We Are Prepared to SHOW YOU

Says Measure Is Full of Jokers Lurk In Jackson's Single Tax Idea

A few years ago the people of the state of Oregon, in a spirit of gentle and unadvised tolerance, listened to the Portland Journal's campaign for single tax. It was Mr. Jackson's pet hobby, and his official mouthpiece shouted long and loudly. When the votes were counted, the people breathed a sigh of relief, for single tax and Oregon citizenship were found to have nothing in common. For a time Editor Jackson subsided. Unable to dictate the editorial policies of the newspaper, of the state, and stung to the quick at the decisive defeat of his pet scheme, he maintained an attitude of calm demeanor. Now Mr. Jackson steps up to bat again, fostering and fathering a new plan of unworkable and inexplicable legislation. In the scheme with Jackson is a Portland attorney, and the two have devised a plan that is unique to say the least. Just the interest of the lawyer has not been divulged. The proposed law bears the Jackson trademark, and those who have familiarized themselves with the measure, state it is as full of "jokers" as some of Mr. Jackson's single tax measures in the days of old.

Particular acumen to see the result, to note the splendid opportunity for the title grabbers and their legal friends to quietly "clean up" on those who have failed to receive notice. Theoretically the scheme looks fine on paper. So did the single tax. So did other bits of freak legislation that have been turned down cold by thinking people. Jackson would have the tax collector send the notice through the mail—AS HE NOW DOES UNDER THE PRESENT LAW. The law makes the burden obligatory on your part to keep him notified of any and all changes in your address, otherwise you lose your defense in case of foreclosure, and cannot plead lack of notice. In other words you are left holding the sack. To add insult to injury Jackson would make the tax collector personally liable to keep properly posted on your address. Briefly stated, YOU MUST KEEP the tax collector posted at all times or lose; if Uncle Sam fails to deliver the notice as often happens, well, you lose again; if the tax collector fails to do his part, you lose a third time—and the poor collector loses, also. Can you beat it?

Jackson's scheme is to abolish the delinquent tax law as it now stands and substitute in its place an impractical, ethereal scheme, cleverly framed to lure the voters, but intended as a piece of radical and vicious legislation that will benefit the lawyers, the title grabbers, and others of their ilk—at the expense of the struggling home and land owner. Such is the Jackson delinquent tax bill. There are those who intimate that Jackson's energy in working for the bill is due to the fact that his Portland Journal has been overlooked in the publication of Multnomah lists in days gone by, and that his spleen against the present statute is inspired through petty jealousy in the Portland newspaper field. This may or may not be the case.

The present tax publication law for Oregon is the ideal measure if public service may be considered the criterion. It is simple, practical and devised to protect the taxpayer from title grabbers and other vultures. Briefly it provides that notice be sent by the tax collector THROUGH THE MAIL to every delinquent taxpayer within 90 days from date of delinquency. Then, and only then, to reach those whom the manly have failed to reach, the law provides that publication shall be made in the newspapers. Could any plan be fairer? Could there be any better scheme to protect the unfortunate delinquent from the malicious cunning of the tax title grabber—who loves to work in the dark. Now comes Mr. Jackson and the Portland attorney and initiate a bill to abolish the publication. It requires no par-evening, and other members of force of workers had been and will soon be called to the service, the company abandoned the night shift Saturday, and will run only a single shift during the fall and winter. Some of the night crew have taken positions with the day force to fill the vacancies. The mill has been in operation, day and night during the summer and the supply of lumber cut has been enormous. They have on hand a large amount of lumber at the present time, and will continue to run the entire winter, if possible, with a day crew employed. —Silverton Tribune.
