WORKERS BRIMMING WITH ENTHUSIASM BUT MORE ARE NEEDED

Hundreds Of Live Wires Turned On The Juice At 9 This Morning.

"The workers are more enthusiastic than in any of the former liberty loan drives. But the task is so tremendous that unless more men who will volunteer and give their time to the work, Salem will fall down in raising its quota for the fourth liberty loan," said General R. E. Lee Steiner, in charge of the campaign.

And not only is there need of more workers, but Dr. Steiner claimed that it was also up to the public to help the workers in the way of not waiting for a solicitor to call, but to find out who the solicitors are and go to them and subscribe.

This morning at 9 o'clock the hundreds of live wire men of the city were out in their respective districts. According to general reports, they are being well received everywhere, but the amount, more than one million dollars for Salem is so great, that it will take the combined efforts of every one in the city to bring the city's subscriptions up to the mark.

Last night, the rally meeting was held at the opera house, at which fully 90 per cent of the team-workers responded. Addresses were made by Marshall N. Dunn of Portland and John K. Lee also of Portland. Each of the speakers reviewed the general war conditions and urged that Salem be one of the communities to first report its quota raised.

Each day this week, the workers will report in the evenings at the auditorium of the Commercial club. At noon of each day, they will meet at the First Methodist church to report on those who have not shown the proper spirit. It is pretty well understood that with this loan, if a man fails to understand conditions and refuses to buy at least one bond, there is something radically wrong with him.

Several of the larger stores of the city are making an effort to go 100 per cent strong in buying bonds. Many of those with half a dozen or less employes have already reported 100 per cent right. Among the stores with 25 or more employes there is considerable rivalry as to who will first officially report 100 per cent subscriptions.

The Ladd & Dush bank, with 30 employes reported 100 per cent early this morning. In fact every bank in the city reports that every employe has subscribed before noon today.

As the workers were too busy to make reports of progress today noon, it will perhaps not until Friday or Saturday evening that an estimate can be made as to what Salem will do with its quota of more than one million dollars.

KAISER PLANNED TO RULE WORLD AFTER 6 MONTHS WARFARE

Thought Theft of Iron and Coal From France, Land From Russia, Would Pay Bill

Planning world trade domination, if not actual world rule, as the outcome of a short six-months campaign in Europe, Germany now finds herself outcast from among civilized nations, her people impoverished, her honor irrevocably stained by the blood of Belgium, and facing a future of fathomless ignominy and disgrace.

"I will make room for my growing people by taking some more of France and a few thousand square miles of Russia," said the Kaiser. "We will get the iron and coal in Northern France for manufactures which we will sell the conquered population of Russia, and this, besides indemnities, will more than pay for the war. England will not dare come in, and our merchant fleets will soon crowd her from the world trade routes."

"If the United States does not acquiesce, her manufacturers will get no more of our dyes and chemicals, her farmers no more of our fertilizers. And we will also take away from her all South American commerce."

GERMAN GRAVES GRIM ANSWER

Now, across the graves of a million of his young men, the Kaiser is beginning to see the sun set on the smallest of his ambitions. "Foch will never cross the Rhine," is now the German watchword. German cities, shrieking beneath the visitation of allied and American airplane bombers cry out: "No more of this barbarity!"

Such cries are echoed in the ghostly lengths of thousands of Gotha and Zeppelin victims in London and Paris. The Rhine will be crossed, and Cologne and Berlin will witness beneath the shells of Allied guns.

"Five million men in France," cries America. "Remember Belgium and end the war in 1919." To America and her five million fighting men in France will come the greater glory of the world war. But that end will not be achieved without the sacrifice of thousands of those men, nor without the most earnest and united support of those of us at home. Where we have given valiant efforts to war work heretofore, we must thrust our shoulders desperately against the wheel of war preparations from now on. To no one person or class is it given to do a greater share in this war than any other person or class. Each must do his utmost.

As the workers were too busy to make reports of progress today noon, it will perhaps not until Friday or Saturday evening that an estimate can be made as to what Salem will do with its quota of more than one million dollars.

RED CROSS MEETS TO NAME COMMITTEE TO NOMINATE OFFICERS

Meeting At Commercial Club Rooms Tonight, Be Sure To Attend It

Tonight at the auditorium of the Commercial club, a meeting will take place that will be of vital importance to Willamette chapter, Red Cross. For at the meeting this evening, members of the Red Cross are called on to vote and select a nominating committee of either three or five. It will be the duty of this committee to nominate officers for all departments for the coming year.

