Dr. O. B. Miles, city health officer, reports nothing especially new in the influenza situation in the city. There are a few new cases and about an equal number that have recovered from slight attacks. No serious cases are reported.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sproed of Cherry Ave. wish to express their great appreciation to the kind friends and neighbors who have assisted them in the sickness and death of their son, John.

Marriage licenses may only be issued in the county in which the prospective bride lives. About every so often Miss McGee, who issues the licenses in the county clerks office is obliged to disappoint folks and this was true this morning when an expectant Portland couple stepped up to the desk and made the all important announcement that a license was wanted. After learning that the bride lives in Portland, all she could do was to advise those to return to Multnomah county to secure the license. They did.

It seems that women who have had experience in nursing are a little backward about sending in their names to Miss Grace Taylor at Red Cross headquarters in the U. S. National bank. The government has asked a census of nurses who have either graduated or have had experience not for army service, but for local needs such as the present. All work will be paid for. This is not an appeal for free service but just an effort to get the names of all nurses in the two counties. Signing the questionnaire does not imply government service of any kind.

Mrs. H. J. Wenderoth received a cablegram this morning from her brother, Captain Phil J. Keizer, in France that read as follows: "Well, report mistake. Everything fine." This cablegram was most welcome news to Mrs. Wenderoth as on Sept. 8 to government reported that Captain Keizer had been killed in action July 23. He is with the 30th Engineers' gas and flame regiment, consisting from Marshfield. He was with the first gas and flame regiment that left this country for France.

Lieutenant Paul Wallace has been slightly wounded while in action at the front. A cablegram was received yesterday by relatives from Lieutenant Wallace with this information and also the fact that there was no need of worry. It read: "Slightly wounded. Don't worry." He left with Company M overseas.

The barracks in the science building of Willamette university are fully equipped and all members of the S. A. T. C. are now being taken care of in the barracks. Just at present, during the influenza, no soldiers are permitted to go off the campus, and to date, none are suffering from the "flu." After the danger is over, the young soldiers will be on regulation army hours which means arising at 6:30 and in the barracks at 7:15 in the evening, unless they have a pass and even then they must be in by 10 o'clock. Saturday evenings the boys are permitted a little more liberty and if they live in Salem may pass the night at home on a special pass. The hour for getting in on Saturday nights is 11 o'clock.

Dr. D. A. Tamiel, of Pendleton, a member of the Salem Elk lodge, writes his friends here that he has recently been given a commission as captain in the medical corps and that he would shortly leave for Camp Lewis. Dr. Tamiel is well known in Salem as for several years he was with the Oregon State hospital before being transferred to the state hospital at Pendleton. He also enclosed a check for his Elk dues but it was returned to him as all dues of members in the service have been remitted until after the close of the war.

All those who were loaned flags by Paul Stege for Elks day at the state fair are requested to return them to Mr. Stege as he has been individually charged with every flag that he loaned for the occasion.

No word was received today regarding the condition of E. E. Baker who is ill of pneumonia at Camp Lewis. Mr. Baker left Salem several months ago as a private and has recently been promoted to sergeant.

Just as a matter of time economy in the post office, the public has been asked to purchase the larger denominations of stamps in sending letters and packages. That is, do not use three ones in sending a letter nor several stamps for a package that requires a ten cent stamp. This is asked just as a matter of economy.

Announcement is made again that the limit on one issue of savings stamps is $1000 and not the first limit of $100. This information is given out in order that those who wish to invest in the 1919 issue may know that $1000 is the limit for one person.

Two Salem men are among those reported wounded at the front. Captain R. C. Wygant was severely wounded in the leg during one of the late American drives in France and is now in a Red Cross hospital near Paris. He was sergeant in Company M when at the Mexican border and later was commissioned captain of engineers. Francis Marion Phelps, also a Salem man, was seriously wounded. His next of kin is Mrs. Lillie Phelps.

About 90 cases of influenza have developed at the State training school for boys. The handling of so many cases is difficult on account of the scarcity of nurses, only four being on duty. All but two of the regular officers of the school are ill. As yet none of the cases have developed into pneumonia.

Edmund Aldrich is now in overseas service having safely arrived on the other side. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. H. N. Aldrich and is with Company K of the Fourth Engineers.

James McClelland Jr. has recently been transferred from Camp Dick, Tex., to Augusta, Ga. He is in the aviation corps.

Last night the mercury in the government's official thermometer, dropped down to the 37 notch, the coldest since the night of April 26. At 8 o'clock this morning it had only reached 38. With a maximum of 58 yesterday, it was the coldest day since May 20.

All those who were loaned flags by Paul Stege for Elks day at the state fair are requested to return them to Mr. Stege as he has been individually charged with every flag that he loaned for the occasion.

Emanuel Northrup Jr., age 18, is dead at Eugene of pneumonia. He was a member of the Students Army Training Corps and had been ill since Sept. 13. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Northrup, were at his bedside at the time of his death. Mr. Northrup is dean of mechanics and professor of mathematics at McMinnville college.

Because of the prevalence of influenza, G. G. Brown, clerk of the state land board, was given permission today by the board to postpone his trip to San Francisco for 10 days or two weeks. He expects to take to San Francisco certain records of his office which the attorneys for the Pacific Livestock company, defendant in a law suit brought by the state, wish to have photographed.

H. A. Curry, a general agent of the Bradstreet's agency is in the city checking over ratings and especially taking note of the firms that have gone out of business during the past year. It is understood there have been but few failures in the Willamette valley the past year, but quite a number of small business houses have gone out of business on account of changing conditions and high markets.

