MR AND MRS HAMILTON RETURN FROM HIKE

Walked One Hundred And Sixty-Two Miles On Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hamilton are home from a two weeks hiking tour in which they covered 162 miles. The greater part of the time their line of travel took them away from the regular lines of traffic, through rough country with nothing but horse trails or blaze to guide them.

Beginning near Willamette their line of walk was as follows: Over the range by Saddle mountain, one day in the mountains, then down Salmon river following the horse trail, and then again over Saddle mountain. Over night at Pittner, then on to Otis about 14 miles. From this point they walked to Weston and back, then south down the coast to Newport. Then back to Otter Rock, thence over the mountains to Siletz by way of the Spencer creek trail. Thence down the Siletz river to Euchre creek. It was in this section that the paths to homesteader's cabins took them off the right trail several times. The walking here was over windfalls and heavy underbrush.

Traveling up Euchre creek brought them to the Siletz river again at the outlet of Brush creek. Thence up Sunshine creek to the Falls City-Newport wagon road and thence into the Siletz basin to Frink's farm near the big logging camp and thence to Black Rock, where they took the train for Salem.

They were compelled to sleep out in the open only five nights. On account of not being on the usual line of traffic Mr. Hamilton was obliged to carry 60 pounds in his knapsack.

For those who are ambitious to spend their summer outing on a hiking trip, the expenses may be figured at the cost of food while camping out. The farm houses and small hotels charge on an average 50 cents a meal and 50 cents for lodging. As to the necessary equipment to carry for a two weeks' hike, Mr. Hamilton says he will be glad to give details to those interested. As this is his sixth annual walking tour, he has the equipment figured down to the least amount that is necessary.