The interest shown this evening and the attendance will demonstrate to some extent whether the people of Marion and Polk counties are interested in the work of the chapter and its one hundred or more auxiliaries, said a prominent Red Cross official today.

Besides voting for a nominating committee, there will be reports of the heads of the several departments of the Red Cross work, and also a general discussion of Red Cross affairs.

But among some Red Cross workers, there is a feeling that the meeting tonight will show to some extent whether members of the Red Cross appreciate what has been done the past year and also whether the members have any interest in what is to be done the coming year.

No Collection Of Clothing Friday

The ladies of the Red Cross who have charge of collecting old clothing for the Belgian relief fund announce that no collections will be made Friday. Instead, arrangements have been made whereby 16 automobiles will visit every street in the city and do the collecting Saturday.

Hence, all that one has to do is to wrap up any old clothing for babies, children, women and men, and also shoes and place them on the front porch. Saturday morning these will be collected and taken to the store room at 141 North Commercial street.

Those who cannot get their packages ready until next Monday are requested to telephone the Red Cross, No. 1500 next week. But for Saturday all that will be necessary will be to place the bundles out in front of the home and the Red Cross automobiles will call. Salem has been asked for 3000 pounds.

ORGANIZED EFFORT TO CHANGE FEATURES IN THE REVENUE BILL

Proposal Made To Put Tax Of Three Dollars A Bale On Cotton

Washington, Sept. 19.—The first organized effort to change the ways and means committee draft of the revenue bill was under way today with cotton and child labor tax amendments up in the house.

Despite the threat of prolonged debate on these amendments and the promise of introduction later in the day of a third amendment providing for a congressional committee to supervise and investigate war expenditures, House leaders hoped to rush the big tax bill to a vote before adjournment.

The child labor amendment, sponsored by Representative Green, Iowa, would put a tax of five per cent on the products of any mine, quarry, cannery or factory employing children under 14 or working children between 14 and 16 more than eight hours a day, or six days a week or using children between these ages for night work.

The amendment is designed to replace the federal child labor law recently held unconstitutional by the supreme court and like the cotton tax amendment will likely meet opposition from southern congressmen. Its passage as part of the revenue act is regarded as doubtful even by congressmen who favor it.

The cotton amendment, proposed by Representative Moore of Pennsylvania would put a tax of $3 on every bale of cotton sold.

Moore proposed the tax in hope of bringing a "show down" on the whole cotton situation, which has been hanging fire in Washington for several weeks.

Congressmen from the big manufacturing states declare that while profits of steel men and manufacturers have been limited during the war, the cotton belt, they hold, is paying only a small fraction of the war taxes, while it is reaping huge profits from war conditions.

Southern members declare cotton is only now recovering from poor years before the war and that the country is threatened with a short crop this year. While expectations today were that the cotton tax will be defeated, southern members were ready to battle every inch in fear that a combination of republicans and northern democrats may possibly put the tax into the bill. Representative Sabath of Illinois may also propose an amendment to tax steel, as well as cotton goods.

Tiger Smith Will Fight And So Will His Money

New York, Sept. 19.—Tiger Smith is going back to his fight game, he declared here today. Tiger has been rolling in wealth for about three weeks now, since he found that he had come into possession of something near $6,000,000 in personal property, cash and real estate. He formerly was a middleweight pugilist, but left pugilism flat when his grandfather's estate, including $4,000,000 in Denver real estate, came to him after a long struggle.

His return to the fight game will be through enlistment in the army. He is now educating himself in preparation for a commission. His estate during his absence in France will be invested in liberty bonds.

Market Was Lifeless Price Changes Small

New York, Sept. 19.—The New York Evening Sun financial review said: "Had it not been for certain demand for oil and shipping shares, today's session of the stock market would have been quite dead. As it was, trading in the first three hours rolled up a total of but little more than 100,000 shares."

There was more or less backing and filling throughout the session. The underdone was firm, however. United States Steel did not get far away from 109. The other steels and the coppers were but slightly changed. The buying movement in oils was modified by a profit taking sales.

American Sunnara Tobacco was two points or so higher. In the shipping group, Atlantic Gulf at one time netted a gain of four points. Marine Preferred sold up a point. The rails, with one or two exceptions were heavier. Bonds were steady and fairly active.
