents this city has witnessed since the United States entered the war.

There were three reasons for this: First, the people saw the fighting sergeant and the American soldiers in action for the first time.

Second, "Over the Top" as presented on the screen by the Vitaphone company, is the most vivid, patriotic appeal that has been made by any agency other than President Wilson's own message.

Third, the audience which gathered to witness the great picture was the largest, most enthusiastic and most representative that has ever been seen in a local theater.

"Over the Top" is on again tonight at the Liberty and it is worth the price of admission just to see Empey and his bull dog under way when he gets into the fight. For while the pictures of Empey make him appear as a peaceful citizen, the fact seems to be that he is a natural born fighter.

INTER-COUNTY BRIDGE SET FOR JULY 30TH

Marion - Polk Counties Will Stage Red Cross Celebration.

Tuesday, July 30, has been designated as the day for the official dedication of the new Marion-Polk county bridge across the Willamette. This action was taken at a meeting of the executive committee last evening with representatives of the highway commission, Marion county court and bridge contractors.

To assist in the ceremonies of the day invitations have been formally sent to Governor Whitcomb, the mayors and councils of all cities and towns in Marion and Polk counties, to the state highway commission and engineers, to the two county courts and to the highway engineer of Marion county. All will be asked to become the guests of the city.

With the date having been now definitely decided, instructions have been issued to all committees to begin their active preparations. The bridge company, highway and county engineers are already entering into the spirit of the occasion and making plans for clearing the bridge and streets.

If the weather is favorable, it is thought that the largest crowd ever brought to Salem will assemble on July 30 to take part in the ceremonies. Every Red Cross auxiliary in both counties has been especially invited by Mrs. John H. Carson to take part in some activity, with the understanding that whatever profit there may be in the efforts of any auxiliary, that amount will go to its own treasury.

HARDING DENOUNCED BY CONVENTION

Governor Of Iowa Declared To Be Only Hindrance To War's Progress

Des Moines, Iowa, July 18.—Governor W. L. Harding was denounced by 1,000 democrats assembled in state convention at the Coliseum this afternoon when every man arose to his feet and cheered when J. J. Meyers, of Carroll, temporary chairman, declared "the chief executive of our state publicly insulted and sneered at president here one week ago. As a democrat I resent his remarks and sneers. I hope every democrat here feels the same way."

Strong sentiment was current to publicly resent the insult by passing resolutions, asking the governor for an apology and an explanation of his remarks.

Meyers continued his attack on Harding in his keynote speech.

"Voters of this state will not support a party of fault finders," Meyers declared. "The trouble with many republicans in Iowa is that they believe that they are the divinely appointed party to rule the country."

SALEM-AURORA ROAD PAVEMENT EXPLAINED

Highway Commission Assures Statement Reasons For Delay

In a statement issued by the state highway department, the people of Marion county are told that comments to the effect that the money which was to have been expended in paving the Salem-Aurora section of the Pacific highway is being diverted to other sections of the state are rather unkind toward the highway commission.

The statement does not say when the road will be paved. At the time the bids were opened for the paving, the highway commission announced that its action was based on a desire to postpone all paving until after the war. But in the statement just issued it is said that the commission did not proceed with the paving at this time because the bids were not favorable and the season was late.

Criticism of the action of the commission prompted the issuance of the statement, which is as follows:

"There seems to be a misunderstanding throughout Marion county as regards the attitude of the state highway commission toward the 18 miles of paving to be laid between Aurora and Salem, and many comments have been heard on the streets that the state highway commission was attempting to divert this money away from Marion county.

"Such comments are rather unkind toward the highway commission, as all of the members are fully agreed as to the importance of the Salem-Aurora road and it was unanimously decided that this was one of the first roads to be paved on the Pacific highway.

"The state highway commission has agreed with Marion county and with the federal government for this stretch of pavement, and all plans and specifications have been prepared and proposals received for the construction and the final contract has been signed between the federal government and the state for the sitting aside of the necessary post road moneys and Bennett bond moneys to complete this work.

"On account of the fact that the state highway commission did not receive favorable bids and because of the

CHAUTAQUA IS TO CALL VOLUNTEERS TO SELL TICKETS

Sessions Will Open Sunday Evening With Fine Program

The committees in charge of selling Chautauqua season tickets are calling on 150 people who believe in Chautauqua to help out in taking up this number of season tickets.

Those who subscribed last season are meeting their obligations but during the past year a large number who were interested in the Chautauqua have moved away and it is to take up the season tickets of those not living in Salem now, that the committee is asking help.

The Chautauqua will open Sunday evening with the Old Fiddler playing war time melodies, but by Sunday afternoon, the guarantors for the Chautauqua must have sold the required number of tickets. This practically gives but the one more day for disposing of the necessary 150 tickets.

The 15 men who guaranteed the Chautauqua for this year did so feeling that the public was behind them and as the matter now stands, there would have been no call for assistance, had not so many who had subscribed for tickets, moved away during the past year.

