Porter will use in the evening a cutting from Elizabeth Straton Porter's "Song of the Cardinal," one of the best sermons on man's dominion extant. You will want to hear the old message from a new messenger and if he fails the "Song of the Cardinal" is well worth any one's hearing.

ENEMY UNABLE

Taka Mont St. Quentin

London, Aug. 31.—(1:41 p. m.)—British troops have captured Mont St. Quentin and are now only a mile north of Peronne, it was learned this afternoon. The city is thus practically surrounded. The French have advanced further east of the Ailette river reaching a wood only a half mile from Concy-Le-Chateau.

In the north, the British are reported to have occupied Kemmel Hill, the principal enemy bulwark in the northwest portion of the Flanders salient, which the Germans captured months ago after one of the bloodiest battles of the war.

Make Good Progress

London, Aug. 31.—British troops have made satisfactory progress north of the Scarpe in the past 24 hours, it was learned today. They firmly hold Plouvaux and have occupied a front and yard of the German front line north of Arieux-En-Gohelle.

BRITISH GAIN GROUND

By Lowell Mellett

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
With the British Armies in France, Aug. 31.—Although heavy fighting all yesterday compelled the British to give ground in some places between Bullecourt and the Senzee river, counter attacks later re-established some of the more important positions. The enemy has been reinforced and is resisting strongly. The weather is bad for operations because of heavy rains and winds.

North of the Scarpe, British troops advanced a thousand yards yesterday from Arieux-En-Gohelle and six hundred yards in the region of Plouvaux.

It is reported that British patrols are 2000 yards beyond Ailleul in Flanders

May Precipitate Retreat

London, Aug. 31.—Allied pressure continued today along a front of 175 miles from Flanders to Rheims. The German withdrawal continued slowly in the Lys salient, complete retirement to the whole Hindenburg line appeared imminent in Picardy, while French and American troops along the Aisne and Vesle rivers were prepared to follow up the expected enemy retreat on that line.

Peronne, the most important bastion remaining in the enemy's temporary Somme line, was almost surrounded. Its fall, anticipated hourly, was expected to precipitate the withdrawal that will end only when the Germans are back to the lines they held at the beginning of their March offensive.

Added to the menace to Peronne was the allied pressure all along the Somme and North canal and northward from the Oise.

East of the Ailette river, French troops were threatening investment of Concy-Le-Chateau, which is only two miles from the Germans' spring jumping off place at that point.

Between the Ailette and the Aisne, French and American troops were advancing up the main highway toward Chemin Des Dames, and increasing the operation against that important danger to the enemy of a flanking ground, which would probably necessitate relinquishment of the whole present line.

SAYS MEN DEMAND

Discussing the marines, he said: "The term devil dogs is probably better known in Germany for them than in France. The French say of the marines: 'They damn the weather, they damn the food, they damn the German, they damn the war, they damn la belle France, but damn they can fight.'"

Another of his anecdotes is of a hospital. Wounded men were telling what they planned to do when they came home. One man, minus a leg, avowed he'd be a rolling skating teacher; another, say an eye, said he was going to give lessons with the monocle.

Suddenly one fellow, badly crippled, spoke up: "Maybe so, but I'll be frank. I'm going back to my home town in Ohio and get a place on the cracker box as the village store, gather all the kids around me and proceed to outlie the G. A. R."

able work and that he has met a very high school graduate among the enlisted men.

Edward Warren of Stayton was a Sunday caller in this neighborhood. The Joseph Eaton family have gone to Astoria. They are domiciled with the Frank Siddalls.

Mrs. Minnie Anderson and small niece, Joyce, of Newberg were Sunday guests of the Chas. Ruge family. Miss Joyce remained for a week's visit.

The Arthur Rex family have returned from their summer outing at Tillamook.

Mr. and Mrs. Applewhite and baby daughter are at Newport for a vacation. Mr. Applewhite will be principal of Philomath school the coming year.

