Marks Found on Dallas Doors

Marks corresponding to those found in other parts of the state have been found on the doors of residences in this city and have led to quite a little uneasiness among the women in the city. All sorts of stories are in circulation as to the probable meaning of the letter "G" which constitutes the mark and the sheriff's office was busy all day Tuesday answering the telephone in regard to the writing. The only plausible answer that could be given the people yesterday was that the mark was probably made by a solicitor that worked this city last week and who was expected to return again this week. A strict lookout will be kept to see if he is the guilty party.
