HUBBARD NEWS
Mrs. Jennie Earl received a telegram Thursday morning from her brother, in Idaho, stating they had enlisted and would pass through Portland that day. She arrived from her home on route 1 in time to take the north bound morning train.

J. J. Mitchell and wife who recently came to Hubbard from eastern Oregon, and took over the famous place south of town, have made some changes that have made wonderful improvement in the place and meant a lot of hard work. They are not yet through with the schedule planned and as soon as the ground gets softened by the fall rains will do a lot of stump pulling and other improvements.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodger V. London, whose former home was at Eddyville before this war condition upset everything, spent Sunday and Monday with their grandmother, Mrs. E. J. Gleason and other relatives. Mr. London is in the navy and has been stationed at Mare Island, Mrs. London being down there on a visit, returning with him, who is here on a twenty one day furlough.

During the past week it has been supposed that the Hubbard members of the hospital corps stationed at Camp Lewis since the organization, is on route to France, the port of embarkation and time is for safety's sake withheld. From Hubbard, Guy S. Weaver, Gordon Grimm; Woodburn, Seth Beebe, Chas. Ogilvie; Portland, Reggie Hurst, Bert Pippy, brother of Mrs. L. A. Beckman; Herbert McKeezie, brother of Mrs. F. A. Pook. P. J. Semolke, Scotts Mills, was ready to go, but all the amount of stretching did not bring him to the required height. He was 3-8 of an inch too short.—Woodburn Independent.

Canada's output of cheese is going up by leaps and bounds. Manitoba and Alberta each put on the market a million pounds in 1916. Canadian butter has a great reputation, due to the splendid system of grading which insures a standard quality to the consumer. Canadian cheese is gaining this same high reputation because the same system of grading governs its marketing. The demand is taxing the output and more and more farmers are turning their attention to dairy cattle. Dairying Associations and good railroad transportation combine to bring big returns into the dairy farmers' pockets.

There is still much good grazing land to be had at low prices and dairy stock of all breeds is available at the various Canadian Government Experimental Farms and the Canadian Pacific Demonstration Farm. For the man who wants to get into the cheese game, now is the time and West Canada is the place.

Forty-Five Million Feet Of Lumber For Ships
Tacoma, Wash., July 15.—Orders for 45,000,000 feet of Douglas Fir lumber for use in the Daugherty type of ships, now being built in the East, probably will be placed with the mills of Oregon and Washington within the next few days, according to telegraphic advice received this morning from Robert B. Allen, Secretary of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association who is representing the industry at Washington, D. C.

Mr. Allen also advises that he has closed contracts for 3,600,000 feet of Fir lumber for the navy and that the Government will require large additional quantities of common Fir for the mammoth munition plant now being built near Pittsburgh, Pa.

All this business following on the heels of the orders for 63,000,000 feet of Fir for the Eastern Army cantonments, placed here two weeks ago, will tax the mills to their utmost, but local lumbermen are confident that they can supply every foot of lumber required and make deliveries on record time.

It is apparent that in supplying its future lumber needs the Government will turn more and more to the Douglas Fir territory. Never before have such immense quantities of Fir been purchased for far eastern delivery. The Southern Pine mills, which have before handled the Government's with orders placed many weeks ago which they have not yet filled.

On the other hand, the fir producers of the Northwest have not defaulted in the delivery of a single government order. Besides meeting the eastern requirements they are furnishing nearly 600 car loads of airplane fir per month and are supplying the coast shipyards with all their lumber requirements.

CAPTAIN THINKS

pedo struck his ship and sent it to the bottom, no one saw a submarine, a periscope or a wake, it was said.

Furthermore, three vessels standing by were not attacked.

No internal explosion occurred, officials are positive.

The extent of the loss is undetermined pending checking up survivors with the master roll.

The San Diego was going at the rate of fifteen knots and sunk in 15 minutes, Admiral Palmer said.

The sea was smooth and the weather fine.

The rescued of the crew were transferred to the U. S. Mail.

All reports say the San Diego men handled themselves splendidly, taking their stations as though only going through daily drill.

The mine theory was discounted by reason of the location of the explosion as a mine ordinarily explodes forward.

