All Gimpers Must Live Up To Emblem They Display On Their Machines

(Copyright 1918, by The United Press.) With The American Airman In France July 10.—(By Mail.)—“All gimpers have to live up to the idea of the squadron emblem,” explained Eddie Rickenbacker, all-American ace and former auto racer.

“Every man has a picture of a hat in a ring on his machine. That means he is ready to fight at any time, whether he wants to or not. The squadron is sometimes known as the hat-in-the-ring squadron. But among ourselves it's gimpers. We adopted the hat-in-the-ring as our emblem back in our training days. Then it was our hope to be the first fighting squadron to get to the front.

“Our commanding officer who had flown with the French, used to have a hat as the emblem on his machine. Some one suggested that we take the hat but ring a ring around it, carrying out the idea of ex-President Roosevelt's statement that we were ready to fight any time.

“The hat we had in mind then was a derby and some one suggested when we were discussing the emblem that it be made an Uncle Sam's hat with stars and stripes on it. The idea was a gimper itself, and we soon designed an Uncle Sam's hat in a ring of red, white and blue on each machine.

MONMOUTH NEWS

(Capital Journal Special Service) Monmouth, Or., Aug. 5.—Five little maids, namely, Naida Johnson, Julia Critser, Bernice Winegar, Marcella Smith and Jane Prime gave Miss Elizabeth Biecker, their beloved teacher, a very pleasant surprise, when they all rushed in on her last Saturday afternoon for a real party, which lasted from 2:30 until 5:00 during which time a lot of jolly games were played, enjoyed by Miss Biecker as much as any of the little folks.

YANKEE SOLDIERS CUT HAY

(Continued from page one) He went to the house, she following dubiously. Taking a pail he sidled up to the cow with, "whoa, Bossy, steady," and attempted to milk her. The cow did not understand "whoa, Bossy, steady" and refused to be milked.

It being French, he said "Oui," and missed the point. Then she brought out some pictures. "My husband," she said, "He is dead."

"My daughter and her baby," she described a third photo. "She is sick now and cannot work. I must cut the hay and run the farm."

She did not understand, naturally, but smiled and thanked him as he departed with "Don't you cut that hay, C company will do it for you. We'll be over tomorrow. It's fun for us, just like being back on the farm."

Next day an old French woman cutting hay and then resting, cutting more and resting more, was amazed when eight husky doughboys came clambering over the fence led by her friend of the day before.

More Work Ahead. As they departed, the pathfinder to the hayfield said, through his bunkie interpreter, "If we don't have to go to the trenches, we'll come back in a couple of days and put it in the barn for you. But it's slow curing with these damp nights."

Says Chemist Is Public Benefactor "Being a doctor, and suffering for many years with stomach trouble, I feel I cannot do justice to so great a public benefactor in writing. Myr's Wonderful Remedy is everything you have claimed for it. I can now eat and relish victuals I have not dared to eat in many years.
