Building Railroads To Tap Spruce Belt in Newport Section

Ivan G. Martin is home from Newport and has a lot to say about what is going on in that part of the world. There are from 3,500 to 4,000 soldiers in that section all engaged in getting out spruce lumber and in building railroads into the spruce forests. Three railroads are in the course of construction by the government, Mr. Martin says. One will be constructed down the coast towards Waldport and the other up the coast for about 16 miles towards the Siletz to connect at Yaquina bay. It runs across Nye beach, skirting the shore to Agate beach and the Punch Bowl. The third railroad is headed for the Siletz country. It is claimed, he says, that every spruce tree in the section is spotted and that they are being carefully picked for airplane lumber. It is thought that the road will be in service within 90 days up the coast as hundreds of men are on the job. Already the road from Toledo towards the Siletz is in operation. The mill at Toledo will soon be ready to handle all spruce lumber products in that section, he says. Cleaning one's desk, unfortunately, cannot be listed with the non-essential occupations, for the reason that what one cleans, out of it is non-essential.

Judge Webster Home Has Only Praise For Portland's Hospitality

Judge Daniel Webster is just home from attending the 52d annual meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic and is very glad to say that the people of Portland gave the old soldier the time of their lives. It is the general opinion of all Judge Webster says, that the Portland session was the finest of all not only in entertainment but in suitable weather furnished by the weather men. There was not a single accident, nor a prostration from heat, nor sickness of any kind among the 5,000 or more veterans. When Judge Webster's name was called at the meeting of the committee on resolutions, two G. A. R. men came over to shake hands with him. One was a clerk in a store at Lecroese, Wisconsin in 1861 when Judge Webster enlisted and the other was Captain Harris of Company B of Lacroese, Wis. organized shortly after the judge had volunteered. This was the first meeting of the three men in 57 years. Judge Webster also had the pleasure of meeting four of his comrades who responded to the call of President Lincoln in 1861.

Market Discloses Much Better Tone

New York, Aug. 23.—The New York Evening Sun comment on financial conditions today reads:

There was a distinctively better tone in today's stock market and there were intervals of fairly animated trading.

The opening was quiet and firm, but after the first fifteen minutes there was a fair amount of buying which carried prices forward substantially. This movement was more or less confined to the industries until toward the end of the first hour, when the rails attracted attention. By mid-day, several rails had established new high levels for the year notably St. Paul and Canadian Pacific.

Gains of a substantial fraction to a point, or more were common in that department. Steel ran up over a point through 112. American Hids and Leather common and preferred were again spectacular, both issues selling higher than ever before.

The late trading was quiet, but prices in general were maintained. Bonds were inactive. For the first time this week Liberty loan 3 1/2% failed to achieve a new high record price, although they moved closely around that level, at 102.50 established yesterday.

will be ready for the customers of the shop within a few days.

Captain Henry Schad, accompanied by his wife and daughter, of Wichita, Kansas, are visiting in the city, guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Volk. They have been attending the G. A. R. re-union at Portland. After visiting around in the city and taking in Wilson park, the capital grounds and Marion square, the captain is of the opinion that Salem is about the prettiest city on the map and that there is nothing like it in the amplifier state.

The five captains appointed to handle the campaign for membership of the Commercial club will meet this evening in the club rooms together with the workers whom they have recruited.

The general plan of the campaign will be gone over and everything arranged for the short and quick drive by which it is hoped that the necessary membership may be secured by three hours work Monday and the pledges are to be taken for but one year, with the renewal clause, it is felt that the business and professional men of the city will rally to the support of the club.