In this case there was a single explosion aft. No magazines blew up and everything pointed to absence of a mine. There was a suggestion in some quarters, however, that a mine loaded by the first U-boat raiders had strangely exploded aft.

The best available information places the ship's complement at 1,350.

The department, messages indicated a small loss of life. Some are believed to have perished in the explosion.

American naval vessels last night found and destroyed five or six mines in the same vicinity in which the San Diego was sunk, the navy department announced today.

The department had been striving since yesterday to clear up the mystery surrounding her destruction, seeking especially to learn whether a submarine was responsible.

Many naval officers have had the idea Germany would resume her U-boat warfare off the American coast. Rumors say that a submarine was responsible but that theory is unconfirmed.

The last information made public was announcement that 1,156 officers and men had been landed from the vessel, in addition to 30 previously reported.

If a U-boat is responsible, the race is particularly significant, because the island light is at the very gateway to New York. Hence, it would mean that operations are directed against traffic out of that port.

As against the submarine theory, there were the theories that either a mine or an internal explosion had caused the disaster.

No further reports have been received of any submarine having been sighted or of any further U-boat activities in that region.

Reports received by the navy department indicate that when the armored cruiser San Diego was sunk the conduct of officers and men was in accord with the best traditions of the navy.

Rear Admiral Palmer, acting secretary of the navy, stated today: "Captain H. H. Christy, the commander, was the last to leave the ship. As the ship was turning over he made his way over the side, to the top of the armor belt, thence to the bilge keel and jumped overboard. As the captain left the ship the crew cheered him and the executive officer. They cheered the ship as it went down. As the flag was raised on the launch the men in the boat sang the Star Spangled Banner."

"As the vessel was struck officers and men instantly obeyed orders, going immediately to their stations and remaining at their posts until the order was given, 'all hands abandon ship.'" The ship was abandoned in good order, the men taking to the boats as directed.

Twenty-Seventh Annual Re-Union of Family

(Capital Journal Special Service)

North Howell, Ore., July 19.—Stevens family reunion. The twenty-seventh annual reunion of the Stevens family was held at the farm house of Mrs. Ripa Ringo of near Gervais on Wednesday, July 17. A most profitable day was enjoyed by all present. Owing to the shortage of help caused by the war the attendance was smaller than in previous years.

The original family numbered eight—six girls and two boys—six of them are alive and in good health; all able to do a good day's work. Six of them have outlived their husbands and wives, the two youngest being the only ones with their life companions still with them.

There were five children present, representing four generations of three different branches of the family. They were: Margaret Ross, great grandchild of Mrs. Rebecca Mount; Doris and Robert Gresham, great grandchildren of Mrs. Ripa Ringo; and Catherine and Caroline Bump, great grand children of Isaac Stevens.

The family now numbers 278 living members. Owing to the fact that the girls outnumber the boys two to one, there are seven in the service under the colors at the present time with eight more called.

The main feature of these gatherings have been the basket dinners and this was no exception to the rule—there was not a slice of white bread on the table but the fried chicken, the salads, and war cakes and pickles proved that these pioneers and their descendants could "Hooverize" without handicap or hardship.

The next reunion will be held at the farm home of Mrs. Christina Esson, the third Wednesday in July, 1919, and each member was instructed to come and bring one more for the good of the country.

Miss Pearl Russell who has been visiting friends here for two months has returned to her home in Tacoma.

Word has been received from Andrew Russ that he is now training in the artillery at Ft. McArthur, San Pedro, California, and would probably be there for the next six months.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McElwain and Miss Esther Schaff were shopping in Salem Saturday.

Mrs. J. E. Cutsforth was calling on Mrs. C. A. Sawyer Wednesday of last week.

into trouble—well, then, so was Jimmy. While the hand-to-hand conflict raged between the Marines and the Huns, Jimmy was here, there, everywhere, scurrying back and forth, his eyes pleading to be allowed to aid.

After the battle, the Marines, realizing that they could never be able to keep Jimmy out of any more engagements, immediately fashioned a miniature gas mask and shrapnel helmet with which the mascot will be armed the next time he goes forth into the fray.
