Salem Women Called On To Give Up Linens For Hospital Use

An urgent call has been made to the women of the country for linens to be forwarded to the hospitals in France.

The quota assigned to Willamette chapter is as follows:

60 sheets, each 64 by 102 inches, 200 bath towels, 19 by 38 inches, 200 hand towels, size 18 by 30, 300 handkerchiefs, size 18 by 18 inches.

The linen department of the Red Cross, in charge of Mrs. C. P. Bishop, already prepared to receive donations from the women in Willamette chapter. As this is really an emergency call, boxes for shipping are already on hand and arrangements made for proper folding and packing.

Women who feel the patriotic spirit to give linens for the American hospitals in France are asked to do so at once and not delay matters especially as the recent fighting in France has made a heavy call for linens.

Red Cross headquarters suggest that in the giving of the towels, it should be remembered that articles new or practically new are wanted, and that articles especially strong are better for hospital work. Laundering facilities are rather poor over there and articles of fine quality or that have been used too much would not last long.

The Red Cross commissioner, for France has cabled that the hospitals need 1,250,000 bath towels, 2,500,000 hand towels, 1,750,000 handkerchiefs, 125,000 napkins, and 650,000 sheets.

Nine Examined And Four Are Naturalized Four Are In Service

Before Ben H. Conn, United States Naturalization examiner nine candidates for citizenship were given a hearing this morning as to their right to become real citizens. Besides the legal qualifications, one cannot become a citizen unless he possesses some knowledge of the constitution and a fair idea as to the three departments of the government. The results of the examinations were as follows:

Thomas Acheson of 1980 South Liberty street, admitted.

George W. Hastings, of 478 South 16th street, Salem, continued. He was qualified in every way to become an American citizen but was not informed regarding the general workings of the government. With a little more study of the constitution and the three branches of the government, he will probably be passed.

Henry Morris, 497 Union street, Salem, admitted. He was well posted on the constitution and general laws governing this country.

Andrew P. Henderson, of Turner, continued. There was much about the government that he did not know and the examiner passed him until he could study a little and be able to stand a better examination.

Thomas H. Clark, 1145 Cross street, Salem, admitted.

George A. Reinisch of 2199 Broadway street, Salem, admitted.

David Hutcheson, 1600 Wilbur street, Salem, continued at his request. He was not quite sure whether his knowledge of the general government was such that he could answer the questions.

Emilio Belli, 895 South 21st street, Salem and Gustav Peterson, continued indefinitely as they are now in the service. The next examination for citizenship will be held Feb. 5, 1919.

AUSTRIA AND TURKEY TO SOON SHOW EFFECTS OF BULGARIA'S ACTION

Her Surrender Leaves Turkey Cut Off From Aid From Her Allies.

By Webb Miller (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris Oct. 1.—Effects of the Bulgarian armistice upon Austria and Turkey will probably soon be noticeable. The widest possibilities are opened by the elimination of Bulgaria. The most immediate result is expected by many to be a separate peace with Turkey, due to the severance of its communications with Germany.

The haste with which Bulgaria signed the convention indicated the nation's readiness to concede every allied demand. Considering Bulgaria's past record, the allies were in no mood to let her off on easy terms. They demanded every concession consistent with justice.

Announcement of Bulgaria's downfall caused a wild outburst of jubilation on the Paris bourse.

The United Press learned authoritatively that at present there will be no separate peace with Bulgaria and no political decisions affecting that country's future will be taken. Only military measures following the signing of the armistice.

"The Bulgarians are beaten. That explains and clarifies the situation at present," one authority stated.

"The victorious advance of the allies toward Uskub led the Bulgarians to throw down their arms with such sudden fervor. Before hostilities ceased yesterday noon, even German reinforcements were unable to prevent capture of many boche prisoners and immense booty."

The main terms which Bulgaria accepted include: Demobilization of her armies. Immediate evacuation of Greece and Serbia.

Surrender of all transportation, as well as the right of way through Bulgaria for development of military operations.

The allies have the right of occupation of all strategic points of importance.

Military occupation of Bulgaria to be entrusted to the Italians, British and French; the evacuated parts of Greece to the Greeks and the evacuated parts of Serbia to the Serbians.

No reference is made to the fate of King Ferdinand, this being regarded as purely an internal political affair.

Several advances have been made during the past 24 hours of great local importance which may lead to far reaching consequences and bring still more successes.

In the north, King Albert is sweeping on, reclaiming Belgian soil. He is now menacing Roulers and Menin, with only the flat Flanders plains and no natural obstacles ahead.

Further south, the line of the Sava-Sava marshes has been half conquered and liberation of Doolai is in sight. While General Byng has made Cambrai untenable, General Rawlinson, with General Bead's Americans, has outflanked St. Quentin on the northern and General Debeny is clutching at St. Quentin from the south.

General Morgan is pushing on, straddling the Chemin-des-Dames. Still farther south, General Gouraud and General Pershing are driving ahead on each side of the Argonne.

Back of all this Marshal Foch, commander of ten million bayonets, coolly, deliberately executing his plans, the result of which the Germans know and fear.

Just now when Bulgaria and Serbia and Rumania are attracting a lot of attention, the city public library announces that it has a book ready for circulation entitled "South Eastern People". Another book of war interest is entitled "Out to Win", the story of an American in France, by Lieutenant Dawson, author of "Carry On" and "The Glory of the Trenches."
