Company M. Oregon National Guard Was Mustered Last Night

The Oregon national guard company was duly organized and mustered in last evening at the armory and will be known as Company M of the Third Regiment, Oregon National Guard. Officers were elected as follows:

Captain, Leroy Hewlett.
 First lieutenant, L. R. M. Pierce.
 Second lieutenant, George Schultz.
 After his election, Captain Hewlett announced the appointment of the following non-commissioned officers: First sergeant, J. E. Wright; mess sergeant, Glen Rice; supply sergeant, J. Fred Day; duty sergeants, first, B. W. Macy, second, J. T. Welsh, third, H. H. Harris, fourth, William Busick, fifth, Don W. Miles, sixth and company sergeant, Wilson Howard.

Measures for uniforms will be taken at once and also orders for equipment in order that the company may prepare itself for actual duty in case it should be federalized this fall.

To continue the old organization, some time ago it was decided to name the regiment the Oregon Third and following out this plan the company organized and mustered in last evening will be known as Company M. At the muster, 103 men had signed up for service. A company similar to M may have from 110 to 150 members, but not more than 150.

Prior to mustering in Company M, officers of the Oregon guard and all officers of the six companies in Salem and near by towns, were tendered a banquet at the Marion hotel complimentary to Colonel North and staff. Major Drake served as toastmaster.

In the case of H. C. Bressler against Ernest Blue, in which Mr. Bressler alleges that he gave $500 to Blue to loan on an automobile and that Blue kept it. Mr. Blue moves for an order of court quashing the summons and setting aside service on the grounds and for the reason that the court has no jurisdiction of the person of the defendant. He attaches an affidavit showing that his home is Ketchikan, Alaska, and that the only reason he happened to be in Salem was because of criminal proceedings against him. The stand is taken that as he was here on account of criminal proceedings no summons should be issued against him on a civil suit in Marion county as his home is in Ketchikan.

The county court, ratified the sale of real estate amounting to $3,139.35, in the case of S. A. Mathieu against J. E. Sunderland and others.

T. L. Wood, who recently sued W. H. Witzel before the circuit court in a personal damage suit, the jury deciding for Mr. Witzel has asked the court to set aside the verdict in favor of Mr. Witzel on the claim that there was an error in law occurred at the trial and it was duly excepted to by the plaintiff through his attorneys.

ELKS MAKE MERRY AT STATE FAIR TODAY WITH AMUSING STUNTS

Governor's Race Was Amusing Feature Of Afternoon Program at Track

Howdy, Boys—Have you seen the Liberty Girls of McMinnville? With the weather man smiling and the Liberty Girls costumed in their patriotic colors and the red white and blue hats of the Elks and with Campbell's band leading, the Elks of Salem, Portland and McMinnville with numerous other visiting brothers began the observance of Elks' day at the fair with a parade through the business part of the city to the state fair grounds.

Throughout the grounds the dozen or more clowns made merry during the afternoon making themselves acquainted with visitors in the grand stand as well as among those who remained in the automobile parked arena.

But the big event of the afternoon was the governor's race in which half a dozen camouflaged names were entered to represent the candidates, for the nomination of governor on the republican ticket this spring.

As the mule and rider representing Governor Withycombe appeared before the grand stand, the band played, "Hail to the Chief." The one representing Secretary of State Oleott was greeted with the song, "Then You'll remember Me." L. J. Simpson's mule and rider brought forth from the band "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Appropriate music for the Gus Moser rider was "Waiting at the Church," and for Dr. Anderson, no strong prohibition, the band played "How Dry I Am." The mule and rider representing Harley, of Astoria, were greeted with Chapin's famous funeral march.

Another event of the afternoon staged by the Elks was the chariot race wherein Charles R. Archibed, costumed in the regulation Roman arena style, represented Salem. The contest was against a Portland representative.

The program for this evening is of more than usual interest for it includes the parade and drill of the Liberty Girls of McMinnville. During the state convention in Portland the girls made a great hit and they are today in the city, guests of the Salem Elks' lodge. The address of the evening is by L. J. Simpson, of North Bend, George Baker, mayor of Portland, is also on the program for a short talk tonight.

MEANING OF FRANCO-AMERICAN OFFENSIVE ON CHAMPAGNE FRONT

Dangerous Pocket Might Be Made In Hitherto Quiet Sector Of Front

By J. W. T. Mason
 (United Press war expert)

New York, Sept. 26.—Today's Franco-American attack in the Champagne is for the purpose of bending back the German front between the Rheims and the Verdun sectors and compelling Von Hindenburg to use up more of his dwindling reserves in protecting this lightly held part of his front.

Since the early months of the war the Champagne front has been maintained by scarcely more troops than the line further east in Lorraine and Alsace. It is very susceptible to an assault.

Von Hindenburg's concentration of his own man power in western France heretofore had compelled the allies to meet him there. The American armies now, however, permit Marshal Foch to dictate the direction of the attack and the section of the Champagne front for a new drive will still further prevent Von Hindenburg from controlling the pace of his retirement to Belgium.

A serious bend in the German front between Rheims and Verdun would create a pocket in the Rheims area containing a dangerous threat of flanking operations against the Hindenburg line from the south. Even a partial breakthrough by the allies in that sector would be so perilous to the Germans as to compel them to move back their

The Choice of Those Who Know

Manufacturers and leading motor car distributors recommend ZEROLENE. The majority of motorists use ZEROLENE. ZEROLENE reduces wear and gives more power because it keeps its lubricating body at cylinder heat. Gives less carbon because, being refined from selected California asphalt-base crude, it burns clean and goes out with exhaust.

ZEROLENE is the correct oil for all types of automobile engines. It is the correct oil for your automobile. Get our lubrication chart showing the correct consistency for your car.

At dealers everywhere and Standard Oil Service Stations.