The guarantors are Dr. H. C. Epley, R. A. Harris, E. W. Hazard, E. Cooke Patton, W. I. Staley, Benjamin Brick, H. H. Vandervoort, E. F. Ringo, C. F. Heinbaugh, Wm. Gahlsdorf, William McGilchrist, Jr., Gertrude J. M. Page and W. A. Denton.

One of the special features of this year's Chautauqua is the Mother Goose pageant to be put on the last day. A woman who has been in this work several years will have charge of her time to putting on the Mother Goose pageant with the children who have attended during the day sessions.

The big event this year of course is Thruvin's band for next Thursday afternoon and evening for which an admission under ordinary circumstances would be almost the price of the season ticket this year.

Sunday evening all G. A. R. veterans their wives and widows of Civil war veterans will be invited to attend the Old Fiddlers' entertainment, without charge. A special section in the big tent will be reserved for them.

However, if the city intends to keep in line with other progressive cities of the west and continue to have the advantages of the best Chautauqua in the west, the committee in charge must be given assistance in selling the 150 season tickets.

Lateness of the season, it was decided to postpone this work until further investigations could be made as to the best means and time for handling the work, and these investigations are now being made and the highway commission will act upon them in the future.

"The surest proof that the state highway commission has no intention of diverting funds from Marion county is the fact that this post road was never requested by any of the Marion county officials and was offered to Marion county voluntarily by the state highway commission. Furthermore the state highway commission has available the necessary post road funds for all its other projects."

SALEM-AURORA ROAD PAVEMENT EXPLAINED

Highway Commission Assures Statement Reasons For Delay

Enough funds are accumulating for state highway improvement to build a finished through highway in practically every county in the state, according to a statement presented to Governor Whitcomb by the state highway department.

This statement shows that the highway commission will have $13,162,974.22 to spend between now and the end of the fiscal year of 1921. The commission already has expended on the state road program the sum of $1,895,525.91, making a grand total for the five year period embraced in the state of $15,058,500.13.

THE TRUTH ABOUT CANDY

Why the Natural Craving for Candy?

The natural craving for something sweet is common with all classes, and especially with men and women who work hard and with growing children.

That's because, in sugar, people secure fuel for the body.

"Carbohydrates," the chemists and physicians call this fuel.

Granulated sugar is 100 percent carbohydrates, but, of course, taken alone it is not pleasant food.

But mixed with nuts or fruit or other things, it is made up into a palatable and nourishing food product, called "candy."

Candy, being composed mainly of fruits, nuts, chocolate and sugar, is a very highly nutritive food product. Different kinds, varying in the proportions of sugar, fruits, nuts, etc., vary, therefore, in the proportions of carbohydrates, fats, proteins, etc.

Growing children crave candy because growing bodies require much fuel—hence the craving for candy.

Men and women who work hard consume much bodily fuel—hence their craving for candy. (Go into the logging camps, into the shipyards, into the army camps if you want to see candy really doing its greatest work.)

Candy is establishing itself today as a wonderful food product. It is asserting its right to live because it is the bodily ammunition which is speeding the work of men and women everywhere, because it is aiding in the normal, healthful growth of children and because it is supplying the energy which is sending many a brave soldier "over the top."

Every day people in all branches of work are waking up to the fact that candy is a wonderful food—economical and highly nutritious—doing a great work in this war and establishing its right to live

In normal times the candy industry uses only 8 percent of the sugar used per capita in this country. Right now this amount has been cut square ly in two.

SALEM CELEBRATES AT CONCERT TONIGHT

Impromptu Affair in Which Everybody Is Asked to Participate

This is the night that Salem celebrates. In common with the remainder of the civilized world this city rejoices today in the glad news from the fighting front. The Hun is on his way—back to Berlin. "What we take we keep" is the motto of the American overseas forces. Soissons has fallen. The Franco-American advance has busted up the German attack and staged an offensive of its own.

This is sufficient and ample reason why Salem should take an evening off and make the eagle scream. Therefore all true and loyal nephews of our Uncle Samuel—will gather this evening at Wilson Park, to give three rousing cheers for the boys over there. The citizenry is called out, and "all present" is the order of the day.

The affair is entirely impromptu and spontaneous. It will be up to the citizens in general to furnish the "jazzy." But Frank Dravey will be on hand to lead the excitement. Dr. Dravey has consented to make a brief address from the band stand after one or two introductory numbers of the regular band concert have been played. Thereafter the assemblage will join in singing the Star Spangled Banner, and do whatever else seems to be appropriate to the exuberance of the moment.

Let everyone come, and come armed

Mimic Trench Warfare At State University
 Eugene, Or., July 19.—The soldiers in the summer training camp at the University of Oregon had a taste of all night warfare last night and today when a sham battle and intensive trench warfare was pulled off. Hundreds of automobiles filled with spectators lined the streets adjoining the military field watching the scene which was lighted with flares and torches from time to time.

The members of the camp yesterday presented a fine leather traveling bag to Colonel John Leader in appreciation of his work.

Applications for the second camp which will open in a short time are coming in rapidly.
