PRUNE PACKERS LEFT WAITING HELPLESS BY OFFICIAL DELAY

30 Size Released But These Packers Will Not Dispose Of Alone

Prune packing houses cannot see even a silver lining to the cloud of uncertainty in the prune business, notwithstanding the fact that the federal food administration has issued orders that 30's and larger sizes of prunes may be released. Practical prune men think 30's are the largest size even if the Washington authorities do mention something larger.

While the release of 30 sizes looks well on its face, packers say that this would mean barely five per cent of the crop. But the trouble comes in the fact that packing houses do not contract 30's; except along with other sizes. They cannot sort the other sizes and at the same time they dare not ship a car load of 30's to any one jobber as that would eventually leave them without stock to ship the mixed orders already contracted.

Hence, while they are permitted to sell 30's the fact is, the packing houses are tied up as much as ever and are patiently waiting for the federal food administration to finally figure out how much loss there was to the California crop and how much the government will take of the Oregon crop.

HINDENBURG TELLS ARMY NEW POLICY IS ELASTIC DEFENSE

Remarkable Order Signed By German Leader Captured By British

With the British Armies in France, Oct. 3.—The British attacking force north of St. Quentin was General Rawlinson's army. The attack began at 6:05 this morning and centered on a ten thousand yard front between Noy and Sequehart.

Early reports indicated that all was going well.

To the right of Rawlinson's forces the French pushed beyond St. Quentin and reached the Oise-Sambre canal at Moy.

Advices from Flanders declare the German withdrawal in the neighborhood of LaBassee continues.

A remarkable order signed by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg has been captured by the British. It says in part: "The idea of an elastic defense has led to premature abandonment of some of our main lines of resistance. The firm determination to hold at all costs seems to have disappeared. Penetration at various points causes commanders to withdraw prematurely from neighboring sectors."

"The tradition that the honor of the commanders of the various units and of the units themselves is involved in the maintenance of positions must not disappear from the German army."

one ever issued, as it consists of only 16 pages for the state-wide offices. The Republican state control committee has two pages containing arguments in support of the Republican ticket, the Socialist party has two pages, Senator McNary has three pages, Governor Withycombe has two pages, Walter M. Pierce the governor's opponent, has two pages and O. P. Hoff and David P. Mason Republican and Democratic candidates respectively for state treasurer, each has one page.

For the entire state more than 300,000 copies of the pamphlet will be printed.

NEW FEDERATION

states without which there can be no permanent peace. For many centuries the problems for the solution of which this organization was established, have been dealt with by methods in which justice played no part and in recent years it has been the deliberate purpose of Austria and Germany, by every possible artificial means to stimulate disunion among them.

"Today the union has been begun and the strength generated by these centuries of oppression is turning with its full force in its own defense. It is based on the democratic principles which President Wilson has so often proclaimed.

"The strategic position is an absolute check against German aggression in the east. This federation makes the Austrian empire not only unnecessary, but impossible. It means revolutions against German domination."

French Ambassador Jusserand, unable to attend, wrote:

"I need not say that I sincerely share your sentiment for the nations still in bondage and whose day of liberation is at hand. There is no son of France that does not believe as you do."

Market Opened Strong But Soon Dropped Back

New York, Oct. 3.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

After the first hour of trading in which prices generally moved forward moderately in a much more restricted volume of business, practically the entire list reversed its trend. This was made possible by further short selling and a continuance in some quarters of profit taking by those who entered the market for a quick turn. Transactions fell far short of those in the two previous sessions.

While the pressure exerted against the standard list was fairly consistent throughout the session, there was an unmistakable rallying tendency in the last hour, brought about by brisk buying of public utilities and oil shares.

After United States Steel advanced above 110, it remained weak, however. Bonds were firm and unusually active.

Price Of Shoes Fixed By Industries Board

Washington, Oct. 3.—The maximum retail price of shoes has been fixed at $12, Chairman Baruch of the war industries board announced today. After October 15 no shoes will be cut to sell at a figure higher than those contained in the present schedule, arranged by the board.

Manufacturers, jobbers and dealers will be required to pledge themselves to maintain the price fixed. All shoes are divided into two classes. In class A men's and women's shoes will sell from $9 to $12; class B includes shoes from $6 to $8.50, and class C from $3 to $5.50.

The pledge card, which will hang in every retail store, shows the class and price of all shoes. Serial numbers will be stamped on the shoes so that the customer may check up with the prices on the card.

Baruch says the new shoes so marked will be on the shelves of nearly all retail stores by November 15.

These tablets tone up the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you are troubled with indigestion, give them a trial, get well and stay well.
