

HEAD SALESMAN SPENT HUNDREDS

Burton Suffered 20 Years Before Finding the Right Medicine.

In speaking of the marvelous way in which Tanlac has relieved him of a long standing case of rheumatism, B. E. Burton, head salesman in the wholesale fruit and vegetable department at Lacey Bros. Butte, Mont., living at 662 South Montana street, recently said: "It is simply astonishing that just a few bottles of Tanlac should fix me up in almost no time, after I had spent almost every dollar I earned in the last twenty years trying to get relief from that awful rheumatism."

GENERAL HUBBERT

His troops have worked their way to within 2500 yards (less than a mile and half) of Lassigny, and are now pushing down the northern slopes of the plateau.

The enemy's position from Bray to Lassigny is most unfavorable. His railways are not available and transport is greatly congested. Chaulnes is under heavy British fire.

AMIENS IS SECURE

By William Philip Simms (United Press Staff Correspondent.) With the British Armies in France, Aug. 15.—(Night)—Amiens is no longer silent and deserted. In one of the most dramatic ceremonies of the war, while the famous cathedral resounded with speech and song for the first time in nearly five months, the relief of Picardy's capital was consecrated today, simultaneously with reconsecration of the edifice, which has been battered and profaned by German shell and bomb since March.

Today the Germans are seventeen miles away at the nearest point. The cathedral was reopened at mass attended by every soldier who could arrange the journey. They came from miles around. The choir was composed entirely of soldiers in dusty, rusty, horizon blue. The organist and violinist were attired the same way. Only the pastor was garbed for the occasion. His assistant, like the choir, wore the ordinary uniform of the trenches.

Over the high altar the Stars and Stripes fluttered among the flags of the allies, the wind blowing freely through the shattered windows from many of which the last splinter of ancient, superb glass is gone.

High in the nave and transept astonished pigeons, used only to crashing of shells, fluttered about. In this setting the pastor told the story of the cathedral. Listening were American, British, French, Belgian, Italian and other allied officers and soldiers, standing or sitting between columns protected by sand bags. A few civilians wandered in to give thanks.

Arisen from the dead, the city of Amiens is today alive.

Albert is Encircled

London, Aug. 16.—British troops are slowly encircling Albert, the official report of Field Marshal Haig indicated today.

In addition to menacing the city from the west and south, the British have crossed the Ancre on a wide front to the northward. Further progress south of Albert also was reported.

"During the night we advanced slightly northeast of Morlaucourt (three miles south of Albert)," the statement said.

"A hostile attack on one post was repulsed after sharp fighting.

"Local fighting also occurred along the northeastern outskirts of Thicqval wood (three miles north and east of Albert) where our patrols crossed to the left bank of the Ancre.

Further north our patrols progressed between Beaumont-Sur-Ancre (five miles north of Albert) and Puisieux (three miles north and east of Beaumont-Sur-Ancre.)

"Hostile artillery increased its activity south of the Somme and between the LaBasse canal and Ypres."

(The latter area includes the whole Flanders salient.)

Haig Reports Successes

London, Aug. 16.—Successful local operations which resulted in advances both on the Pienardy and Flanders fronts were reported by the British war office last night.

"By a successful operation carried out by us on the battle front Canadian troops made progress in the neighborhood of Damary, three miles northwest of Roye, and Parviller (a mile north of Damary), capturing both villages," the statement said.

"Our line southeast of Proyart (six miles northwest of Chaulnes) also has been pushed forward a short distance. Prisoners were captured by us in these operations.

"North of Albert patrols have maintained close touch with the enemy throughout the day and local fighting has taken place at a number of points.

"Our patrols have been active all day also in the Vieux-Berquin sector and have made further progress to the southeast of the village, taking a few prisoners.

"A successful raid was carried out by us today northwest of Locon. Casualties were inflicted on the enemy and two machine guns were brought back to our lines.

"Hostile machine gun activity has increased on the Kemmel front."

Railroad Man Gives Good Advice

"Several years ago I was under treatment of a stomach specialist for 5 months. 3 weeks of which were spent in a hospital. Another stomach specialist told me I had gall stones and that an operation was necessary. I did not want to have this. I lost 45 lbs. in weight. Talking with a brakeman one day he told me of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and since taking it I have gained 16 lbs. and am feeling fine. I am advising others to try it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis.
