President Wilson Works For Suffrage
Washington, Aug. 3.—President Wilson extended his drive for suffrage votes into the republican party when he wrote a letter to Senator Baird, New Jersey, urging the latter to support the suffrage amendment in the senate.
The president's action followed two earnest appeals to Senator Shields, democrat, Tennessee, along similar lines.

The letter to Senator Baird follows: "The whole subject of woman suffrage has been very much in my mind of late and has come to seem to me part of the international situation as well as a question of capital importance to the United States. I believe that our present position as champions of democracy throughout the world would be greatly strengthened if the senate would follow the example of the house of representatives in passing the pending amendment."

Vaughn Confesses Part in Contract Frauds
New York, Aug. 2.—Changing his plea of not guilty in federal court here today Captain Aubrey Vaughn, quartermaster reserve corps, attached to the supply division at Washington, immediately thereafter was taken to the office of the United States district attorney where he started a confession which is expected to implicate many others in alleged army contract frauds.

Veteran Ranger Has Accident On Mountain
Portland, Or., Aug. 3.—Elijah Coalman, the veteran ranger, who has been forced to retire permanently from the forest service, today told of the accident on Mount Hood last Saturday which incapacitated him.

Coalman was repairing a telephone wire and was clinging to the side of the mountain with the aid of a 500 foot rope when he heard an avalanche coming. The rocks cut his rope but he held his footing and prepared to dodge two great rocks headed his way. He thought they would pass on either side of him, but one broke in many pieces just above him and a fragment six inches in diameter hit him over the heart. He was rendered unconscious and his injury will be permanent. For many years Coalman has been the guard against forest fires, viewing out of Mount Hood, the surrounding country from the summit.

Tennessee Election Is Reported Close
Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 3.—So close are the returns for senatorial and gubernatorial offices in the election held Thursday that all candidates are claiming the race. Senator John K. Shields claims election over Governor Tom C. Rye by 10,000. Rye's unofficial majority in 61 counties is 1840. Judge A. H. Roberts has a slight lead over Austin Peay for governor.

School Districts Select Patriotic Books
Marion is one of the most patriotic counties in the state of Oregon if it is to be judged by the number of patriotic books that have been selected by the school districts and which will be in the schools by the time the fall terms begin.
The two books that will be found in almost all schools is "The Patriotic Reader" and "The Little Book of the Flag," while all districts are now circulating what is preferred for winter reading, the Marion county districts have selected almost exclusively war books.
The state library forces are now checking selections and sending out orders for school library books for Oregon, a total number between 35,000 and 40,000. These will be packed and shipped from the shipping warehouse at Portland. The districts supply the money for their new books but the general selection is done by the state librarian and her assistants.

Germans Must Win This Year Or Never
London, Aug. 3.—The feeling is growing in the German high command that the war must be won, or forced to a draw, before 1919, it was learned today.
The German armies cannot hold out much longer, as the bulk of their shock divisions already have been used and no fresh ones can be produced in any great number.

MARGARETE BAHNSEN WRITES FROM O. A. C.

Prize Winner Is Enjoying Special Course at Agricultural College

Young folks in Salem and also in Marion county who are interested in the Marion county Industrial club work are not only offered special prizes and medals for exhibits at the state fair, but for certain awards there is offered a two week's summer course at the Oregon Agricultural college.
At the last fair Magarete Bahnsen of Salem won the first prize in the sewing division No. 2, for which she was given a two weeks course at Corvallis. She also won second prize in the poultry division, which happens to be duck raising. She is the daughter of Mrs. Theodor Bahnsen of 855 Center street, and writes as follows regarding her two weeks at the summer school:
"The boys and girls who won state prizes in the industrial club projects at the state fair last fall spent two of the most interesting weeks of summer school at the Oregon Agricultural college which was held from June 17 to 29th. Marion county was represented by the largest number of state winners. There were six winners, but as it was impossible for one to be present there were only five of us at Corvallis.
"There were eighteen girls in all; 8 state winners, and nine county and land product show winners. We were in the care of Miss Helen Cowgill, assistant state club leader, and Miss Alice Joynt from Portland. We stayed in the Delta Alpha sorority house, and kept it as a junie practice house. We did all of the house work except cooking and did washing and we kept the house orderly at all times.
Two assemblies were held a day in the large Agricultural building for all of the club winners, one from 10-11 and the other from 1-3. They were conducted by Mr. H. C. Seymour the state club leader.
"The greatest part of the time of these assemblies was spent by having noted men and women talking to us. Other speakers at the assemblies were the county club leaders of Oregon who spent one week of the time with the boys and girls. They told about their experience and the new things which they learned during their work. The assistant National club leader, Mr. Newbill from Washington, D. C. played a very interesting part of the program. He gave two demonstrations one on canning and the other on drying and he also taught the club members how to conduct a real club meeting.
"We worked for the Red Cross one hour a day during the two weeks. We were very much interested in this as we worked with the Spangnum moss, which is used in the place of cotton. The only place where this moss is grown is in Oregon, Washington and Alaska. We were proud to think that we were the first groups of girls that did this kind of work and also proud because we learned to do every step in making the moss pads. Beside this work we had special lectures given us on housekeeping and sewing.
"We had plenty of recreation to keep our work from becoming monotonous, a picnic and a banquet. We had such a splendid time and learned so many new things that we hope others will also become more interested in the work."
