All my bloating and suffering is gone and I feel as though newly born." Evacuating Depots Back Of Cambrai and St. Quentin

By Lowell Mellett (United Press correspondent) With the British Armies in France, Oct. 4.—(2 p. m.)—The Germans are evacuating their material depots in the rear of the Cambrai and St. Quentin sectors. Fires and explosions were seen at many points today. A state of disorganization is indicated by the ineffective artillery fire. British airmen report the Germans are making preparation to evacuate LeCateau.

LeCateau, which the Germans are reported getting ready to evacuate, is 17 miles due east of the Hindenburg line at a point below Marquain. It is 22 miles northeast of St. Quentin.

While considerable publicity has been given to the ruling of the War Industries Board, whereby shoes are to become cheaper, and none may retail for more than $12 a pair after June 1, 1919 the actual facts are that the average purchaser shoes will be higher this winter. Wholesale houses are announcing radical advances. The cutting of shoes under the new schedule begins Oct. 15, but these shoes will not reach the average buying public until next spring and summer. Hence while it reads fine regarding cheaper shoes in the future, that future is located about the first of next June or thereabouts.

AMERICAN TROOPS ADVANCING AGAIN EAST OF RHEIMS

Attack Is Successfully Made And Enemy Is Completely Surprised

By Frank J. Taylor (United Press staff correspondent) With the American First Army, Oct. 4.—American troops, attacking east of Rheims in conjunction with the French have advanced nearly three miles. The battle is continuing. The assault began at 6:30 yesterday morning without any artillery preparation. The Germans were completely surprised.

Following a rolling barrage for four kilometers (two and a half miles) uphill, the Franco-Americans gained the day's objectives before noon, despite determined resistance from the enemy who occupied a series of machine gun nests.

A number of prisoners, guns and quantities of supplies were captured. The Americans entered the trenches in preparation for attack Wednesday night, the artillery swinging into place under cover of darkness. The French artillery in this sector was commanded by American officers. At 5:30 the artillery laid down a curtain fire along the whole area, advancing steadily over the German positions. The dough-boys, jumping off, followed a few yards behind. They piled into the German positions, which consisted principally of well placed and formidable machine gun nests strung along the hill side, before the enemy machine gunners could get in any serious hits.

Lieutenant R. E. Myer of Oakland, Cal., forced down a German bi-plane yesterday, despite the fact that his own motor was missing. He made a safe landing after his engine went dead, captured the enemy pilot and observer and brought them into headquarters on foot.

In addition to the artillery fighting between the Argonne and the Meuse there is some machine gun activity along the wooded points. Last night the Americans made a successful gas projector attack on the Germans at Vilosnes (on the north bank of the Meuse two miles east of Breulies).

Bombing squadrons continue to blow up enemy bases. It is evident that the Germans are hastily moving their light artillery from point to point in an effort to make the Americans believe forts will be made to place the boys under proper state authority.

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.
