Bruckman Writes From San Pedro, Cal

Private C. W. Bruckman, 6th company, heavy artillery, of Marion, Oregon, is stationed at Fort McArthur, San Pedro, Calif.
'I keep one pocket full of sand', he writes, 'because there are times when I feel myself slipping.'
'Have finally located here under the noses of the big fourteen inch guns in the shade of the lemon tree south of Los Angeles and west from Long Beach. If everything compared with the climate, it would not be such a bad place, but the river water in the Willamette is a treat compared with the best they have here.
'The training is pretty strenuous and if our strength holds out, we will soon be full grown men. The life of a soldier is great if one doesn't weaken. The officers here are all fine fellows, but the Oregonians are pretty speedy for them.
'Am in the heavy artillery and I will see service before long. There are quite a few counties represented in the 6th and all nationalities. This life is not what it is cracked up to be, in other words it is not like hunting squirrels. I have lost 14 pounds since I landed. I cut off six inches of my belt and it still keeps getting larger.'

Irrigation Even numbers, Mon, Wed., Fri. and Sun. Odd numbers, Tues, Thurs, Sat. and Sun. Even numbers are on the south and east side of street. Odd numbers are on north and west side of street.

The city library will be closed all morning Tuesday and open only two hours in the afternoon, from 1 until 3 o'clock. As tomorrow will be a holiday for the stores and banks the library folks will also celebrate, excepting the two hours.

The Ford tractor is doing some demonstrating this afternoon at the fair grounds. Quite a number of men interested in a practical demonstration accompanied Mr. Vick and others to the grounds this afternoon. Among those from a distance who are interested and who are in the city to see just what the Ford tractor can do are Frank C. Bigger, general manager of the Overland Pacific Co., Bert Ehring, manager Portland branch of the company and R. M. Gregory, automobile editor of the Oregonian.

Trying his handkerchief around the trigger of a shot gun, James P. Wilbank of Orville went behind a hog pen this morning, looked squarely in the face of the gun and pulled on the handkerchief. His under jaw and almost one side of his face was shot away, and Coroner A. M. Cloug rendered a verdict of suicide. He was a widower and is survived by six children. His home is at Corvallis, where the body was taken for burial today. He had been employed at the home of Mrs. Emma Fenwell at Orville. Mrs. Fenwell's husband committed suicide about one month ago.

With a male chorus of fifty voices leading, here will be an old time community sing Tuesday evening at the band stand in Marion square. It is expected that every person who has a voice for singing will manage to get close to the band stand in the square about 7:30 in the evening. Besides the leading of the male chorus the singing will be accompanied by the Cherrian band. Between songs, selections will be played by the band.

William Calder of Polk county, living about a mile from the Wallace farm feels that the privilege of crossing the bridge first is worth while, especially as the amount so received is to go direct to the Red Cross, Willamette chapter. In fact, Mr. Calder is willing that the announcement be made that he is willing to offer $150 for the privilege, and that he expects to be on hand at 9:30 Tuesday morning when that privilege is auctioned off by Chas. R. Archerd.

Paris, July 29.-Italian soldiers who have been taking part in the fighting along the Marne have requested that they be allowed to stick to the task until the battle has been definitely decided.

London, July 29.-The Italians advance in Albania is being slowed up by the extreme heat and by attacks of malaria fever, dispatches reaching here today from the Italian front reported. Water is also scarce.

Berne, July 29.-Bread strikes are in progress in some parts of Austria and Germany, according to newspapers received here.

Rome, July 29.-Beginning August 1, oil and sugar will be rationed and all customers will be registered at shops. Bread, macaroni, rice and charcoal already are being rationed.

Rome, July 29.-A verdict in the trial of Italian sailors, charged with treason in connection with the blowing up of the battleship Benedetto-Brin, is expected tomorrow, it was announced today. The defense is completing its arguments.

British Columbia. The only objection he found to Canada across the line is the fact that it is the rule of the road to turn to the left. When a car is coming head on at the rate of about 30 or 35 miles an hour, he says it is nervous business for an American to steer his car to the left, wondering whether the other fellow is also going to observe the British Columbia rule of the road. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Webb and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers.

Men will be accepted for Yeoman service in the navy between the ages of 18 and 40 years. The navy has taken the bid off and instructed its recruiting officers to accept all recruits offered. This yeoman service is that of the business end of the navy and needs accountants, typewriters, stenographers and men who have had some office or business experience. J. F. Adams, in charge of the station here, says that all recruits will be transferred at once to training stations.

Male singers with lusty voices are asked to report to the Commercial club this evening for a short rehearsal of the songs to be sung tomorrow evening at the community sing at Marion square. John W. Todd will be in charge and conduct during the sing tomorrow evening.

A few Fords are coming in. The latest who will have the privilege of buying one this week are J. F. Jones, J. J. Loter, F. W. Mitchell, W. F. Neptans and Mrs. B. L. Gaines.

An effort will be made to make the clear the streets of automobiles on the line of march during the parade tomorrow afternoon. As the parade is to be on foot, the parade committee and also the executive committee have issued orders that no cars be parked on the line to obstruct the view of those standing on the lawns and sidewalks. The best places to view the parade will be on State or Court street as the line of march will extend east as far as Waverly street, between the state house and the Supreme Court building.

Four men will leave in a day or so for service in the navy. Lawrence P. McKee gives his next of kin as his mother, Mrs. Stella McKee of Perrydale, Oregon; Walter Holman, who will leave Wednesday, also gives his mother as next of kin, Mrs. Cora A. Holman of route 4, Salem; Harold L. Foster is also from Salem, route 4, and his mother Mrs. Stella Foster is next of kin. Roy V. Mathis is from Salem, route 6, and gives as his next of kin his mother, Mrs. Lizzie Mathis.

Oriets were received this morning by the county food administration to cut retailers of sugar to two thirds of the requirements asked for beginning August 1. The same order has been issued to the restaurants. Now, every person is allowed only two pounds a month of Forget-Me-Not' day in Salem, observed in Salem last Saturday when half a hundred maids and matrons gave their time to selling bouquets for the benefit of the Belgian babies realized $290 and if there had been more forget-me-nots' with which to make bouquets, the amount would have been much larger. Every flower that could be used for the small bouquets to be sold for ten cents, was pressed into service and even many of the women went home and took the flowers from their hair in order to supply the demands. Everybody seems anxious to please the little girls and ladies who were soliciting, and business was so fine that, by 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon the supply of flowers was entirely exhausted.

Lieutenant Errol Proctor is safe in France according to a cablegram received by Mrs. Willard Proctor of 2180 Lee street. It was but a few weeks ago that he left Camp Lewis.

Through an error, it was stated in Saturday's issue that the company organized Friday evening at the armory by A. B. Poole and others was to be part of the Oregon Guard company and not subject to service outside of the state of Oregon. It receives its equipment from the state and has no connection whatever with any federal organization. Another meeting will be held this evening when the company will be mustered in by Lieutenant Colonel Woolpert. Early in August there will be formed a company of Oregon National Guard, which will be a federal company organized under the federal laws and subject to service anywhere. The company to be mustered in this evening is an Oregon Guard company and an Oregon National Guard company.

After touring 1100 miles in the Sound county and also visiting Camp Lewis, C. B. Webb feels that he is good authority on roads in Washington and parts of
