BRAZIL LOOKING TO FUTURE CARE FOR SOLDIERS' FEET

Important Industries of the Country Are to Be Encouraged by the Government

The secretary of agriculture of Braall recently presented a lengthy memorial to the president of the republic explaining the nocessity of encouraglog the coal and steel industries, which has resulted in the publication of two decrees of the federal government,

The secretary's report states that until there are at least ten coal mines in active operation in the country the effect of this industry will not be felt in the conservation of the wood supply, which is now being rapidly consumed to meet the needs of the railways and of domestic industries. The steel industry is so largely dependent upon suitable fuel that, in the secretary's opinion, it should also receive the attention of the Brazilian government. The director of the geological survey of the Brazilian government states that by a process of washing metallurgical coke may be obtained from Brazilian coal, and that this is siready being accomplished in the state of Santa Catharina.

The secretary points out that the present lack of sufficient domestic coal of suitable quality should not interfere with the establishment of a steel industry, which could temporarily use wood and that for more than 200 years Sweden was obliged to depend upon this kind of fuel. He also says that in the United States some 400,000 tons of pig Iron are produced annually by the use of charcoal as a fuel.-Commerce Reports.

French Employ Canine Couriers to Take Supplies to the Men in Most Exposed Positions.

Trench warfare certainly interferes with the fighter's meals. After cupturing the enemy's position in particular, is the fighter at a loss to know how he will get his regular rations; for no sooner does the enemy find himself dispossessed of his original trenches than he opens up with an intense barrage fire designed to prevent ammunition and food from reaching the new occupants,

The French army believes it has solved the problem of carrying food to men in Isolated trenches, in its lunch dogs, says the Scientific American. Carrying light lunches and coffee, and ewn cartridges for the men in the first line trenches when the combat is hot and protracted these splendld trained dogs are more certain to get through strapped tight over its body, and provided with numerous pockets for food, coffee cans, ammunifion and other suplayer of two feet of dirt covers the

It is at the military dog-training stop. grounds at Paris that dogs are prepared for this service. Not only are these four-legged couriers taught to avoid the enemy and beware of tricks, but also to crawl on their stomachs in order to escape flying bullets. Special masks are provided for these dogs when they must pass through a polson gas area.

To Be Pitched Only in the Morning. Many years ago, when Connie Mack was the Milwankee catcher and manso they sent him to the slab. Milwaukee was beaten something like 16 to 4.
