SALEM BOYS SAFE WHO WERE ABROAD ILL-FATED SAN DIEGO

Word Received Cheering Anxious Parents And Friends Here

Until word was received today that all members of the crew of the San Diego, sunk yesterday morning in the harbor of New York, had been rescued, there was some anxiety among Salem people as several of the Salem boys were known to have been on the cruiser. Ralph Hancock and Mark A. Hancock were on the vessel a short time ago when it sailed from Portsmouth. Clifford Smart, a high school graduate was also thought to be aboard. Last August, D. L. Niederhauer, Ralph Mercer, Heine Radcliffe, Alfred Berg, the two Hancock boys and Harold Smith were all doing duty on the vessel. Ralph Mercer was later assigned to the Black Hawk, a mine layer, doing duty on the Atlantic coast. According to a recent letter, D. L. Niederhauer was on the San Diego.

"Safe and well taken care of." This is the cheering telegram received this morning by Mrs. May Radcliffe of 2195 State street. It was from Henry L. Radcliffe, generally known in Salem as "Heine" Radcliffe, who was on the cruiser San Diego when it went to the bottom yesterday morning about ten miles out from New York city. The telegram was sent from Hoboken, New Jersey. He had been on the vessel but a short time.

Stock Market Today Quiet And Narrow

New York, July 20.—The Evening Sun financial review today said: Today's short session of the stock market was quiet and narrow, but its tone was firm and at times strong. The opening prices were steady and, while all the active stocks advanced fractionally in the early trading, the best gains were 1/2 points by New Haven; three points by American Smelter. The market, however, was almost entirely in professional hands and the commission houses were deserted.

Herbert Hoover Will Dictate World's Food

London, July 20.—Herbert Hoover, American food administration is scheduled to become world food dictator, according to reports circulated here today. Hoover came here to confer with the food controllers of Great Britain, France and Italy. It was declared that the conference will take up the question of unified food and control and that Hoover undoubtedly would be selected.

Czar Nicholas Shot By Order of Council

London, July 20.—A message published by the regional council of the Ural district states that Nicholas Romanoff, the former czar, was shot by order of the president of the council and that the decision was accepted as regular, a wireless dispatch from Petrograd stated today. The central legislative committee has important material concerning the affair, the dispatch said, including Nicholas' diary and correspondence, in addition to that of his wife and children. This will be published in the near future. The dispatch said Nicholas was shot July 16. Recently Ekaterinburg was seriously threatened by Czech-Slovak bands, the dispatch said. Simultaneously a counter revolutionary conspiracy was discovered for the purpose of wresting the former czar from the hands of the council by armed force. Thereupon the "presidium" of the regional council decided to shoot Nicholas. His wife and son were sent to a place of security.

Two Salem School Faculty To Presidio

Two members of the high school faculty will have an opportunity for military training at the Presidio, San Francisco, according to a telegram received this morning at the office of Mayor Walter E. Keyes. As the mayor will be home this evening or tomorrow, the matter will be referred to him. The telegram from the war department at San Francisco is as follows: "The war department has instituted at the Presidio, San Francisco, a training camp of military instructors in the college there. We have extended the privilege to include hostile members of faculty of high schools which either have had or contemplate having military instruction as part of their course. The state of California has now one hundred and twenty members of high school faculty here. We will take not to exceed two members of faculty from each high school in your city should you contemplate military training therein. Suggest instructors in athletic be considered. The course of instruction given here includes physical training and training with rifle, grenades, machine guns, trench work, etc. Applicants will be temporarily enlisted in the national army for the period of the camp which will close September sixteenth. Applicants must be over eighteen years of age and below or above draft age, and in draft age must have deferred draft classification. Should be examined by a reputable physician before commencing special attention to heart, lungs, hernia and flat feet. Will be furnished uniform, rations, pay and allowance of privates. Transportation will be refunded at the rate of four cents per mile both ways. Wire me at once if you will send any candidates, giving names and direct them to report at once. None desired sent after August first."

SALEM BOYS President Wilson Grieves With Colonel

Washington, July 20.—President, Wilson, late today, in a telegram of condolence to Theodore Roosevelt, declared his son Quentin "died with fine gallantry." "I am greatly distressed that the news of your son's death is confirmed," the president's message read. "I had hoped for other news. He died serving his country and died with fine gallantry. I am deeply grieved that his service should have come to this tragic end." Whether Quentin Roosevelt was killed or is a prisoner, was unconfirmed until today, when cables said a German aviator dropped a note within the allied lines verifying reports of his death.

President Johnson Withholds Meeting Call

Chicago, July 20.—Pending more definite information from Washington, President Ben Johnson of the American league today withheld a call for a league meeting to decide upon a course of action, following Secretary Baker's work or fight ruling. "If those in charge of our national affairs believe baseball is non-essential and a detriment to the prosecution of the war, I shall advise our club owners to suspend their schedule at once," said Johnson.

PRETTY LEGEND OF NIAGARA

How the Great Lakes Joined in Their Wondrous Leap Over the Famous Ridge.

