THIN PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

How it Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Force in Two Weeks' Time in Many Instances

"Take plain bitro-phosphate" is the advice of physicians to thin, delicate, nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and there seems to be ample proof of the efficacy of this preparation to warrant the recommendation. Moreover, if we judge from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keener feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphorus than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION—Although Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness, and general weakness, owing to its remarkable flesh growing properties it should not be used by any one who does not desire to put on flesh.

SUBMARINES WILL

warfare is regarded as the futile effort to sink the Mount Vernon. Advice at hand today show 35 dead, though it had been supposed the entire crew escaped. Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, was aboard the transport home-warfare bound, but was unscathed.

The Mount Vernon adventure was risky for a submarine. In view of the protection afforded transports, the U-boat commander was taking far more of a chance than is customary in Tenth operations.

The German admiralty, however, understood to be under very heavy pressure, both from the war lords and the civilian population, to make good on their boasts that the United States troop ships would be destroyed. This pressure at home accounts for reported intentions of the Tenth to go up against the certainty of destruction of their undersea craft.

Naval experts are fully confident of the allied American ability to keep on sending troops as at present. They have never denied the possibility of a U-boat picking off a transport. They do maintain, however, that Germany will go up against a wall of convoys and other naval resources which will prevent her from doing so.

In connection with the reported German success at transporting, it is pointed out by naval experts that American troops are being transported by sea in great numbers. They only have a limited number of submarines which are not yet fully equipped.

the record for transporting troops with practically no losses has proven amazing. A year ago, he admitted, such a record would have seemed almost impossible in view of the former ironclad of the U-boat.

It was said that the department has no information of any transport attack at present other than that against the Mount Vernon which was unsuccessful.

Illinois Primary Election On Tomorrow

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Illinois senatorial candidates closed their final campaign today, preparatory to tomorrow's primaries.

Chief interest was fixed in the battle for the republican nomination, involving three candidates. Congressman Modell McCormick, Congressman George E. Foss and Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis was regarded as certain of re-nomination by the democrats. He was expected to have little opposition from James O. Morrow and James Traynor. Lewis bears the endorsement of President Wilson.

Opponents of Mayor Thompson have attacked his attitude regarding war. Thompson, on the other hand, has affirmed his patriotism and denounced his enemies of persecuting McCormick and Foss are urging the congressional records as justification for nomination.

Congressional candidates are nominated in ten districts.