Walter Brannan has returned from working down Portland way. He reports several cases of ptomaine poisoning in the camp where he boarded.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Crawford of Zena and Mr. and Mrs. Irv Miller and family of West Salem motored to Wilhoit Springs Sunday. They reported an extremely heavy thunder shower there.

ent line eastward to Rheims. In Flanders the village of Bailloul, which changed hands several times during the German offensive and was finally won by the enemy at terrible cost, has been given up to the British without a struggle.

Around Lens, British activities are increasing. This was accepted in some circles as a forecast of operations which would connect the Picardy and Flanders fronts.

Advance on Two Fronts.
London, Aug. 31.—British troops are advancing along practically the whole Flanders front. Field Marshal Haig reported today. They have progressed from one to two miles on two fronts, one of nine miles and one of three.

In the northern sector, Dranoutre, the Bailloul railway station and Mont De Lille hill have been occupied. The British there are advancing from the vicinity of Kemmel southward to near Neuf-Berquin, Vieille-Chapelle and Lestrem have been occupied in the other sector.

Australian troops are attacking directly west of Peronne and are approaching the city along the North bank of the Somme. In the Arras region, English troops have occupied Eterpigny and are advancing along the Arras-Cambrai road.

"During the night Australian troops drove the enemy from positions held by him east of Clerly (two miles and a half northeast of Peronne, on the north bank of the Somme) capturing many prisoners and a number of machine guns," the statement said.

"Our advance in this locality is continuing. Yesterday afternoon English troops carried out a successful operation north of the Arras-Cambrai road, capturing an important strong point known as St. Servin farm (eight miles southeast of Arras) and the village of Eterpigny (a mile north of the farm), on the east bank of the Senzee river.

"On the Lys front our troops hold La Couture (four miles northeast of Bethune) and the line of the Lave river, from Vieille-Chapelle to Lestrem (three miles north of La Couture) both of which villages are in our hands.

"We are approaching Doulieu (four miles north of Lestrem) and have gained Bailloul station and the hill to the east of it known as Mont De Lille. Our troops have entered Dranoutre (three miles northeast of Bailloul) and have gained ground north of Kemmel hill (five miles northeast of Bailloul)."

WILL JEOPARDIZE LINE.
By Ed L. Keon.
(United Press staff correspondent.)
London, Aug. 31.—The bull's eye of the military expert's interest today was in the region of Arras, where the British have cut the Hindenburg line. Here the heaviest allied effort is now registering.

Its purpose is to crumple the Drocourt-Queant "switch" and jeopardize the stability of the entire Hindenburg line by exposing its northern flank.

Unless the Germans possess a new switch behind Queant, continuation of the allied boring tactics is liable to compel a much bigger retreat than last year's.

The next strong German stopping place is probably the line before Lille and Valenciennes to the Meuse. This would mean an additional retreat from ten to thirty miles. In this connection it is remembered that recent reports from Germany stated that thousands of prisoners, including Belgian civilians, were hastily completing the old Meuse fortifications.

The enemy, realizing the crisis, is showing steadily increasing resistance in the switch region. Bullecourt, recaptured by the Germans and Rieu-cort, which is ours, are the bastions of the switch line.

Great Artillery Duel.
Paris, Aug. 31.—Violent fighting between the Ailette and the Aisne (where Americans are fighting) and along the North canal was reported by the French war office today.

"There was sharp artillery fighting last night in the North canal region and between the Ailette and the Aisne," the communication said.

"German raids in the Champagne region were unsuccessful."

Advance in Flanders.
London, Aug. 31.—British troops advancing in Flanders, have progressed nearly two miles on a front of about five miles, it was indicated by Field Marshal Haig's report today.

Bailloul station and Mont De Lille hill (two miles east of Bailloul) have been occupied and the British are approaching Doulieu (four miles and a half south of Bailloul).