The canning season is now over and those who failed to put up their winter's fruit are now barred from canning as no sugar permits will hereafter be issued. Orders from the national food administration said that all canning in general would be over by Oct. 29 and that after that date, no sugar canning permits would be issued. County food administrator Lockwood did not receive his orders until this morning. Hence those who applied yesterday were given permits, 78 in number. Saturday last, 127 permits were issued all of which indicates a lot of people in the county will be disappointed. The food administration as given no advance notice that Oct. 29 would be the last day for canning permits.

W. S. Walton has received from his brother, Major Leo A. Walton, a large panoramic picture of Camp Brooks, San Antonio, Texas. It is now on exhibition at Watt Shipp's store. Major Walton, who graduated from West Point three years ago, is now in charge of aviation branch of service at Brooks' field, which has made enviable record from the fact that but one death from airplane accident has occurred there among the very large number of aviators trained. Young Walton has had an active career, having seen service in Mexico with General Pershing's expedition as cavalry officer before the outbreak of the war with Germany. Before his West Point days a Salem boy he was employed by the Watt Shipp company, and was for a time in Ladd & Bush's bank.

The war department must have 500 tons of pits and nut shells each day in order to meet the demands for gas masks. This is the information being sent out everywhere by the war department. In order that Marion county may do its share, W. M. Smith county superintendent, has made arrange-

Dr. M. E. Pomeroy Dies In Portland

A telephone message was received at 3 o'clock this afternoon by W. J. Keizer, of 759 North Commercial, with the sad news of the death of Dr. M. E. Pomeroy this afternoon at St. Vincent's hospital in Portland. It was last week that Dr. Pomeroy went to Portland to attend the funeral services of her brother. The following day she was stricken with an attack of pneumonia. Saturday evening her husband, C. T. Pomeroy received word of her serious illness and left immediately. Tuesday afternoon she was thought to be recovering and Mr. Pomeroy returned home. He had barely arrived here when he received a message that his wife's illness was again serious. Besides her husband, she is survived by her son, Dr. Roy Pomeroy, who is in the navy service in France with the rank of lieutenant.

LARGE JUDGMENT WAS AFFIRMED TODAY

Award of $20,000 Damages Against Hardware Firms Will Stand.

Verdict of the circuit court for Multnomah county awarding Thomas Malloy a judgment of $20,000 against the Marshall-Wells Hardware company for injuries he received while employed as barn boss for the company was affirmed today in an opinion written by Justice Harris and handed down by the supreme court. This is the second time the court has passed on the case and affirmed the verdict.

Today's opinion, however, reverses the lower court in that it dismisses the action against R. A. Camp, who was superintendent of the company and was named as one of the defendants. The court holds that he does not come within the provisions of the employers' liability act.

Malloy was injured while working in the left of the barn. A rope and tackle broke, throwing him through an open hatchway.

Justice Burnett dissents from the portion of the opinion relating to the form of a bill of exceptions, but he concurs in the result reached by Justice Harris.

Other opinions were handed down as follows: R. E. L. Brown, appellant vs. John Shedy; appealed from Benton; action in replevin to recover possession of 87 head of cattle; opinion by Justice Burnett; Circuit Judge Skipworth affirmed.

St. Helens Lumber company, appellant vs. P. T. Evans; appealed from Columbia; suit to collect debt; opinion by Justice Olson; Circuit Judge Eakin affirmed.

State vs. S. M. Morris, appellant; appealed from Crook; appeal from conviction of larceny of horse; opinion by Chief Justice McBride; Circuit Judge Duffey affirmed.

Emma A. Smith and Mary J. Cole appellants vs. J. F. Booth, et al., appealed from Multnomah; suit to recover real property alleged to have been taken through false pretenses; opinion by Justice Benson; Circuit Judge Ostens affirmed.

ments by which the pits may be sent to the schools in every rural district. In Salem, they may be sent to the court house, to the public library or placed in the barrel at State and Liberty streets. The caution is given that shells must be thoroughly dried and washed. Moist shells may spoil a large shipment.

The Home Service section of the Red Cross has cared for several cases the past week that probably would have not been properly handled had it not been for the efforts of the women in charge of this all important work. Within the past few days a girl who was driven from her home was placed in congenial surroundings. The wife of a man now in the service was stranded in Tacoma without funds. Her case was taken up by the Home Service section of Tacoma, brought to the attention of the local home service and arrangements were made by which she is now with her parents near the city. Work was obtained for the wives of two soldiers in the service and in another case, the home service section made arrangements for the care of a child while the mother worked. The husband is in the service. It was just a few days ago that the wife of an enlisted man was returned to her folks in Indiana. And thus the work goes on from day to day.

Victor Benson Goes Into Limited Service

Victor Benson, a man found at Silverton with no final classification card was today sent by Sheriff W. I. Needham to Vancouver for limited service. Benson figured out that as long as he had his blue registration card that he was all right as he was moving around considerably. He had failed to respond to the order to report for a physical examination, nor did he sign and send in his questionnaire. He felt that as he wandered about the registration card would save him. He did not know that the old registration card is of no avail now-a-days, but that every man must have his final classification card, excepting those who registered Sept. 12 of this year.

Baron Burian, the Austrian premier, has resigned, according to Vienna newspapers.

Salem Soldiers Express Thanks For Tobacco

Those who co-operated with the Capital Journal several months ago in sending kits of tobacco to the boys in France, may feel that their efforts were well appreciated.

Yesterday three cards were received from the boys who happened to be fortunate in receiving the tobacco, each thanking their friends for the remembrance.

Ralph E. Baird, a member of the local Elks lodge writes: "Just a few lines to express appreciation and thanks for the kit of tobacco sent our forces through the Capital Journal. It was a great treat as no tobacco can be purchased. The boys are certainly enjoying it."

Arthur S. Cole, another Salem Elk writes: "Thank you for your gift and appreciate your kindness. This is the greatest gift I have ever received."
