Following is a record of the subscriptions for liberty bonds turned in by the various teams up to 10 p. m. last night.

The big difference in the amounts turned in by teams in adjacent districts, indicates that some teams are not as active as the others, or are holding their turn-ins for today.

Unless all of the workers who have been assigned to the task of raising Salem's quota lay their other work aside and concentrate on selling liberty bonds, Salem will not go over the top until after the rest of the state has been over for some time.

Arthur Brisbane's Act Furnishes Munitions For Prohibition Guns

Washington, Sept. 20.—Prohibition leaders in congress today seized upon the revelations by Alien Property Custodian Palmer, showing that a pool of seventeen brewers had supplied $375,000 with which to purchase the Washington Times was financed by Arthur Brisbane, famous editor of Hearst newspapers. The total price for which the paper was sold by Frank A. Munsey was $500,000 and the documents indicated that the brewers agreed to furnish this entire amount. Brisbane in an editorial previously had stated that he had obtained a loan from C. W. Feigenspan, Newark banker and brewer. The Palmer documents indicate that Feigenspan acted as trustee for the pool. Brisbane in a public statement referring to the matter said: "My attitude on the temperance question is well known. For more than twenty years, opposing the sale of whiskey, I have advocated temperance, which I believe can be best promoted by forbidding the sale of alcoholic spirits, permitting only the manufacture and distribution of light wine and beer in which the alcohol is reduced to an innocuous percentage."

Salem Elks Pay Visit To Lodge At McMinnville

Thirtyfive members of the Salem Elks lodge went to McMinnville last evening for the purpose of enlivening the Elks in that city for the big event of state fair week, Thursday, Sept. 26, officially known as Elks' day.

But it seems the McMinnville Elks were already enthused and voted to a man to come to Salem next Thursday.

And what is more, the Liberty girls of McMinnville, 30 in number, will come with them to make the day a gala event. The Liberty girls made a big hit recently in Portland at the state meeting of Elks.

Besides being treated royally by the McMinnville brothers, the Salem boys took part in a patriotic Fourth Liberty loan meeting held on the streets of McMinnville, and loaned the Salem center, Walter Toome just to keep the patriotism going. The high jinks committee of Elks was also fortunate in picking up several specialties, by way of the galaxy of the day when the Elks will be given the freedom of the city as well as state fair grounds, Thursday, Sept. 26.

LOOSEN UP, TURTLE

The Fourth Liberty Loan is the first item on the program of national war finance since the announcement of our intention to put five million men in France and finish the war next year. On our response to its call for our dollars our friends and enemies will judge of our sincerity and earnestness in making that pledge.

The nation's resources are ample. The success of the Fourth Liberty Loan depends on our converting a share of those resources into Fourth Liberty Bonds. Nothing more. The loan should be subscribed the first day and oversubscribed the second day.

Buy Liberty Bonds. Don't be a Turtle.

Market 'Chirps' But Is Far From Lively

New York, Sept. 20.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today says:

Trading in today's stock market was slightly more animated and somewhat broader than in yesterday's session, but it was a dull affair, nevertheless, and one quite devoid of more than passing interest. The list was inclined to advance and there was a well defined substratum of strength due to lighter supply of stocks, some cash buying and more covering by shorts. This was particularly true of the steel and equipment group and a few individual shares like American Smelter Tobacco, Colorado Fuel, Distillers Securities, General Motors and American Hide and Leather preferred, although transactions in all of them were restricted.

United States Steel moved forward more than a point through 110 and Bethlehem Steel made a similar gain. The copper stocks were firm. Marine Common and Preferred were in good form, but the latter was relatively active. The rails were lightly touched but were for the most part firm to strong. Trade dragged through the late afternoon and there were in most cases fractional recessions from the top levels.

SOLDIER'S SISTER NOW GOES TO FRONT

Among the first lot of "sisters" of understanding and sympathy—sailing for France as Y. M. C. A. canteen workers, was Miss Frances Newbold Noyes, of Washington, D. C. Until the government changed its ruling in regard to sisters of soldiers, her having a brother, Lieut. Newbold Noyes, in the army was the reason that kept her at home.

With another girl, for canteen workers are assigned in pairs, she will be sent to a "Y" but across the sea to make a home for the American soldiers. By her presence and with little feminine artistry, the canteen worker supplies the home touch that means so much to our boys in a strange land.

Often the canteen worker is the civilian the fighting man sees before he starts his perilous journey into No Man's Land. She must be able to send him away with a smile. To do this she must be a woman big wanted as they contain none of the carbon.

All pits must be thoroughly dried, either in ovens or in the sun before they can be shipped. There is no need of separating the different kinds of pits. There is a hatch stationed at the corner of State and Liberty streets. Pits may also be delivered at the basement door on the east side of the court-house.