In old, old times, on the highest peak of a great mountain, there dwelt a hunter and his five sparkling daughters. Their lodge was of bright beata bark and on clear days they could see the distant ocean flashing like a silver band. "Come out! Come out!" cried the youngest daughter, the little Erie. "Come Su! Come Hu! Come Mi! Come Cla! (The names stand in order for Erie, Superior, Huron, Michigan and St. Clair). Let us away to the sea, where the foaming breakers roar!" So they left their lodge and leaped and sang with happy hearts. Their robes were of blue and chrysolite green and floated on the breeze, their moccasins were of frozen water drops and their wings of painted wind. And they scammed and romped across the plain or floated beneath the sky, or rushed past valley and hill and field, singing and shouting with glee. At last they came to a precipice of jagged rocks and moss. "Alas!" cried Erie, "what a dreadful leap! But we have come so far that we must go on or our father will laugh at us! So come Su! Come Hu! Come Mi! Come Cla! and follow me!" So over the steep they sprang and floated on their painted wings. They leaped and they sang like happy-hearted birds. Then the little Erie cried: "Let us up and down the steep again!" And up and down the five maids skipped and laughed at the sport and foam and called it Niagara Falls. And today, through the rainbow mist, you may see their robes of blue and chrysolite green and their painted wings and their twinkling feet, as the five play in the waterfall.—New York Evening Post.

ROOM FOR MANY MILLIONS

Vast Spaces of Siberia That Have Yet to Be Surveyed and Exploited by Man.

The biggest and loneliest land on the globe is Siberia, of which at the present moment there is so much talk, says London Answers. Any one who would set about its conquest by invasion would find the task a herculean one, for it contains nearly five million square miles, and is about 45 times as big as the British Isles! In these vast spaces there is a population less than London contains by a couple of millions, and there are hundreds of thousands of square miles of territory where no human being is to be seen. The mighty rivers of Siberia are almost rendered useless by the fact that they flow mostly into the Arctic ocean, and their lower courses are icebound during the greater part of the year, and their mouths are at all times very difficult of access. Arctic Siberia is a vast country in itself, but very inhospitable. Siberia, it is said, is destined to be the granary of the world; and the opening of the railway across its entire breadth has certainly done much to develop its resources.

Just One Inch of Rain.

When the weather bureau reports that an inch of rain has fallen, it means that the amount of water that descended from the sky in that particular shower would have covered the surrounding territory to a depth of one inch if none of it had run off or soaked into the ground. It means that on one acre of ground enough water to fill more than 600 barrels of 45 gallons each has fallen. That quantity of water weighs more than 110 tons. If the rainstorm covered 1,000 acres, which would be a very small shower indeed, 114,000 tons of water would fall from the clouds. Rainstorms frequently cover whole states and often two or three or five inches of water fall in one storm. A single widespread and heavy storm might result in 100,000,000,000 tons of water.

Our Own "Tropics."

Only at one place in the United States is there real tropical vegetation, says Popular Science Monthly. Florida and California have what is called "sub-tropical" vegetation. In the midst of a desert in the extreme southern part of California is a true oasis. The oasis, Palm Springs, lies 250 feet below the sea level. So hot is it there that there is a riot of vegetation all the year round. Enormous fig trees and mammoth grapefruit and oranges are always to be had. The lemons that grow there weigh two and a half pounds apiece. The responsibility for all this may be laid to a beautiful little stream which is fed by the Colorado river and which flows through the oasis only to disappear into the ground at its end.

Burglars Dread a Noise.

"Noise is the greatest enemy of the burglar and is what he most fears. Bear that in mind if you believe a thief has entered your home." So says Frank McCarrick, lieutenant in Manhattan's downtown detec-

NEED FURNITURE IN GERMANY

Problem of Its Supply Has Added One More to the Troubles of the Government.

The German government has so far been unable to find any substitute for furniture, and has not yet had the temerity to ask its subjects to follow the example of their Turkish allies and sit on the floor. The result is a scarcity that has caused second-hand dealers to reap enormous profits. A second-hand kitchen chair that formerly cost about 50 cents now sells for $5. An old bedstead that used to sell for $5 now brings $30. Second-hand dealers have scoured the country and old tables and chairs have been brought from cellars and garrets, but the demand still outruns the supply and prices already 1,000 per cent above normal, threaten to go higher.

Hint to Mothers.

Let us never be like the mother who said her boy was not interested in anything. For the boy's teacher when she called noticed that he had a box which he seemed to take care of, and it was not long before she learned that it was a collection of caterpillars. Yet the mother said that her boy was interested in nothing. The teacher at once showed her pupil that she, too, was interested in his collection. She turned from the boy a great many things about caterpillars that she did not know, and in turn taught him things he did not know. Teacher and boy became great friends; through this common interest others sprang up and the boy changed from a sulken, inattentive boy to a broad-minded, wide-awake man. If the mother could only have shared her boy's interest, how much more helpful they would have been to each other.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

TAUGHT INSECTS TO THINK

Remarkable Act of Scientist That Hardly Seems Worth the Time It Must Have Taken.

John W. Coghlin has demonstrated what patience and perseverance will accomplish, and has also exploded the old-time theory that it was impossible to teach insects to understand the human voice and action. Some time since he had the good fortune to discover a hill of Madagascar neopteris, or marching ants, says the Pittsburgh Press. They were about the size of the common June bug and of a dirty brown color, and he says that they are numerous in India and South Africa—that he can account for finding a hill of them in Maine by being brought there on some vessel. Mr. Coghlin invited some of his friends to his camp at Patten's Pond, where he amused them by putting the neopteris (as he called them) through a course of sprints. The way he caused the little army to go through their evolutions was a marvel to all present. Marching by twos and by fours, over inclines and bridges made of toothpicks, with the regularity of trained troops, he finally caused them to break ranks by lighting a match before the leaders. He says that artificial light will confuse them; therefore they can be made to perform only in daylight.
