PORTLAND BANKERS LOSE ON APPEAL

City Not Liable To Make Good Claim Sold By Embezzling Contractor.

Holding that it would not be common justice to compel the city of Portland to pay the claim of a contractor who has embezzled its funds to a greater amount than he had earned, the supreme court today handed down an opinion reversing the judgment of Circuit Judge Gates of Multnomah county in the case of Ashley & Humelin, bankers, against the city of Portland, appellant.

A man by the name of Hart had a contract for hauling wood for the city. He assigned his claims to the plaintiff, and in making settlement with the city it was shown that Hart had collected money which he had not accounted for and had converted the city's wood to his own use. The city deducted this amount from his claim, and the plaintiff's brought suit to collect.

Other opinions were handed down as follows:

Ashley & Humelin, bankers, vs. City of Portland, appellant; appealed from Multnomah suit to collect from city amount alleged to be due on wood hauling contract entered into with one Hart, who assigned his claim to plaintiffs; opinion by Justice Burnett, holding that it would not be common justice to compel city to pay claim of contractor who has embezzled its funds to a greater amount than he had earned; Circuit Judge Gates reversed.

State vs. Tom Kapsales, appellant; appealed from Columbia appeal from conviction of crime against nature; opinion by Justice Olson; Circuit Judge Eakin affirmed.

LaGrande National bank, appellant; vs. E. W. Oliver; appealed from Multnomah; suit to collect on promissory note; opinion by Justice Johns; Circuit Judge Tucker affirmed.

Guy L. Wallace, appellant vs. Oregon Engineering & Construction Co.; appealed from Clackamas; motion for final determination of suit which had been remanded to lower court for new trial is denied; opinion per curiam.

Everding & Farrell, appellants vs. Gebhardt Lumber Company; appealed from Yamhill; motion to dismiss appeal, allowed; opinion by Chief Justice McBride.

John Guilams, et al. vs. Beaver Lake Club, appellant; appealed from Lincoln; suit to enjoin defendants from constructing and maintaining dam near mouth of Beaver creek and prohibit maintenance of wire fence across creek; opinion by Chief Justice McBride; decree of Circuit Judge Hamilton modified.

Annie M. Haldeman, appellant vs. Sarah B. Weeks; appealed from Multnomah suit to secure re-conveyance of certain parcels of realty and declare trust in proceeds of $5000 note; opinion by Justice Ilsen; Circuit Judge Gates affirmed.

Columbia River Door Company, appellant vs. W. F. Todd, et al.; appealed from Multnomah; suit to foreclose mortgage; opinion by Justice Ilsen.

Open Forum

Salem, Oregon, July 6, 1918. An open letter to Bishop Matthew Simpson Hughes:
Dear Bishop: Four weeks ago a public letter addressed to you charged the Sunday newspaper with being an abominable nuisance, and the republican party with being "an hypocritical, ungodly old liquor party, over forty years behind the times, ruled by liquor and tobacco." I boldly renew both charges. To me these seem to be vital and irrepensible issues of vast and immediate importance. Are you a doubter? Respectfully, Wm. N. Taft. Court House Notes

La Dessa M. Burroughs has filed a suit against C. H. Trullinger and Edna C. Hovenden, in which she alleges that the defendants have not paid a note for $1700 dated in 1911. She stated in her complaint that at the time the note was given, she was the wife of B. E. Fiske who died in 1912 and that she received the note devised to her in the will of Mr. Fiske. No interest has been paid on the note and she asks for the $1700 and interest at 8 per cent from Oct. 15, 1911 and $250 attorney's fees.

An affidavit was filed in the circuit court by Cordelia Nendel in her divorce suit against Fred Nendel in which she states she is a resident of Oregut, California. No Relief Yet In Sight For Prune Growers And Packers

The prune situation which is rapidly becoming critical in the valley is at a standstill and the packers or growers or senators at Washington or anywhere else can move the food administration to get busy and save the situation.
Last Saturday Mr. Drager and Mr. Crawford of the Drager Fruit Co. conferred in Portland with the major of the quartermaster's department. He gave each packer the allotment that each was to ship and read then a telegram from Washington in which it was stated that shipping instructions would be given within 24 hours. That was Saturday and as yet those shipping instructions have not been received, notwithstanding the 24 hour promise.
As every grower knows, the packers are tied up by the federal government and although they have had plenty of promises as to shipments the food administration so far has refused to do anything that would release prunes and thereby relieve the present desperate situation.
