FOUND THE KAISER'S FIELD HEADQUARTERS HIDDEN IN FOREST

Had Substantial House Near The Somme And Out Of All Danger
By Lowell Meleett (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

With the British Armies in France Sept. 16.—There are no signs that the St. Mihiel-Verdun attacks have resulted in the withdrawal of German reserves from this front. On the contrary, the enemy is striving his hardest to prevent a retrogression of the whole line threatening Cambrai.

Strikingly indicating the short time which has elapsed between the Kaiser's high hopes and his present precarious position, Australian troops advancing toward St. Quentin found a house which is believed to have been prepared for the emperor's field headquarters, a few miles from the Somme. It was a large hut, hidden in a small forest. It could be approached only along a narrow lane, lined by evergreen trees, which had been recently planted. The house was exceptionally substantial. The main room was finished with an attractive, unstained, inlaid panelling. The windows were double glazed and screened. It was a pleasant refuge. There were no signs that it had ever been tenanted.

A letter found on a German prisoner, written from Kolkalk, declared that the bomb out is resulting in the passing of a man as fit for active service who is really not fit for night patrol work at home.

WANTED!

Referring to our advertisement of last week for an executive—the points you wanted to remember are these: Name of picture—The Mayor of Filbert. Length—Eight reels—two hours. Subject—The Wet vs. Dry fight in a middle western city. Production—A Triangle Special Answering hundreds of queries. Yes, it is a way of getting in to the profitable end of the motion picture business (distribution), on your own account, handling your own money, in your own district. Energy, push, knowledge of business and business men—essential; knowledge of motion picture business as such—unimportant. Speed—vital.

GOVERNOR HANDS JOB OF HOUSE CLEANING TO ATTORNEY GEN.

Says Row Caused By Petty Jealousy And Too Trifling For Him

Governor Withycombe says he will request Attorney General Brown to investigate the parole scandal at the state penitentiary. Until the attorney general makes a report, the governor says he will take no action.

He characterized the friction between Warden Murphy and State Parole Officer Keller as petty jealousy, which he would give his attention later if necessary. Keller has made the charge that Warden Murphy is back of a frame-up to throw suspicion on him as being connected with the evident traffic in paroles which has been going on at the prison.

Warden Murphy said he was not ready to make any reply to Keller's charge or any denial. He said he would attend to it later.

Keller has been a disturbing element at the state prison ever since he has been connected with it, according to reports which have constantly come from the penitentiary. He and Warden John Minto could not get along together, and it was the row between them which was attributed as the cause of the unrest which, developed among the convicts during Minto's administration.

When Charles Murphy was appointed warden, it was not long until reports began to leak out that Keller and Murphy were not getting along. Guards at the prison expressed the opinion that Keller was trying to get rid of Murphy so he could land the wardenship. This was denied by Keller and his friends.

But under the surface hostilities have existed all along, it now seems evident, and this led to Keller's serious charge that Murphy was behind a frame-up to pin on Keller suspicion that Keller was taking money from convicts in payment for using his influence to get them paroles.

STATE HOUSE NEWS

The public service commission received word today from L. C. Gilman, division director, that the physical connection between the Southern Pacific and Oregon Electric at Eugene is not justified at this time, because it would involve an expenditure of $12,000 to $13,000. Mr. Gilman says if the connections at Albany and Salem fail to provide sufficient tonnage to keep the Oregon Electric train running full then further investigations of the proposed Eugene connection will be made.
