HAYWOOD AT END OF HIS STRING.

Bill Haywood, whose life has been spent among criminals, of whom he has generally been a leader, got what was coming to him yesterday when Federal Judge Landis sentenced him to serve twenty years in the federal prison at Leavenworth, and to pay a fine of $20,000. Four-Great Britain Wednesday by the United States. This to fail to support the flux industry to the bigher one tried and found guilty with him brings the total loans to the allies up to $7,092,040,000. there came a change in the valley. The teen of the higher-ups tried and found guilty with him were given exactly similar sentences. There is but one drawback to the matter and that is the American system of jurisprudence especially criminal jurisprudence under which, wih sharp attorneys, the time between the conviction of criminals and their beginning the serving of their sectences is such that the guilty have a splendid chan of dying of old age before the prison doors can close on them. Back of Haywood and his fellow criminals is an alundance of money, German or other, and this will chable de defense to drag the appeal along indefinitely. Under the English system these men would be sent to prison within a reasonable time, but it will be found that would be considered "unfriendly" and might result in pose of making plans for the coming well alife be dragging along with dilatory motions, and the severing the "friendly relations" existing between the severing the "friendly relations" existing between the federation in Portland, Sept. 17-20. The determined stand taken by the American general when he said "if there was any more firing he would send American troops across the border," may have had something to do with Mexico's prompt action. The situation has changed greatly since the chase after Villa, when the Mexican government and people were alike hostile toward all Americans. The preparation this country is making for fighting the kaiser is an object lesson to all such as have heretofore belittled the United States. The Mexican editors who recently visited this country can tell their people something of this, but to be thoroughly understood the work being done should be seen and realized from contact with it. Education along this line is to be extended to Switzerland from which little republic a delegation is coming to get first hand evidence of what we are doing. The members of that delegation will be able to throw some light on the situation for the benefit of their German neighbors.

There are signs of life along the Italian front again, but it is not likely much fighting will be done. A drive would cost dearly in Italian lives, and Austria is apparently quite willing to let things remain as they are so long as of the fire, for they are beginning to realize a German doesn't bring that boon she'll soothe our spirits pretty victory means the absorption of the dual empire, one soon; she'll heal, with breezes cool and sweet, our chighalf of whose population is really anti-German.

SEPTEMBER COMING.

September, genial, mild and calm, is coming, like a soothing balm. Perhaps, regardless of the cost, she'll Germany will permit her to do so. Austrian troops are bring along an early frost, and that will swat more kinds far from being anxious to pull the German chestnuts out of flies than man can swat, howe'er he tries. But if she ger wounds and prickly heat. September comes, so don't despond, but save the coin to buy a bond; the fourth big war loan will appear before October's dawn is here, and in the crisp September air we surely ought to do our share. For then we're full of pep and snap, and fit for frolic or for scrap, and we can hustle up the mon, and look upon the stunt as fun. The summer is a long ordeal; like false alarms all people feel; they're wilted and they're all, run down; ah, then it's hard to chase through town to rustle scads for any cause, however good it is or was. But in September, when the breeze puts ginger in our spines and knees, and makes us feel like yearling colts, exertion brings no jars and jolts. And we can dig up many bones, and welcome Uncle Sam, his loans, and start the autumn feeling right, our consciences all shining bright.
