The price of middling cotton as quoted in New York today is more than 37 cents a pound. About four years ago the cotton planters were glad to get 10 or 11 cents a pound all of which means that although a large amount of cotton was carried over from last year cotton goods will hold steady. What we intended to say was that the prospects for cheaper cotton goods are not very encouraging. While some trade magazines are announcing lower prices on some lines traveling men say there is a wonderful scarcity of goods on the market and that stores will be fortunate to secure goods to sell at the present prices.

The Board of Instruction to be associated with the local exemption board was officially organized today although the appointment of its members was made a week or so ago. A representative of the war department was in the city conferring with the board today and giving instructions as to its procedure. The board as appointed is as follows: Rollin K. Page chairman; Dr. Frank E. Brown, Roy F. Shields, A. A. Hall and Prof. J. C. Nelson. The duties of the board will be to give information to soldiers as to their rights and also to the families of soldiers.

There is no truth to the rumor that has been in the streets for several days that Breyman Boise had been severely wounded. The fact is according to a letter received a few days ago by the family his injury was merely a gas blister on one hand. In his letter he did not state whether or not he had been in a hospital. Breyman Boise enlisted in Company M at Salem April 1917, and went with the company over seas. Later he was transferred to the regulars at division headquarters and was with the First division that was in all of the big fighting beginning at Chateau Thierry, July 15. He was attached to a machine gun company and according to earlier letters saw all of the hard fighting from the time the First division and other American troops began driving the Germans back. The division that Breyman Boise was in was complimented a few days ago by General Pershing for the part it had taken in giving the Hun a taste of real American fighting.

Barley flour has declined a little in price wholesale, which will be good news for those who bake their bread from a mixture of 80 per cent wheat flour and 20 per cent barley flour. When the barley and wheat flour are mixed according to the government's regulation the combination must not sell for more than the value of the same amount of plain wheat flour.

Gompers Will Stiffen Stand of European Labor For War to a Finish

London, Aug. 29.—From public statements of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, since he arrived in London, it is regarded as certain that he intends to continue a strong support of the allied government's attitude toward the war and peace. He will, it is believed, establish the closest relations with the orthodox pro-war union leaders in this country.

It is expected, however, that Gompers will have some conferences with the socialists and more extreme labor groups, with the effort of converting them to a stronger war spirit. But it is certain that if any compromise is made, it will be at the request of the latter, and not Gompers. It is expected the American labor leader will declare his detailed policy when he speaks at the Derby Trade Union congress, which opens Monday.

Market Was Lifeless And Prices Declined

New York, Aug. 29.—The Evening Sun financial review today says: Today's stock market was quite the dull and most colorless session of the week. The volume of business was materially smaller than that of yesterday. Price movements were irregular within a range of a fraction to about a point. The only feature was a well sustained demand for copper shares, all of which advanced in good form to the highest prices of the year. Steel, after crossing 114, receded to 115.

The railroad stocks were more stable than the industrials with consistent firmness for the most part.

The afternoon decline in prices, following upon the warning of the chairman of the money pool to reduce speculative commitments on borrowed funds, reached substantial proportions, although the retrograde movement was orderly. Steel sold down to 114 1/2 with but slight recovery. The setback in general represented net losses of a point or more among the standard issues.

Salem's Prize Pig Yankee Shows In Elk's Parade

This is the closing story of the Salem pig, not the famous Salem hog. His name was 'Yankee' and he was a gift of the local Elks' lodge to the Portland lodge. 'Yankee' appeared in the parade of the state Elks' held last Tuesday evening in Portland. According to reliable Elks, the Salem mascot was given a bath before he appeared in the parade. His royal carriage was a Ford truck, and from reports of fisherretted people, his general prospectus and contented demeanor would have been a credit to any lodge. Later 'Yankee' was raffled off at the Portland Elks' lodge and as to where he is now, dependant events, not.

The local delegation, while it did not carry off any of the state offices, did succeed in securing a trophy of a silver cup, awarded to the lodge outside of Portland that registered the greatest number of ladies.
